TWO BILLS UNDER FIRE . . .

Jail Inspection Plans Opposed

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

Proposals directing state officials to close jails which fail to pass stiffened health and fire safety standards ran into opposition Tuesday from local officials in Hall County

State Penal Complex Warden Charles Wolff also offered "qualified opposition" to the legislative bills, suggesting that the Division of Corrections be given ultimate authority in the matter.

The measures, LB1117 and LB1118 were held by the Legislature's Judiciary Committee for later action

A substitute proposal presented by University of Nebraska law professor Harvey Perlman would hand authority to the Corrections Division to direct inspections undertaken by the Department of Health and the fire marshal's office

LB1117 would require continuous 24-hour awake local supervision of all occupied jail facilities.

Any jail which failed to meet life safety code requirements would be ordered closed if it flunked fire marshal inspections twice within 90 days.

LB1118 would empower the Department of Health to adopt minimum standards for all correctional institutions and temporary detention facilities, including jails, and inspect those institutions at least once a year

All new facilities would be required to meet those standards before construction could begin

Any facility which failed to meet those standards by July 1, 1974 would be ordered closed

E H Edwards, administrator of the Grand Island-Hall County Department of Health told the committee health safety inspection requirements should be delegated to qualified local authorities

Grand Island Fire Chief R L. Simpson objected to LB1117, suggesting that "it is not necessary for the state to send a deputy fire marshal in to duplicate our work."

Simpson said it would require four people to undertake continuous 24-hour awake supervision of a jail

Ben Camp speaking for the Hall County Board of Supervisors, objected to both bills

"We feel the fire marshal has too much authority," he noted.

Wolff said the Division of Corrections should be made responsible for the matter LB1118, he said, directs the Health Department to make decisions regarding security, control detention and programming at correctional facilities when it is 'not qualified" to do so

In other action the committee advanced to the floor for debate an amended version of LB1098, which provides for a maximum penalty of 10 years imprisonment and a $10,000 fine for placing poison, drugs, pins, needles razor blades, glass or other objects in food or confectionaries

The bill is designed to stop Halloween incidents in which children have been given poisoned food or dangerous objects while participating in "trick-or-treat" activities.

Among other bills sent to the floor were LB1174, providing for distribution of state statutes to all inmate libraries, and LB1122, allowing inmates to sell hobby and craft items produced on their own time

Presence Of Type A2 Flu Is Confirmed

Confirmation of the existence of Type A2 (Hong Kong) influenza in Lincoln came Tuesday from the University of Nebraska Medical Center in Omaha

Dr H E McConnell, director of laboratories for the State Health Department announced the findings upon receiving the results of 21 blood tests run by the NU Medical Center laboratories in Omaha

Out of 18 samples from Lincoln 15 showed evidence of A2 influenza, Dr McConnell disclosed The other three samples might have been taken too early from the patients, he added

None of the 21 samples revealed evidence of Type B (Hong Kong) influenza the health department official declared

Although the peak of the current flu outbreak appears over for Lincoln, Dr McConnell warned "we'll be lucky if a second wave doesn't come in a few weeks."

He explained the influenza is known to occur in waves" from six to eight weeks apart

This would place the second wave and 'each wave gets more severe early in February Dr McConnell estimated

No laboratory report is available as yet in the case of the two-year-old Lincoln child who died earlier this month after a suspected bout with influenza, Dr McConnell said.

Codes On Fresh Meat Not Easily Deciphered

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the third of six articles by a Star staff writer who has been checking the freshness of foods sold.)

By PATTY BEUTLER
Star Staff Writer

When shopping for fresh meats housewives need to do more than read the fine print on the label to know freshness of the product

In a survey of fresh meat departments in selected Hinky Dinky, Safeway and IGA outlets, The Star learned that all fresh meats are coded to indicate the date of packaging, but that many of the codes are not easily deciphered by a casual shopper.

The system of coding varies from store to store and in many cases is changed frequently so that this month's code has no meaning for next month's packaged meats

District manager Kenneth Sims reported that in the fresh meat departments of Safeway stores the date of packaging is printed in small numbers on the label For example '15" would mean that the package was wrapped on the 15th of the month

He added that most fresh meats have a shelf life of three days, but smoked meats may last for 7 to 10 days on the shelf. Any discolored meats are pulled, regardless of date, and are reprocessed into ground meat if the product is still fresh.

Ken Bourne, manager of the Hinky Dinky store at 17th and South, remarked that in the past half year his company has made a special effort to keep the consumer informed about food freshness He said that his office is willing to give out any code information that the consumer might request. "We're not trying to hide anything," he added.

Head of the fresh meat department at this Hinky Dinky branch, Glen Johnson explained the code system used for fresh meats. The letters 'HKLNOPS" are used in a two-letter code printed on the meat label. The first letter would stand for the week of the month and the second letter would refer to the day of the week that the meat was packaged For example "KN" would be Thursday, Jan. 13.

Johnson went on to explain that this code system is more for the benefit of his department, so that goods can be removed from the shelves after a 3-day period. He added that the short shelf life in the stores guarantees that the product will be fresh even if the housewife keeps it in her refrigerator an additional three days.

Johnson also confirmed that discolored beef, when still fresh is often reprocessed into ground beef, but at a financial loss to the store Careful preparation of each day's meat is important, said Johnson because a grocer cannot afford to sell discolored $1 59-lb steak as reprocessed ground beef for less than half the price

When asked to explain the code system on fresh meats in his store, Vern Van Gerpen, manager of the downtown branch of Mr. 'B" IGA, said that it was "constantly changing" and he, in fact, 'did not know"

Van Gerpern went on to say that his butcher and the meat department kept strict control on the fresh meats by using a rotating alphabetic system which was changed each month.

He indicated that most fresh meats run on a three-day shelf life, with the exception of ground beef, which is "never carried over to the next day" He added that smoked meats can last longer, but must be watched carefully

More important than code-dating, said Van Gerpen, is the 'proper cutting of meats" so that the counter never gets overlogged with a particular item

This is learned by experience and watching the daily turnover, he added, as business is generally consistent

Van Gerpen also spoke of the importance of rotation and keeping the merchandise moving forward. This requires a continual training program for store personnel, said Van Gerpen, and some careful supervision. If the store operator is careless, he added, code-dating becomes more important.

Manager Larry Nelson of Manor Mart IGA, 7041 O confirmed that his store also uses a rotating two-letter code for fresh meats Nelson said the code changes every quarter, but the first letter stands for the week of the month and the second letter for the day

Both poultry and beef have a three-day shelf life, said Nelson Packages of discolored meat are removed from the shelves and sold to employes at reduced rates Out-dated poultry is thrown out Nelson added that the discolored meat is a bit more aged and, in his opinion tastes better"

Nelson remarked that open-dating of fresh products is a 'fine, honest approach" in retailing, even though it may lead people to jumble-up display cases in their search for the freshest product Once a store practiced open-dating in all its products, continued Nelson, the consumer would tend less to reach to the back of the cases He (the consumer) would develop "trust and confidence" in that particular retailer, Nelson added

Budget To Call For $247 Billion Outlay

. . . Big Deficit Blamed On Economy

Washington (AP) — President Nixon will send to Congress Monday a fourth consecutive red-ink budget, reportedly calling for record spending of nearly $247 billion in fiscal 1973

The size of the prospective deficit was not divulged by government sources, but they acknowledged that the deficit gap in the current fiscal year, 1972, will have widened to nearly $40 billion by the fiscal yearend next June 30.

Even if Nixon's 1973 deficit is estimated at only half that much — and it probably will be higher — he will have piled up total deficits of more than $85 billion since taking office

That would top any other administration except Franklin D Roosevelt's final term in World War II

Without mentioning any figure, Undersecretary of the Treasury Paul A Volcker told newsmen the budget will show "an exceptionally large deficit" for fiscal 1972 A very substantial increase in the ceiling on the federal debt will be asked of Congress, Volcker said

The large deficit "can be justified under present economic conditions," Volcker argued, since it will provide stimulus to the economy.

The first deficit over which Nixon presided was in fiscal 1970 The budget message for that year was among the last official documents of outgoing President Lyndon B Johnson

Johnson bequeathed to Nixon a budget calling for a $4 3-billion surplus, but Nixon's aides called it unrealistic It wound up as a $2 8 billion deficit Fiscal 1971, for which Nixon forecast a $1 3 billion surplus, wound up as a $23 billion deficit

Whatever estimate of the deficit Nixon submits to Congress, the actual amount will be governed largely by the pace of the business recovery this year, since tax collections are geared to individual incomes and corporate profits

And the recovery to date has been disappointingly slow Nixon's optimistic forecast of a year ago that 1971 national output would total $1 065 trillion turned out to be roughly $20 billion too high

The lag caused a serious shortfall in income to the Treasury while outlays climbed higher than expected The 1972 deficit, which Nixon last January estimated at only $11 6 billion, apparently will be about 3½ times that amount

However, the White House again forecast a "full employment surplus." This means that spending will not exceed the theoretical amount of revenues which the Treasury would take in if the economy were running at full employment and full production.

If such prosperity prevailed, and if unemployment were down to around 4% instead of the present 6 1%, the tax system would produce rougly $248 billion in fiscal 1973 revenues With federal spending at around $247 billion, there would be a "full employment surplus" of about $1 billion.

However, the "full employment budget" is merely an economic concept and a planning tool As long as it stays in balance, economists say, the real dollars-and-cents deficit will be stimulative but not inflationary Nixon warned a year ago that the full employment budget must never fall into deficit because that would be inflationary Nevertheless it has done so this year, by several billion dollars

This has not been unwelcome to Nixon's advisers; it provided some extra stimulative push. And if the policy now shifts to a small full employment surplus from a full employment deficit, the result will be to exert new restraint on an already lagging economy.

The President has not had the budget break which had been expected from the de-escalation of fighting in Southeast Asia — the so-called "fiscal dividend"

Such savings as have been made are being passed on to taxpayers under the tax-relief legislation of 1969 and 1971 And now defense costs are expected to rise because of higher pay for servicemen, inflation of costs in all forms of procurement, and an anticipated resumption of spending on new weapons

Russians Balk After Bering Sea Chase Ends

Juneau Alaska (AP) — Balky crews aboard two Soviet fishing vessels seized for illegal entry into U S waters were resisting escourt to a U S Navy base in the Aleutians, the Coast Guard said Tuesday

One of the two ships earlier had tried to escape but was recaptured Tuesday following a four-hour chase through the Bering Sea ice pack which nearly ended in gunfire.

The Coast Guard icebreaker Storis, outnumbered 80 to 1 by the Soviet fishing vessels, had armed boarding parties on both vessels and two Russians were reported under arrest aboard the Storis

No Violence

Officials said there were no reports of violence

A spokesman said the Storis, attempting to escort the two ships 600 miles south to Adak Island failed to get under way partially due to the uncooperative Soviet crew

'It's quite simple for them to say no, we're not going and just sit there,' " the Coast Guard spokesman said

The 362-foot Lamut, a processing ship, and the sidetrawler Kolyvan are charged with conducting illegal fishery support activity within the U S 12-mile limit near uninhabited St Matthew Island some 200 miles off the western Alaskan coast

Officials said communications with the Storis were spotty but declined to disclose other details of the ship's situation.

The Lamut, flagship of the 80-vessel Soviet fleet fled with an armed Coast Guard party aboard after it was seized Monday night The Storis came about as close as you can get' to firing a warning shot at the Lamut during a four-hour zig-zag chase through foot-thick ice the Coast Guard said

One Coast Guard official said if the two ships could not be persuaded to head for Adak under their own power, alternatives would be either to tow them to port or release the vessels but detain their masters to face charges

Armed Coast Guardsmen were stationed aboard the two vessels, but a spokesman said the boarding parties were not capable of operating the vessels, and the Russian seamen were "dragging their feet."

The Coast Guard said two Russian fishing officials — the master of one of the vessels and the fisheries director of the Soviet fleet — had been arrested and were being held on the Storis Their identities were not available

In Washington, presidential press secretary Ronald L Ziegler said President Nixon's plans to visit Russia are not affected by the run-in with the two Soviet fishing vessels off Alaska or by Moscow's unprecedented expulsion of a U S congressman over the weekend

Blacks Riot To Protest British-Rhodesian Settlement

Gwelo, Rhodesia (AP) — Black riots against the British-Rhodesian settlement raged for a third day Tuesday and the government ordered the detention of a former Rhodesian prime minister closely tied to major African nationalist parties.

Detention orders were served on Garfield Todd, 63, who was prime minister of what was then Southern Rhodesia in the late 1950s, and his 28-year-old daughter Judith at Todd's ranch near Salisbury.

Todd attacked the color bar while he was prime minister. He has worked with black nationalists since his defeat and has been detained before He and Judith, a former student at Columbia University, have spoken regularly overseas, denouncing the policies of Prime Minister Ian Smith's white minority regime

Was Main Speaker

Todd was the main speaker at a Bulawayo meeting last week called by the African National Council, a recently formed body opposed to the British-Rohodesian settlement terms, which provide for possible black rule in the far distant future

Roving mobs of Africans set fire to a movie house and welfare center Tuesday in Gwelo, an industrial center, and defied police demands to disperse.

Police fired tear gas shells and used dogs in an attempt to break up a crowd of more than 8,000 demonstrators in a black section of the city, but the crowd refused to move Other protesters stoned vehicles, uprooted signposts and committeed other acts of vandalism

The rioting began Sunday night. The only fatality reported was an African youth who died, a government statement said, "as a result of chest injuries sustained when he tripped over a log while running away from a police patrol."

The statement said two Africans suffered gunshot wounds when they were caught looting, and another African was injured by a bayonet

Police arrested 41 persons, the statement added

Dozens of buildings have been set afire since the rioting began

A British commission postponed plans to begin canvassing public reaction to the agreement in Gwelo, a city of 51,000 about 200 miles southwest of Salisbury

Britain announced appointment Tuesday of two new members to the commission at the request of its chairman, Lord Pearce, who asked for additional help in the survey.

Jail Inspection Plans Opposed

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

Proposals directing state officials to close jails which fail to pass stiffened health and fire safety standards ran into opposition Tuesday from local officials in Hall County.

State Penal Complex Warden Charles Wolff also offered "qualified opposition" to the legislative bills, suggesting that the Division of Corrections be given ultimate authority in the matter.

The measures, LB1117 and LB1118, were held by the Legislature's Judiciary Committee for later action.

A substitute proposal, presented by University of Nebraska law professor Harvey Perlman, would hand authority to the Corrections Division to direct inspections undertaken by the Department of Health and the fire marshal's ofifce.

LB1117 would require continuous 24-hour awake local supervision of all occupied jail facilities.

In other action, the committee advanced to the floor for debate an amended version of LB1098, which provides for a maximum penalty of 10 years imprisonment and a $10,000 fine for placing poison, drugs, pins, needles, razor blades, glass or other objects in food or confectionaries.

The bill is designed to stop Halloween incidents in which children have been given poisoned food or dangerous objects while participating in "trick-or-treat" activities.

Presence Of Type A2 Flu Is Confirmed

Confrimation of the existence of Type A2 (Hong Kong) influenza in Lincoln came Tuesday from the University of Nebraska Medical Center in Omaha.

Dr. H. E. McConnell, director of laboratories for the State Health Department, announced the findings upon receiving the results of 21 blood tests run by the NU Medical Center laboratories in Omaha.

Todd was the main speaker at a Bulawayo meeting last week called by the African National Council, a recently formed body opposed to the British-Rohodesian settlement terms, which provide for possible black rule in the far distant future.

Roving mobs of Africans set fire to a movie house and welfare center Tuesday in Gwelo, an industrial center, and defied police demands to disperse.

Police fired tear gas shells and used dogs in an attempt to break up a crowd of more than 8,000 demonstrators in a black section of the city, but the crowd refused to move. Other protesters stoned vehicles, uprooted signposts and committeed other acts of candalism.

The rioting began Sunday night. The only fatality reported was an African youth who died, a government statement said, "as a result of chest injuries sustained when he tripped over a log while running away from a police patrol."

The statement said two Africans suffered gunshot wounds when they were caught looting, and another African was injured by a bayonet.

Police arrested 41 persons, the statement added.

Dozens of buildings have been set afire since the rioting began.

A British commission postponed plans to begin canvassing public reaction to the agreement in Gwelo, a city of 51,000 about 200 miles southwest of Salisbury.

Britain announced appointment Tuesday of two new members to the commission at the request of its chairman, Lord Pearce, who asked for additional help in the survey.

Trade Talks To Continue

Washington — The United States and the Soviet Union agreed to continue discussions on expanding trade between the two nations when the Soviet foreign trade minister visits Washington A statement issued at the end of two weeks of negotiations at the Commerce Department noted that there were still "substantial deterrents" to full realization of American-Soviet trade.

New Drug Drive Eyed

Washington — President Nixon is expected to announce in his State of the Union speech the formation of an Office of Drug Enforcement in the Justice Department. The office, according to government sources, will focus on the lower levels of drug suppliers, an area that the administration feels has been neglected

Pep Pills Turn Up Again

Washington — In an effort to cut down the smuggling of drugs into this country, the Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs ordered the country's largest exporter of amphetamines to show cause why its export license should not be revoked A bureau investigation revealed that much of the drugs exported to Mexico were illegally returned to the United States.

Grads May Find More Jobs

New York — A survey by the College Placement Council, Inc, revealed that the two-year decline in job openings for seniors may have ended. The council survey showed that graduates in technical fields will have the best job prospects, although those in non-technical fields will have more problems than last year.

Rocky Praises Nixon

Albany, N Y — In an unusually political State of the State message, Gov. Nelson A Rockefeller praised President Nixon and suggested that an old-line political machine could run New York City better than Mayor John V. Lindsay.

Campaign Announced

Washington — A full-scale campaign by Internal Revenue Service agents against violators of the retail price-posting requirements was announced by the Cost of Living Council. The council reported that 173 potential violators had been discovered in checks of 1,144 establishments and that they would be referred to U S. attorneys.

$60 Million Bank Loan Set

Washington — The Federal Deposit Insurance Corp announced a plan to make emergency loans of up to $60 million to the Bank of the Commonwealth in Detroit, which otherwise faced the possibility of failure. (More on Page 3.)

Women Demonstrate In House Against War

World News

Washington (UPI) — The 92nd Congress returned Tuesday for an election-year session that began with an antiwar demonstration in the House galleries a rash of new bills and a hopeful plea by the Democratic leadership to "keep politics outside the chamber."

Unlike the usual slow start, a couple of major votes were scheduled in the House before President Nixon delivers his State of the Union message at 11:30 a.m. CST Thursday before a joint session of Congress and a nationwide radio and television audience.

The House was expected to give final approval Wednesday to a compromise campaign spending reform bill that would limit each presidential candidate to $13 9 million in advertising for the general election, of which no more than $8 4 million could be spent on broadcasting

The same day it also probably will pass and send to the Senate a compromise $2 75 billion foreign aid authorization bill left over last year's prolonged battle over the aid program

Because of broadcast time limitations, the White House said Nixon would deliver a 30-minute State of the Union address in person Thursday and send a longer, more comprehensive written version to Congress at the same time

The dual-form message will concentrate on domestic issues. Nixon will send a separate foreign policy message to Congress about Feb. 8, the White House said.

The Senate began work at noon by swearing in newly elected Sen Robert T. Stafford, R-Vt who was appointed last year to fill the remaining term of Sen. Winston L Prouty, R-Vt The senators quit after 36 minutes until Wednesday

Women Applaud

But in the House, the opening day routine was interrupted by 250 members of Women Strike for Peace who applauded from the House visitors gallery when Rep. Bella Abzug, D-N Y., introduced a resolution to censure Nixon for his Vietnam policies

Speaker Carl Albert ordered the demonstrators from New York, Philadelphia and Washington cleared from the gallery when they rose silently and displayed signs reading "Censure Nixon the Mad Bomber Set the Date?" and "U S and Vietnamese Blood on Congress' Hands."

The women left quietly, escorted by doorkeepers, to reassemble on the Capitol steps to hear speeches by antiwar legislators.

Mrs Abzug's resolution, proposing that Congress censure Nixon for failing to set a withdrawal deadline for U S. troops in Indochina, was given little chance of success She was supported by Rep. Bob Eckhardt, D-Tex., in charging that Nixon had deliberately ignored a withdrawal provision approved by Congress in November.

As the session began, Democrats demanded that the administration reopen its investigation of American Telephone & Telegraph Co s long distance telephone rates which the Federal Communications Commission dropped recently because of lack of money and staff manpower

Rep. Robert Kastenmeier, D-Wis., introduced a bill to appropriate another $5 million for the FCC to enable it to resume the AT&T inquiry. Sen. Fred Harris, D-Okla., and Rep. William F. Ryan, D-N.Y., introduced measures that would require an FCC investigation.

Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield told newsmen that Congress faced a "lot of contentious legislation" this year and that he hoped "we can control our personal desires and not talk too long and face up to the issues."

U.S. Jets Attacked By MIGs In Laos

Saigon (AP) — U S warplanes struck more than 250 times Tuesday at North Vietnamese supply routes, depots and troop concentrations along 500 miles in Laos and South Vietnam's central highlands.

The U S Command announced the second attempt in three days by swift North Vietnamese MIG21s to knock down U S. fighter-bombers flying in support of Laotian government forces or attacking supply lines.

The aerial skirmish occurred Monday over Laos about 100 miles west of Hanoi, the North Vietnamese capital.

MIG21s fired three missiles at two U S Phantom fighter-bombers, but missed the U S Command reported. The Migs fled back into North Vietnam before the Phantoms could get into position to return the fire

50 Miles Northeast

The action took place 5 miles northeast of the Barthelemy Pass and 270 miles northwest of the demilitarized zone separating North and South Vietnam

On Saturday, U S planes fired missiles at MIG21s, but the enemy planes escaped

U S. air strikes Tuesday ranged from the Barthelemy Pass to more than 500 miles south to the region where the borders of South Vietnam Laos and Cambodia meet

The strikes were an attempt to disrupt any North Vietnamese offensive during the Tet lunar new year celebration in mid-February or during President Nixon's visit to Peking later in the month.

Waves of eight-jet B52 bombers flew the second day of saturation strikes against a base area in the triborder area from which the North Vietnamese are believed planning a major offensive into the central highlands.

Other B52 and tactical fighter-bomber raids concentrated further north along a 50-mile stretch of the Ho Chi Minh trail in central southern Laos

Movements Up 50%

Sources said up to 750 truck movements are being reported along the length of the trail each day up 50% from last month

Viet Cong guerrillas maintained their increased level of attacks against South Vietnamese positions, with 26 more incidents reported Tuesday. This raised the total for the past eight days to 217.

South Korean headquarters disclosed its troops had ended four of eight separate operations along the coastal lowlands among the largest conducted by Korean troops in the last two years

Governors Join Push To Stop Dock Strike

San Francisco (AP) — Seven Western governors joined the Nixon administration Tuesday in pushing for quick congressional action to halt the renewed West Coast dock strike

Gov. Tom McCall of Oregon, who flew to Washington, said the western governors agreed he would act as their spokesman in White House consultations on developing legislative plans.

The economic hurt of last year's 100-day Pacific port shutdown, halted by injunction last Oct 6, still lingers in the affected states

In Washington Ronald L Ziegler White House press secretary, said discussions and review of the situation were under way

Senate majority leader Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., pledged that priority would be given any legislation President Nixon sends to Congress.

Sen Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania, the Republican leader, said Congress obviously must act if the strike continues.

Both Mansfield and Scott said they did not know when a White House-backed bill will be submitted

Rep Patsy T Mink, D-Hawaii introduced in the House a resolution that would require the attorney general to seek a second 80-day injunction to halt the strike and allow further negotiations

Muskie Says He Made No Promise To Hughes

By United Press International

Sen Edmund S Muskie denied Tuesday that he had ever promised Sen Harold E Hughes, who unexpectedly endorsed the Maine lawmaker Monday the No 2 spot on the ticket if he wins the Democratic presidential nomination

"Harold and I have never discussed the vice presidency," Muskie told a news conference while campaigning in Des Moines But, he added "Harold Hughes was and is qualified to be a presidential candidate and he is mixed among the list of candidates for vice president on our ticket."

The Iowa senator, who took himself out of the presidential race last summer, said he endorsed Muskie to prevent the Iowa Democratic Caucus from naming himself as a favorite son candidate.

Coming out at this time would show a clear indication that I don't want that kind of a movement," said Hughes.

Another Democratic candidate Mayor John V Lindsay of New York, said Gov Nelson A Rockefeller wants the Republican vice presidential nomination and accused him of using his annual "State of the State" message to start a Nixon-Rockefeller campaign.

Even though President Nixon has indicated he wants Vice President Spiro T Agnew to run again, Lindsay said Rockefeller "reveals himself as a tool of the White House in the politics of 1972 and obviously has decided to do everything possible to ingratiate himself to the President and his conservative supporters."

Sen Hubert H Humphrey meanwhile acknowledged that he faced an uphill battle for Ohio's 153 Democratic convention votes because many of the state's party leaders had been "commandeered" to support Muskie

The former vice president declined to say who did the commandeering but hinted that Gov John J Gilligan might be one of those responsible for Muskie's strong position in Ohio.

Another Muskie rival, Sen. George S. McGovern of South Dakota, expressed regret that Hughes had endorsed the senator, but said he still thinks he will make a good showing in Iowa's Democratic Caucus vote Monday.

Another Muskie rival, Sen. George S. McGovern of South Dakota, expressed regret that Hughes had endorsed the senator, but said he still thinks he will make a good showing in Iowa's Democratic Caucus vote Monday.

My Lai Toll Stands At 347; 100 Massacred At My Khe

Washington (UPI) — Pulitzer Prize-winning reporter Seymour M. Hersh said Tuesday a secret Pentagon document puts at 347 the nurber of Vietnamese civilians killed at My Lai in 1968, and discloses that about 100 other civilians were massacred at the same time at a nearby hamlet.

Hersh said murder, rape and arson were common in the American Division, which conducted the My Lai operation, "but there were no 'official' reports of them at the higher levels." He said one GI described what happened as "insanity."

In the first of two articles written for New Yorker magazine, Hersh said he heard a complete transscript of the Pentagon's official My Lai inquiry conducted by Lt. Gen. William R. Peers.

Neither the transcript nor the exact number of casualties has ever been made public.

Hersh said a secret census taken by the Peers Commission showed that Capt. Ernest Medina's Charlie Company killed 347 civilians at My Lai Hamlet No. 4 — a figure Hersh said was twice as high as had been acknowledged publicly. The Viet Cong charged that more than 500 were killed.

Hersh said the other massacre occurred within an hour later at My Khe Hamlet, about a mile and one-half east of My Lai 4 and involving Bravo Company.

"The incident at My Khe 4 would perhaps be just another Vietnam atrocity story if it weren't for four facts: its vital connection with the My Lai 4 tragedy; the American public's total ignorance about it; the total, detailed knowledge of it among the Peers investigators, the Department of the Army and higher Pentagon officials; and the failure of any of these agencies to see that the men involved were prosecuted," Hersh said.

The Peers Commission recommended that 15 officers be charged in connection with the My Lai massacre. All, including Maj. Gen. Samuel W. Koster, commander of the division, were acquitted or had charges dropped except for Lt. William L. Calley Jr., a platoon leader in Charlie Company, who was found guilty of the murder of 22 Vietnamese.

Hersh won the Pulitzer for his initial disclosures of the My Lai incident of March 16, 1968.

'My Khe 4 was a scraggly, much-harassed collection of straw and mud houses, inhabited by perhaps a hundred women, children and old men. After carefully crossing the bridge, some of the GIs in the 1st Platoon could see the unsuspecting villagers through heavy brush and trees," Hersh wrote.

"Lt. Willingham Thomas K.), according to many witnesses, ordered two machine gunners in his platoon to set up their weapons outside the hamlet. And then, inexplicably, the two machine gunners began to spray bullets into My Khe, shooting at the people and their homes."

Hersh quotes Pvt. Terry Reid of Milwaukee as saying to him: "As soon as they started opening up, it hit me that it was insanity."

$60 Million Loan Is Approved To Stave Off Collapse Of Bank

Detroit (UPI) — The Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. Tuesday approved $60 million in emergency loans to prevent the collapse of Detroit's Bank of the Commonwealth, the largest bank ever to seek financial aid from the government.

Without the loan, the FDIC said, the bank would be "in danger of closing."

The FDIC assured depositors of the bank, Detroit's fourth largest and one of the nation's 50 largest, that their accounts were protected up to $20,000 under the FDIC's deposit insurance program.

Commonwealth has deposits of just over $1 billion. It ran up a net operating loss of nearly $10 million in 1970 and $4.1 million in 1971.

"1972 would have been a very difficult year for the bank" without the emergency aid, FDIC Chairman Frank Wille said.

The bank's troubles were traced to the late 1960s, when it was controlled by Michigan financier Donald H. Parsons and his associates.

Parsons, a 42-year-old attorney who gained control of 19 banks in less than six years — only to lose them all — acquired Commonwealth in 1964 in a bitter proxy fight.

Two years later, Commonwealth took over the assets of the Public Bank of Detroit, which was padlocked by state banking officials in a predawn foreclosure because it "owed more than it owned."

Parsons and his partners built the banking chain through a complicated system of limited and interlocking partnerships, using assets of one bank as collatral for loans to buy another.

The Parsons empire began to collapse when money beame tight in 1970 and the "Parsons groups" could no longer meet their extensive commitments, including $20 million in loans from New York's Chase Manhattan Bank, which foreclosed on the notes last year and took control of Commonwealth.

Commonwealth's problems, according to Wille, began when it invested heavily in tax-free municipal bonds and made loans "of doubtful quality."

Yield Down

The yield on the bonds, which have a book value of $246 million, have deteriorated by about $30 million due to the extremely tight money conditions, FDIC said. In recent months the bank has had to borrow daily on the federal funds market and from the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago in order to maintain working capital.

Despite the bank's financial position, Wille said he had no knowledge that any banking regulations had been violated. He refused to comment on the possibility that criminal charges might be forthcoming.

"We want to point out that this (the loan commitment) is an expression of confidence that the bank can again become a vigorous competitive force in Michigan's commercial banking structure," he said.

Two Students Accused Of Murder Conspiracy

Chicago, Ill. (AP) — Two college students were charged Tuesday with conspiracy to commit murder in what Cook County State's Atty. Edward V. Hanrahan said was a plot to poison water supplies in the Midwest with typhoid and other deadly bacteria.

The aim of the alleged plot, Hanrahan said, was to build a master race among the survivors of the poisoning who would have undergone treatments to make them immune.

City authorities said the alleged scheme was uncovered before any overt action was taken and that water supplies were safe. They said it would have been virtually impossible to carry out.

The two defendants, Steve Pera, 18, of suburban Evanston who formerly worked in a hospital laboratory, and Allen Schwander, 19, of Chicago, were arrested Monday in Schwander's North Side apartment.

They appeared before Judge Robert J. Sulski in Circuit Court and held in lieu of $250,000 bond each.

Jack Schmetterer, assistant state's attorney, in requesting the high bond, told Sulski that among evidence confiscated from the apartment were substances identified as typhoid microorganisms.

Hanrahan said a week-long investigation disclosed that Pera and Schwander had formed an organization called "RISE" which had allegedly "planned poisoning water supplies and spreading deadly diseases in Illinois and elsewhere."

"Members of RISE," Hanrahan said, "were allegedly to be inoculated and immunized, enabling them to survive the poisonings and diseases to form the basis of a new master race. Water filtration plants in the Midwest were allegedly to be infected with typhoid and other deadly bacteria."

Schmetterer told Judge Sulski that the two men were students at campus of the Chicago City College system. He said the typhoid culture apparently was developed by Pera in a labratory at the school, where a quantity of the deadly germ was also found.

A spokesman at Rush-Presbyterian-St. Lukes Hospital said Pera had worked as a volunteer at the hospital medical center but was ordered off the premises earlier this month after it was learned he tried to obtain unauthorized chemicals. The spokesman said Pera also grew unauthorized biological cultures at the hospital before he was dismissed. The cultures were destroyed, the spokesman said.

James M. Rochford, deputy superintendent of the Chicago Police Department, said although an investigation was continuing, no arrests in addition to Pera and Schwander were 'imminent."

WGN Radio said the plot was to be carried out with the use of an airplane which would release chemicals over water filtration plants.

Rochford refused to confirm that aspect of the report but said the arrests were based on conversations which discussed "certain acts that would disseminate chemicals to harm the public."

But Rochford and other city officials said there is little danger in such a threat.

Pollution-Cutting Cars Are Hard To Start, Burn More Gas, And Stall

Detroit (AP) — New car owners are paying the price for pollution-cutting automobile engines — tough starts, stalling and increased gasoline consumption.

"You start and after a minute it dies on you," said Isadore Birnbaum, a Detroit pharmacist who drives a new $6,500 sedan. "I'm afraid of getting hit in the back."

A sampling of people driving 1972 cars indicated that Birnbaum is not alone. Most said they felt they should be getting better performance.

Top executives of the Big Three automakers said the new "drivability" problems resulted from attempts to reduce exhaust emissions that can cause air pollution.

'Went For Power'

"Before we started work on emissions, we went for power at low gas consumption, quick starting and things like that," said Fred W. Bowditch, director of emission controls for General Motors Corp.

Concessions were made in performance to meet emission standards adopted by local, state and federal agencies, said Bowditch, and more concessions will hve to be made to meet the standards established by the federal Clean Air Act of 1970.

The act required the industry to remove 90% of the pollutants from automobile exhaust by 1975, a standard originally set for 1980. The Environmental Protection Agency could grant the industry a one-year extension. Industry spokesmen said there is little chance of meeting the standards by 1975, but insisted they are trying.

Pollution Reduced

By setting carburetors to allow more air and less fuel into the combustion chambers of their product's engines, automakers have reduced polluting leftovers cast into the air as exhaust emissions.

However, this also increased the chance that you will have to flip the starter three times before the engine catches and will have to idle the engine longer before it runs smoothly.

New car engines are designed to burn gasoline more completely to reduce pollutants blasted from the tailpipe. The heat used to burn the fuel thoroughly could be used to drive the car further. The result has been fewer miles per gallon of gasoline for most 1972 models.

'Burning More Gas'

"We are throwing away a lot of heat to get greater combustion and thus burning more gasoline in the process," said Bowditch.

The National Academy of Sciences, in a report to Congress this month, said the "drivability" problems result in part from the limited test period now available to manufacturers as they strive to get new antipollution equipment into their cars as quickly as possible.

"The public may be buying vehicles whose components are more likely to malfunction and whose drivability and reliability may not be satisfactory," said the report. "Severe drivability problems could have significant safety implications."

Automobile company mechanics said most problems encountered by new car owners could be overcome by precise sparkplug and engine adjustments.

Nine Skylab Astronauts Named For Eight-Week Orbital Mission

Space Center, Houston (UPI) — The Space Agency Tuesday named nine astronauts who will live and work together for up to eight weeks next year 270 miles above the Earth in a laboratory the size of a three-bedroom house.

The men selected for the U.S. orbiting space station, Skylab, included the nation's second pair of moon walkers and a medical doctor, two scientists and three veteran jet pilots.

Charles "Pete" Conrad Jr., who commanded the Apollo 12 Moon landing, will lead the first Skylab crew scheduled for launch May 1, 1973 for a 28-day stay aboard the orbiting science workshop.

Conrad's crewmates will be Dr Joseph P. Kerwin, a Navy medical doctor, and Paul J. Weitz, a Navy pilot with a masters degree in aeronautical engineering. Kerwin and Weitz will be space rookies.

Alan L. Bean, who explored the Moon's Ocean of Storms in November 1969 with Conrad, will command the second crew which rockets into Earth orbit July 30, 1973, to spend 56 days in space.

Bean will be accompanied by Dr. Owen K. Garriott, a civilian electrical engineer and scientist astronaut, and Jack R. Lousma, an aeronautical engineer and Marine jet pilot. Garriott and Lousma have never flown in space.

The third Skylab crew scheduled to blast off Oct. 28, 1973, will be an all-rookie contingent commanded by Gerald P. Carr, also a Marine pilot; Dr. Edward G. Gibson, a civilian engineer scientist-astronaut; and William R. Pogue, an Air Force jet pilot. They will inhabit Skylab for eight weeks.

Skylab, weighing 188,000 pounds and about the size of a small house inside, will be an orbiting laboratory home and recreation area constructed from a modified Saturn 5 rocket third stage. It will be launched April 30, 1973, the day before Conrad, Kerwin and Weitz blast off atop a Saturn 1B to dock their modified Apollo command and service modules with the nation's first orbital laboratory.

The Skylab will carry 53 experiments involving medicine, solar astronomy, bioscience, technology, earth resources and general sciences.

One of Skylab's major objectives will be to determine how men can best live and work during long periods of space flight. No U.S. astronaut has ever stayed in the weightlessness of space as long as the Skylab crew plans to. The longest successful manned spaceflight so far was the 18-day mission of Soyuz 9 in June 1970. The Soyuz 11 cosmonauts died after 24 days in orbit.

My Lai Toll Stands At 347; 100 Massacred At My Khe

Washington (UPI) — Pulitzer Prize-winning reporter Seymour M. Hersh said Tuesday a secret Pentagon document puts at 347 the nurber of Vietnamese civilians killed at My Lai in 1968, and discloses that about 100 other civilians were massacred at the same time at a nearby hamlet.

Hersh said murder, rape and arson were common in the Americal Division, which conducted the My Lai operation, "but there were no 'official' reports of them at the higher levels." He said one GI described what happened as "insanity."

In the first of two articles written for New Yorker magazine, Hersh said he heard a complete transscript of the Pentagon's official My Lai inquiry conducted by Lt. Gen. William R. Peers.

Neither the transcript nor the exact number of casualties has ever been made public.

Hersh said a secret census taken by the Peers Commission showed that Capt. Ernest Medina's Charlie Company killed 347 civilians at My Lai Hamlet No. 4 — a figure Hersh said was twice as high as had been acknowledged publicly. The Viet Cong charged that more than 500 were killed.

Hersh said the other massacre occurred within an hour later at My Khe Hamlet, about a mile and one-half east of My Lai 4 and involving Bravo Company.

"The incident at My Khe 4 would perhaps be just another Vietnam atrocity story if it weren't for four facts: its vital connection with the My Lai 4 tragedy; the American public's total ignorance about it; the total, detailed knowledge of it among the Peers investigators, the Department of the Army and higher Pentagon officials; and the failure of any of these agencies to see that the men involved were prosecuted," Hersh said.

The Peers Commission recommended that 15 officers be charged in connection with the My Lai massacre. All, including Maj. Gen. Samuel W. Koster, commander of the division, were acquitted or had charges dropped except for Lt. William L. Calley Jr., a platoon leader in Charlie Company, who was found guilty of the murder of 22 Vietnamese.

Hersh won the Pulitzer for his initial disclosures of the My Lai incident of March 16, 1968.

'My Khe 4 was a scraggly, much-harassed collection of straw and mud houses, inhabited by perhaps a hundred women, children and old men. After carefully crossing the bridge, some of the GIs in the 1st Platoon could see the unsuspecting villagers through heavy brush and trees," Hersh wrote.

"Lt. Willingham Thomas K.), according to many witnesses, ordered two machine gunners in his platoon to set up their weapons outside the hamlet. And then, inexplicably, the two machine gunners began to spray bullets into My Khe, shooting at the people and their homes."

$60 Million Loan Is Approved To Stave Off Collapse Of Bank

Detroit (UPI) — The Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. Tuesday approved $60 million in emergency loans to prevent the collapse of Detroit's Bank of the Commonwealth, the largest bank ever to seek financial aid from the government.

Without the loan, the FDIC said, the bank would be "in danger of closing."

The FDIC assured depositors of the bank, Detroit's fourth largest and one of the nation's 50 largest, that their accounts were protected up to $20,000 under the FDIC's deposit insurance program.

Commonwealth has deposits of just over $1 billion. It ran up a net operating loss of nearly $10 million in 1970 and $4.1 million in 1971.

EVENTS
IN PERSPECTIVE

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

A former governor of Georgia has urged his state to adopt Nebraska's one-house legislature because "if the Cornhuskers can legislate like they can play football, they are hell on wheels." Well, we certainly are hell on wheels when it comes to legislating.

It is a wonder, in fact, that we have not already legislated ourselves out of business or maybe even out of existence. The count for bills in this and the 1971 session of the Legislature, considered as continuous sessions, now stands at 1,469 and not holding.

With 123 bills left over from the last session, this 1972 session is likely to have to deal with somewhere between 600 and 700 bills. It has, by law, a total of 60 days to get its job done. Now, can you really believe that the senators can do justice to that many bills in that limited length of time?

Well, they cannot. Many of the bills, of course, haven't a prayer of getting passed but are introduced by some senator who seeks to satisfy the interest of an insistent constituent. The senator introduces the bill to keep the voter happy but the measure never gets to first base.

But you have to wonder how many special-interest bills there are that make it through the legislative maize. Who could ever know what is in all those bills? Obviously, the only hope of the general public is that there are enough senators of ability and integrity that the average guy doesn't get killed with some measure.

Bills are also watched by a substantial press corps but not even the press has the capacity to know for sure the real meaning and impact of every piece of legislation that is introduced. The former Georgia governor is right; we sure can legislate.

But can we legislate with quality? That is another question. Some say we have the wrong system, and there is a bill in this session to change to a partisan legislature. Some want the one-house idea thrown away, even.

None of those things, however, would make much difference. It is not the system that is producing the avalanche of measures with which we have to deal, but rather, the individuals in that system. There isn't any system that can get around the human factors of irresponsibility and honest differences of opinion.

In another area of the news, the same human factors seem to be at work. A federally funded study of violence on TV has come up with the conclusion that the medium probably contributes but little to aggressive or violent behavior in youngsters.

In other words, seeing violence on TV is not going to make a youngster a violent person. The exception is the youngster who is probably going to be a violent person, anyway, because of home environment, personality or some other influence.

The report has come in for criticism as a whitewash of TV and the national networks. Maybe it is a whitewash, we don't know, but we are inclined to think it is about right. If we could have a total cleanup of our society, TV would come in for its share, as would motion pictures, art, literature, newspapers, etc.

And when you got all done with all aspects of communication and entertainment, you would have to turn to the institutions and individuals of our society. To eliminate exposure to violence or anything else you might classify as bad, you have to touch every aspect of our national life.

Crime, the real kind, is an example of violence that anyone can look to if he wants to. Dishonesty is a form of violence that anyone can look to and certainly can find if he wants to look for it.

And what about war? It is a violent thing and is nowhere near being eliminated from society. Auto accidents are violent but they happen every day. Hunger and poverty are violent but they are still with us. There just is no way to shield people from violence without coming up with the perfect society and we are a ridiculously long way away from that.

If we are looking for scapegoats, TV might serve the purpose but we would only be kidding ourselves in the process. Our challenges are far greater and far more complex than the elimination of violence on TV.

Death Penalty Repudiated?

The case of Lucius Jackson is readily illustrative of the arguments being offered the U.S. Supreme Court in the historic challenge to the use of the death penalty. Jackson is one of four condemned men, all black, whose appeals were accepted by the court as the basis for its ruling sometime before the end of the current term on whether execution is cruel and unusual punishment within the meaning of the Eighth Amendment to the Constitution.

Jackson, from Georgia, was sentenced to death after a one-day trial on charges of raping a white woman.

The brief for one of the condemned men argues that "the real danger concerning cruel and unusual laws is that they will be enacted in the form such that they can be applied sparsely and spottily to unhappy minorities, whose numbers are so few, whose plight is so invisible, and whose persons are so unpopular that society can readily bear to see them suffer torments which would not for a moment be acceptable as penalties of general application to the populace."

Jackson is one of those "personally ugly and socially unacceptable" persons to whom the death penalty was applied. In death rows across the land, the majority of men and women awaiting execution are members of minorities.

If the national conscience has not yet swung against the death penalty, as its proponents claim, we wonder how quickly the electric chair or the gas chamber would become repulsive if the ultimate penalty were handed down to all persons — black and white — convicted of murder or rape or whatever crimes constitute capital crimes in a given state?

The collective conscience of the country might also be disturbed if the nearly 700 condemned men and women now on death rows in 34 states were to be put to death in the event the court does not rule against capital punishment.

If there is no deep-seated outcry against the death penalty, if it has not been "virtually unanimously repudiated by the conscience of contemporary society," it is because it has been applied so rarely and unevenly that it has not touched enough people.

Given the present makeup of the court, is is most possible that it will rule that the issue of outlawing the death penalty should be left up to the state legislatures. But in so ruling, the court would back out of a great moral issue.

One More Year

University of Nebraska football fans at home and around the country are understandably happy and gratified with Head Coach Bob Devaney's decision to remain for one more year at the Cornhusker helm.

No one can doubt that Devaney went through considerable soul-searching in contemplating his retirement in light of the extraordinary demands that success has brought. By quickly ending speculation as to his immediate future, Devaney eased pressure on the recruiting picture for next year and took his fine team of assistant coaches off the hook. And in deciding to lead the 1972 Big Red team, Devaney honored prior commitments to athletes wanting the opportunity to play under his tutelage and paid his own special tribute to the average Nebraska fan.

These are actions that Nebraskans have come to think of as characteristic of the nation's premier coach.

Another tough decision must have been Devaney's choice of Tom Osborne as assistant head coach. Because neither can anyone seriously doubt that NU possesses the best overall coaching staff in collegiate football. Many on that staff would be deserving of the designation as Devaney's heir apparent and it is the highest type of honor to Osborne that Devaney will recommend to the NU Regents that he be named head coach in 1973.

Now that the decision has been announced, Big Red partisans can unite in wishing for the best next season. As Devaney pointed out, a third consecutive national championship is improbable, but not impossible. That accomplishment would be a fitting end to a remarkable coaching career.

TOM WICKER
State Of The What?

New York—White House Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler says Presiden Nixon is working on the fifth or sixth draft of his State of the Union message, and no wonder. If history is a guide, that message ought also to provide his basic platform for re-election.

Nixon is in a position many American voters can hardly recall; he is the first president since Dwight Eisenhower in 1956 to seek re-election after serving a full four-year term. Owing primarily to the workings of the two-term limitation, the only other reelection campaigns in the post-war years took place in 1948 and 1964, when the incumbents had succeeded to office from the vice presidency.

Either way they come about, re-election campaigns usually begin with resounding State of the Union messages. Back in 1948 President Truman (responding no doubt to the left-wing third party just announced by Henry Wallace) offered a program that Arthur Krock described in this space as "everything including the kitchen stove."

After calling for approval of his anti-inflation program and the Marshal plan, Truman produced a politically attractive grab-bag of New Dealish proposals — expanded Social Security, health insurance, federal aid to education, federal housing, extended farm supports and a higher minimum wage; then, for good measure, he threw in a plan to let every taxpayer deduct from his income tax bill $40 each for himself and his dependents.

"It suddenly occurred to me for the first time I had the privilege of participating in the Democratic convention," said Les Arends, then as now the House Republican whip. In fact, Congress was markedly cool to the Truman program, and killed the tax plan in jig time; but eleven months later the voters proved that the President had known exactly what he was doing.

Lyndon B. Johnson's State of the Union message was an even more spectacular kickoff for his 1964 campaign. He told Congress he was cutting the budget to $97.9 billion, $500 million below Presiden Kennedy's budget for the previous year. Stock prices rose and business leaders applauded, said the New York Times, but Johnson — typically gargantuan—reached the other way, too.

He declared "war on poverty," called for quick passage of the Kennedy tax-reduction and civil rights bill, announced as a disarmament bid to the Soviets that he was reducing American uranium production, and fulsomely proclaimed that, despite the budget cuts, he was was recommending "the most Federal support in history for education, for health, for retraining the unemployed and for helping the economically- and physically handicapped."

Relaxing at his ranch during the Christmas holidays, Johnson had said to a group of reporters, "The State of the Union message will be my platform." Nobody who heard him deliver it missed the point—which became all too clear to Barry Goldwater in November.

But Nixon can think big, too: he is doubling his opportunity by limiting himself in the State of the Union to domestic affairs, reserving foreign affairs for a second shot at national television a little later.

In a notable speech last month, Republican Sen. Charles Mathias of Maryland pointed out that if Nixon decides to make a strong pitch for his pending family assistance plan, revenue-sharing proposals, executive reorganization scheme, and the volunteer army, he would present himself as a progressive Republican reformer. Since in his later foreign-affairs speech the emphasis is almost certain to be on SALT, the China initiative, the improvement of Soviet-American relations, and the reduced casualty lists from Vietnam, the impression given at the start of the 1972 campaign would be that of a moderately progressive president, taking some calculated risks for peace.

On the other hand, if Nixon comes on with helmet and club in the law-and-order stance of 1970; if he talks more of getting the bums off welfare than of helping the poor with an income floor; and if he tries to present his administration's seeming carelessness of the Bill of Rights as a necessary get-tough attitude, there will almost surely be plenty more of the same in the campaign to come.

Mathias hopes the State of the Union message and the later campaign will display a reasonably progressive Nixon, trying to hold on to what the senator calls "positive Republicans" and to win the independent and Democratic votes necessary for a minority-party victory.

After all, he pointed out, William Buckley, the Young Americans for Freedom, and the American Conservative Union all reacted negatively to the President's major initiatives — the family assistance plan and the opening to China.

Maybe that fact, supplemented by John Ashbrook's right-wing candidacy, will bring Nixon to the Mathias conclusion —that "our friends on the right don't support the President."

People Pay Taxes

Waverly, Neb.

There is a question to which I have not heard an answer. How is one man's money of different value than another's? This is, in effect, what proponents of the personal tax bills being discussed in the Legislature are saying. After all, it is not property that pays taxes. People pay taxes.

It all boils down to this. Instead of selecting property to pay taxes, it selects people to pay taxes. One person who owns only personal property is to get a 90 per cent tax reduction, while another who owns only real estate gets no reduction but instead pays higher sales and income tax rates to finance the other's tax reduction.

There are many thousands of people in Nebraska who come under the heading of "real estate only" taxpayers, and they are just as good citizens and just as deserving as those who pay only personal taxes.

If we are sincere about tax relief, why not straight-across-the-board reductions, and not just for a select few?

The argument that this legislation will bring enough new income into the state to offset the revenue loss is just a lot of bunk.

If we must give special inducements to business and industry, let's do it under the proper heading and not under the subterfuge of "property relief."

Wrong Number

Lincoln, Neb.

The recent cerebral palsy telethon used a number that was almost identical to my home phone. We received no fewer than 100 calls in a very short period of time. We were forced to leave our phone off the hook most of the time the telethon was in progress and for about three hours after it was over. We were still receiving calls Monday night.

Several calls to the telephone company and to the TV station seemed to be ignored. At least once during this time an error was made and my number was given. The station refused to correct or caution dialers to note the correct number.

I am not in opposition to telethons or fund-raising events. I do, however, believe that a number should be used that could not be confused with private subscribers and create havoc in their home. This could have posed a serious problem to an aged, ill, handicapped or business person and should be corrected before any more of these events take place.

I congratulate them on their success but will take legal steps to prevent this happening again. With an increasing number of fund-raisers using this method, there should be a means of preventing phone subscribers from having their homes disrupted day and night for a prolonged period of time.

The Horse Barns

Lincoln, Neb.

We've been in the 4-H for three years and have been going to horse shows for the past four years.

We'd like to know why they they are tearing down the horse barns to build a fieldhouse? We like Big Red but do we as 4-H'ers have to give up all we have worked for and concede to the big business of Nebraska football? After all, we are the coming generation.

All the senators have given the 4-H groups throughout the county and state a lackadaisical attitude. This year we'll not be able to have a county fair unless we stable our horses outside of the fairgrounds or take them home each night. The Wranglers have said we could use their grounds, because of the fact that senators have to have money coming off the races and heck with us 4-H'ers.

CHRISTY AND CARRIE NELSON
4-H Members

Besides the above note that my daughters have written, I'll have to agree that our kids are really getting the go-around. If 4-H would bring money in, instead of giving very little out, I'm sure the county and state would recognize them.

I just want to thank YOU for running us out of the fairgrounds and when I say thank YOU, that means whoever that YOU are.

First Things First

A news item in the Fremont Tribune of Jan. 11 quoted in part of a letter which State Senator Ernie Chambers read to the Legislature after receiving it from an individual who said he should be sent to Africa. To the individual who wrote that letter, I say shame, and may the Lord have mercy on you.

I am confident he feels the majority shares his thinking, but the majority has not always been right, as history, physical facts and conditions today prove. There are those — some of whom are even pillars in our religious and public educational institutions — who profess out of one corner of their mouths that they "love and worship the Almighty God," but out of the other side they condemn and question the Lord's wisdom in creating the human race with so many different colored skins. How hypocritical can one get? Who is anyone to say definitely whether Jesus Christ or His Heavenly Father was either black or white, for there is no record of it. But if they were black, would they suggest sending them to Africa also?

As for Nebraska No. 1, I learned to play in the barnyard, but not until I had my chores and other responsibilities taken care of. That fits in with what Ernie Chambers mean by his statement (as an individual) concerning the Nebraska-Alabama game. People by nature from the cradle to the grave love to play but the important things must be taken care of first before we can be No. 1.

I happen to be a paleface, for which I had no choice, but not one of those lily whites, however.

Single Woman, 45, Is Model Employe

NEW YORK — As most everyone knows (but many employers try not to think about), single girls are a lot sturdier and more stable than men — at least in the office milieu.

Men may have the brawn, but girls have the tenaciousness to stay on the job, even when they're feeling poorly. They also remain more loyal to their companies, while men are on the move from one business to another.

Specifically, the breakdown is this:

In recent years, single women have averaged only 3.9 "sick days" per annum, compared with 4.3 such days for bachelors, 5.3 for all men, and 5.6 for all women. The high ratio of absenteeism for married women reflects their sense of responsibility to their families; their "sick days" are often the result of sick kiddies, rather than personal illness.

As for job-hopping, a study on labor turnover indicates that 10 per cent of the men surveyed change jobs during a given year. Only seven per cent of women do.

Even young, unmarried women — allegedly the footloose type — are faithful (not necessarily to boyfriends, but definitely to employers). In the 18-to-19-year age group, one in four girls shift jobs, compared with one in three men.

The study showed that the "model employe" would be an unmarried woman of 45, who started working at age 20. In this category, women stay with the same boss for an average of 15½ years, and take less sick cave than the men around them.

There is one conclusion to be drawn — especially by liberationists.

Women may deserve not only equal pay, but better pay.

Each year, hundreds of thousands of Americans decide that they will be song-writers. They dream up a tune, apply a sentimental lyric to it, and send it off to a music publisher.

Almost invariably, it comes back. Very promptly. Usually in its original envelope. Unopened.

As a music publisher told me: "We don't open unsolicited songs, because almost no non-professional can write a great song—but almost any non-professional can initiate a great law suit."

Thus, dreary as this may sound to vast numbers of would-be composers in the U.S., the chances of an amateur writing a hit song are about 500,000-to-one.

Even the acknowledged, full-time composers of pop music often have a difficult time getting their works published.

Harry Ruby wrote me this week to comment on that.

"Little does the public know what goes on in our crazy game. A volume of books could be written about all the songs—the big hits—almost all of them—which were originally turned down, in one way or another.

"Some of them gathered dust on the shelves for years before getting heard by the public. 'Alexander's Ragtime Band' (Irving Berlin) was one of them. And one of my songs, 'Three Little Words,' had an uphill fight for ages before it finally broke through.

JACK ANDERSON
Jimmy The Greek Foresees Nixon Triumph; Right On Presidential Predictions Since 1948

WASHINGTON — Senator Ed Muskie's chances of winning the Democratic presidential nomination are getting better, but his chances of defeating President Nixon are getting worse.

This, at least, is the latest reckoning of Jimmy the Greek Snyder, the Las Vegas oddsmaker, whom we have signed up to give pollsters George Gallup and Lou Harris some competition in making presidential predictions.

The Greek now rates Muskie a 5-to-2 favorite to win the nomination, an improvement over the 5-to-3 odds by which Jimmy favored the Maine Democrat a month ago.

However, Jimmy considers President Nixon an 8-to-5 bet to beat Muskie. This is a slight improvement over the 7-to-5 odds last month. The President is also given an 11-to-5 advantage over Senator Hubert Humphrey or Senator Henry Jackson, a 13-to-5 edge over Senator Ted Kennedy and a 3-to-1 wager over anyone else who might wind up with the Democratic nomination.

The Greek also has good news for Vice President Agnew. The latest soundings have convinced Jimmy that Agnew is now a 10-1 choice of renomination, a dramatic rise from his 2-to-1 rating a month ago.

Jimmy's political prognostications have baffled the scholars at Washington's prestigious Brookings Institution, who are employed to worry about the world's great problems, to explain the present and to dividen the future. They reach their conclusions with the use of computers, sophisticated data and sheer brainpower.

But the institution's staff met its match on the day Jimmy the Greek came to call. Millions of ordinary Americans could have given odds on that. Jimmy is as much a part of American sports as the forward pass.

From his Las Vegas headquarters, Jimmy sets the point spreads on football games, makes the odds on championship fights and calls the winners in major political contests. He comes up with the right results often enough that many with a sporting urge wouldn't risk a nickel wager without consulting his predictions.

The scholars at Brookings invited him to come to their once-a-month informal gathering where they pick the brains of the mighty. He regaled them with anecdotes, beat their computer at football and blackjack and discussed his methods of reckoning.

Some of the thinkers were disappointed. "There was nothing deep," one complained. "He has a crude system. He even hires bartenders as pollsters."

He began his political predictions in 1948, when he cleaned up on Harry Truman's victory over Thomas C. Dewey. Jimmy hasn't been wrong about a presidential election since.

The Greek's odds are based on delegate strength, financial backing, staff organization and poll ratings. He surveys political writers in all states, but keeps a particularly sharp eye on the bellwether states of Ohio and Illinois.

Here is a full listing of Jimmy's odds: (If the number listed first is larger, the candidate is an underdog. If the first number is smaller, the candidate is a favorite. Thus Muskie, 2-to-5, is favored while Humphrey, 4-to-1, is an underdog.)

Who will be the Democratic presidential Nominee? Sen. Ed Muskie, 2 to 5; Sen. Hubert Humphrey, 4 to 1; Sen. Henry Jackson, 5 to 1; Sen. Ted Kennedy, 20 to 1; Sen. George McGovern, 50 to 1; Mayor John Lindsay, 50 to 1; Gov. George Wallace, 50 to 1; Rep. Wilbur Mills, 200 to 1; Eugene McCarthy, 200 to 1; Sen. Vance Hartke, 200 to 1; Mayor Sam Yorty, 500 to 1, Rep. Shirley Chisholm, 500 to 1; dark horse, 50 to 1.

Who will get the Republican presidential nomination? President Nixon, 1 to 50; Rep. Paul McCloskey, 500 to 1; Rep. John Ashbrook, 500 to 1.

Who will be the Democratic vice presidential nominee? Sen. Henry Jackson, 2 to 1; Sen. Edward Kennedy, 3 to 1; Sen. Walter Mondale, 8 to 1; Sen. Birch Bayh, 8 to 1; Sen. George McGovern, 8 to 1; Rep. Wilbur Mills, 8 to 1; Mayor John Lindsay, 10 to 1; Sen. Harold Hughes, 20 to 1; Sen. Vance Hartke, 20 to 1; Sen. John Tunney, 10 to 1; Rep. Shirley Chisholm, 200 to 1; Mayor Sam Yorty, 200 to 1; Gov. George Wallace, 100 to 1.

Who will be the Republican vice presidential nominee? Vice President Agnew, 1 to 10; Treasury Secretary John Connally, 10 to 1; dark horse, 20 to 1.

Who will win the election? President Nixon, 5 to 8 against Sen. Muskie; 5 to 11 over Sens. Humphrey of Jackson; 5 to 13 against Sen. Kennedy; 1 to 3 against anyone else.

We asked Jimmy why McGovern, an announced candidate who has stayed in the race two years, could be rated below Kennedy, who swears he is not a candidate.

"McGovern's nowhere in the polls," says Jimmy, "and I can't find any delegate strength for him. He seems to take advantage of issues and gets good exposure, but none of it seems to make a dent."

EVENTS
IN PERSPECTIVE

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

A former governor of Georgia has urged his state to adopt Nebraska's one-house legislature because "if the Cornhuskers can legislate like they can play football, they are hell on wheels." Well, we certainly are hell on wheels when it comes to legislating.

It is a wonder, in fact, that we have not already legislated ourselves out of business or maybe even out of existence. The count for bills in this and the 1971 session of the Legislature, considered as continuous sessions, now stands at 1,469 and not holding.

With 123 bills left over from the last session, this 1972 session is likely to have to deal with somewhere between 600 and 700 bills. It has, by law, a total of 60 days to get its job done. Now, can you really believe that the senators can do justice to that many bills in that limited length of time?

Well, they cannot. Many of the bills, of course, haven't a prayer of getting passed but are introduced by some senator who seeks to satisfy the interest of an insistent constituent. The senator introduces the bill to keep the voter happy but the measure never gets to first base.

But you have to wonder how many special-interest bills there are that make it through the legislative maize. Who could ever know what is in all those bills? Obviously, the only hope of the general public is that there are enough senators of ability and integrity that the average guy doesn't get killed with some measure.

Bills are also watched by a substantial press corps but not even the press has the capacity to know for sure the real meaning and impact of every piece of legislation that is introduced. The former Georgia governor is right; we sure can legislate.

But can we legislate with quality? That is another question. Some say we have the wrong system, and there is a bill in this session to change to a partisan legislature. Some want the one-house idea thrown away, even.

None of those things, however, would make much difference. It is not the system that is producing the avalanche of measures with which we have to deal, but rather, the individuals in that system. There isn't any system that can get around the human factors of irresponsibility and honest differences of opinion.

In another area of the news, the same human factors seem to be at work. A federally funded study of violence on TV has come up with the conclusion that the medium probably contributes but little to aggressive or violent behavior in youngsters.

In other words, seeing violence on TV is not going to make a youngster a violent person. The exception is the youngster who is probably going to be a violent person, anyway, because of home environment, personality or some other influence.

The report has come in for criticism as a whitewash of TV and the national networks. Maybe it is a whitewash, we don't know, but we are inclined to think it is about right. If we could have a total cleanup of our society, TV would come in for its share, as would motion pictures, art, literature, newspapers, etc.

And when you got all done with all aspects of communication and entertainment, you would have to turn to the institutions and individuals of our society. To eliminate exposure to violence or anything else you might classify as bad, you have to touch every aspect of our national life.

Crime, the real kind, is an example of violence that anyone can look to if he wants to. Dishonesty is a form of violence that anyone can look to and certainly can find if he wants to look for it.

And what about war? It is a violent thing and is nowhere near being eliminated from society. Auto accidents are violent but they happen every day. Hunger and poverty are violent but they are still with us. There just is no way to shield people from violence without coming up with the perfect society and we are a ridiculously long way away from that.

If we are looking for scapegoats, TV might serve the purpose but we would only be kidding ourselves in the process. Our challenges are far greater and far more complex than the elimination of violence on TV.

Death Penalty Repudiated?

The case of Lucius Jackson is readily illustrative of the arguments being offered the U.S. Supreme Court in the historic challenge to the use of the death penalty. Jackson is one of four condemned men, all black, whose appeals were accepted by the court as the basis for its ruling sometime before the end of the current term on whether execution is cruel and unusual punishment within the meaning of the Eighth Amendment to the Constitution.

Jackson, from Georgia, was sentenced to death after a one-day trial on charges of raping a white woman.

The brief for one of the condemned men argues that "the real danger concerning cruel and unusual laws is that they will be enacted in the form such that they can be applied sparsely and spottily to unhappy minorities, whose numbers are so few, whose plight is so invisible, and whose persons are so unpopular that society can readily bear to see them suffer torments which would not for a moment be acceptable as penalties of general application to the populace."

Jackson is one of those "personally ugly and socially unacceptable" persons to whom the death penalty was applied. In death rows across the land, the majority of men and women awaiting execution are members of minorities.

If the national conscience has not yet swung against the death penalty, as its proponents claim, we wonder how quickly the electric chair or the gas chamber would become repulsive if the ultimate penalty were handed down to all persons — black and white — convicted of murder or rape or whatever crimes constitute capital crimes in a given state?

The collective conscience of the country might also be disturbed if the nearly 700 condemned men and women now on death rows in 34 states were to be put to death in the event the court does not rule against capital punishment.

If there is no deep-seated outcry against the death penalty, if it has not been "virtually unanimously repudiated by the conscience of contemporary society," it is because it has been applied so rarely and unevenly that it has not touched enough people.

Given the present makeup of the court, is is most possible that it will rule that the issue of outlawing the death penalty should be left up to the state legislatures. But in so ruling, the court would back out of a great moral issue.

The recent cerebral palsy telethon used a number that was almost identical to my home phone. We received no fewer than 100 calls in a very short period of time. We were forced to leave our phone off the hook most of the time the telethon was in progress and for about three hours after it was over. We were still receiving calls Monday night.

Several calls to the telephone company and to the TV station seemed to be ignored. At least once during this time an error was made and my number was given. The station refused to correct or caution dialers to note the correct number.

I am not in opposition to telethons or fund-raising events. I do, however, believe that a number should be used that could not be confused with private subscribers and create havoc in their home. This could have posed a serious problem to an aged, ill, handicapped or business person and should be corrected before any more of these events take place.

I congratulate them on their success but will take legal steps to prevent this happening again. With an increasing number of fund-raisers using this method, there should be a means of preventing phone subscribers from having their homes disrupted day and night for a prolonged period of time.

The Horse Barns

Lincoln, Neb.

We've been in the 4-H for three years and have been going to horse shows for the past four years.

We'd like to know why they they are tearing down the horse barns to build a fieldhouse? We like Big Red but do we as 4-H'ers have to give up all we have worked for and concede to the big business of Nebraska football? After all, we are the coming generation

All the senators have given the 4-H groups throughout the county and state a lackadaisical attitude. This year we'll not be able to have a county fair unless we stable our horses outside of the fairgrounds or take them home each night. The Wranglers have said we could use their grounds, because of the fact that senators have to have money coming off the races and heck with us 4-H'ers.

CHRISTY AND CARRIE NELSON
4-H Members

Besides the above note that my daughters have written, I'll have to agree that our kids are really getting the go-around. If 4-H would bring money in, instead of giving very little out, I'm sure the county and state would recognize them.

I just want to thank YOU for running us out of the fairgrounds and when I say thank YOU, that means whoever that YOU are.

MAYNARD A. NELSON

First Things First

A news item in the Fremont Tribune of Jan. 11 quoted in part of a letter which State Senator Ernie Chambers read to the Legislature after receiving it from an individual who said he should be sent to Africa. To the individual who wrote that letter, I say shame, and may the Lord have mercy on you.

I am confident he feels the majority shares his thinking, but the majority has not always been right, as history, physical facts and conditions today prove. There are those — some of whom are even pillars in our religious and public educational institutions — who profess out of one corner of their mouths that they "love and worship the Almighty God," but out of the other side they condemn and question the Lord's wisdom in creating the human race with so many different colored skins. How hypocritical can one get? Who is anyone to say definitely whether Jesus Christ or His Heavenly Father was either black or white, for there is no record of it. But if they were black, would they suggest sending them to Africa also?

As for Nebraska No. 1, I learned to play in the barnyard, but not until I had my chores and other responsibilities taken care of. That fits in with what Ernie Chambers mean by his statement (as an individual) concerning the Nebraska-Alabama game. People by nature from the cradle to the grave love to play but the important things must be taken care of first before we can be No. 1.

I happen to be a paleface, for which I had no choice, but not one of those lily whites, however.

Single Woman, 45, Is Model Employe

NEW YORK — As most everyone knows (but many employers try not to think about), single girls are a lot sturdier and more stable than men — at least in the office milieu.

Men may have the brawn, but girls have the tenaciousness to stay on the job, even when they're feeling poorly. They also remain more loyal to their companies, while men are on the move from one business to another.

Specifically, the breakdown is this:

In recent years, single women have averaged only 3.9 "sick days" per annum, compared with 4.3 such days for bachelors, 5.3 for all men, and 5.6 for all women. The high ratio of absenteeism for married women reflects their sense of responsibility to their families; their "sick days" are often the result of sick kiddies, rather than personal illness.

As for job-hopping, a study on labor turnover indicates that 10 per cent of the men surveyed change jobs during a given year. Only seven per cent of women do.

Even young, unmarried women — allegedly the footloose type — are faithful (not necessarily to boyfriends, but definitely to employers). In the 18-to-19-year age group, one in four girls shift jobs, compared with one in three men.

The study showed that the "model employe" would be an unmarried woman of 45, who started working at age 20. In this category, women stay with the same boss for an average of 15½ years, and take less sick leave than the men around them.

There is one conclusion to be drawn — especially by liberationists.

Women may deserve not only equal pay, but better pay.

Each year, hundreds of thousands of Americans decide that they will be song-writers. They dream up a tune, apply a sentimental lyric to it, and send it off to a music publisher.

Almost invariably, it comes back. Very promptly. Usually in its original envelope. Unopened.

As a music publisher told me: "We don't open unsolicited songs, because almost no non-professional can write a great song—but almost any non-professional can initiate a great law suit."

Thus, dreary as this may sound to vast numbers of would-be composers in the U.S., the chances of an amateur writing a hit song are about 500,000-to-one.

Even the acknowledged, full-time composers of pop music often have a difficult time getting their works published.

Harry Ruby wrote me this week to comment on that.

"Little does the public know what goes on in our crazy game. A volume of books could be written about all the songs—the big hits—almost all of them—which were originally turned down, in one way or another.

"Some of them gathered dust on the shelves for years before getting heard by the public. 'Alexander's Ragtime Band' (Irving Berlin) was one of them. And one of my songs, 'Three Little Words,' had an uphill fight for ages before it finally broke through.

JACK ANDERSON
Jimmy The Greek Foresees Nixon Triumph; Right On Presidential Predictions Since 1948

WASHINGTON — Senator Ed Muskie's chances of winning the Democratic presidential nomination are getting better, but his chances of defeating President Nixon are getting worse.

This, at least, is the latest reckoning of Jimmy the Greek Snyder, the Las Vegas oddsmaker, whom we have signed up to give pollsters George Gallup and Lou Harris some competition in making presidential predictions.

The Greek now rates Muskie a 5-to-2 favorite to win the nomination, an improvement over the 5-to-3 odds by which Jimmy favored the Maine Democrat a month ago.

However, Jimmy considers President Nixon an 8-to-5 bet to beat Muskie. This is a slight improvement over the 7-to-5 odds last month. The President is also given an 11-to-5 advantage over Senator Hubert Humphrey or Senator Henry Jackson, a 13-to-5 edge over Senator Ted Kennedy and a 3-to-1 wager over anyone else who might wind up with the Democratic nomination.

The Greek also has good news for Vice President Agnew. The latest soundings have convinced Jimmy that Agnew is now a 10-1 choice of renomination, a dramatic rise from his 2-to-1 rating a month ago.

Jimmy's political prognostications have baffled the scholars at Washington's prestigious Brookings Institution, who are employed to worry about the world's great problems, to explain the present and to dividen the future. They reach their conclusions with the use of computers, sophisticated data and sheer brainpower.

But the institution's staff met its match on the day Jimmy the Greek came to call. Millions of ordinary Americans could have given odds on that. Jimmy is as much a part of American sports as the forward pass.

From his Las Vegas headquarters, Jimmy sets the point spreads on football games, makes the odds on championship fights and calls the winners in major political contests. He comes up with the right results often enough that many with a sporting urge wouldn't risk a nickel wager without consulting his predictions.

The scholars at Brookings invited him to come to their once-a-month informal gathering where they pick the brains of the mighty. He regaled them with anecdotes, beat their computer at football and blackjack and discussed his methods of reckoning.

Some of the thinkers were disappointed. "There was nothing deep," one complained. "He has a crude system. He even hires bartenders as pollsters."

He began his political predictions in 1948, when he cleaned up on Harry Truman's victory over Thomas C. Dewey. Jimmy hasn't been wrong about a presidential election since.

The Greek's odds are based on delegate strength, financial backing, staff organization and poll ratings. He surveys political writers in all states, but keeps a particularly sharp eye on the bellwether states of Ohio and Illinois.

Here is a full listing of Jimmy's odds: (If the number listed first is larger, the candidate is an underdog. If the first number is smaller, the candidate is a favorite. Thus Muskie, 2-to-5, is favored while Humphrey, 4-to-1, is an underdog.)

Who will be the Democratic presidential Nominee? Sen. Ed Muskie, 2 to 5; Sen. Hubert Humphrey, 4 to 1; Sen. Henry Jackson, 5 to 1; Sen. Ted Kennedy, 20 to 1; Sen. George McGovern, 50 to 1; Mayor John Lindsay, 50 to 1; Gov. George Wallace, 50 to 1; Rep. Wilbur Mills, 200 to 1; Eugene McCarthy, 200 to 1; Sen. Vance Hartke, 200 to 1; Mayor Sam Yorty, 500 to 1, Rep. Shirley Chisholm, 500 to 1; dark horse, 50 to 1.

Who will get the Republican presidential nomination? President Nixon, 1 to 50; Rep. Paul McCloskey, 500 to 1; Rep. John Ashbrook, 500 to 1.

Who will be the Democratic vice presidential nominee? Sen. Henry Jackson, 2 to 1; Sen. Edward Kennedy, 3 to 1; Sen. Walter Mondale, 8 to 1; Sen. Birch Bayh, 8 to 1; Sen. George McGovern, 8 to 1; Rep. Wilbur Mills, 8 to 1; Mayor John Lindsay, 10 to 1; Sen. Harold Hughes, 20 to 1; Sen. Vance Hartke, 20 to 1; Sen. John Tunney, 10 to 1; Rep. Shirley Chisholm, 200 to 1; Mayor Sam Yorty, 200 to 1; Gov. George Wallace, 100 to 1.

Who will be the Republican vice presidential nominee? Vice President Agnew, 1 to 10; Treasury Secretary John Connally, 10 to 1; dark horse, 20 to 1.

Who will win the election? President Nixon, 5 to 8 against Sen. Muskie; 5 to 11 over Sens. Humphrey of Jackson; 5 to 13 against Sen. Kennedy; 1 to 3 against anyone else.

We asked Jimmy why McGovern, an announced candidate who has stayed in the race two years, could be rated below Kennedy, who swears he is not a candidate.

"McGovern's nowhere in the polls," says Jimmy, "and I can't find any delegate strength for him. He seems to take advantage of issues and gets good exposure, but none of it seems to make a dent."

School Building, Renovation Requires $16 Million

By MILAN WALL
Star Staff Writer

Lincoln Board of Education members were told Tuesday that it would take an estimated $16 million to meet all the school district's new building and remodeling needs over the next ten years.

And Suptm John Prasch said he believed such a building program could be handled without bond issuance if the district can continue to levy the maximum of four mills in local property tax for "current building funds."

Under current law, the district can levy up to four mills for building purposes.

Prasch has said he is working to build a gradual building program designed to meet the needs of city growth, replacement of outmoded structures and new educational programs.

He said the $16 million represents a tentative maximum figure based upon his calculation of total possible needs "in sight" today.

He said it would include all possible building renovation and remodeling, landscaping, parking lot improvements and new buildings, including two elementary schools and a new junior high school.

The superintendent emphasized that the figure was only a "very tentative" one, but he said he believed it represents the cost of meeting within that time span all construction goals.

The estimate was supplied for board members as they met Tuesday morning for an informal background session on the building program.

The board has already approved preliminary drawings for a major addition to Goodrich Junior High School, and is expected action might come in the near future on several other projects.

Prasch said Tuesday he would bring to the next official meeting a recommendation on remodeling and renovation projects for 1972.

He said he estimated $300,000 would be spent on renovations each year during the next 10 years, and about $1.3 million on new buildings if his estimate of $16 million proves accurate.

A discussion of possible change in methods of taxation was sparked by board member Robert Wekesser, who asked Prasch what impact a court decision here on property taxes might have on the four-mill levy.

Prash admitted the picture could be changed considerably by some future unknowns.

Wekesser was referring to court decisions in other states ruling unfair a heavy reliance on local property tax for support of schools.

The superintendent admitted he has been deliberately vague" on details of much of the construction program because of the possible change that could come from such a decision or from some other change in the current tax base.

Sprinkler Irrigation Systems Are Discussed

A permanent solid set sprinkler irrigation system with automatic controls is as nearly automatic as any irrigation system now on the market and requires a minimum of labor, a University of Nebraska District Extension irrigationist told those attending an irrigation shortcourse here Tuesday.

The major advantages of such a system are its adaptability to any crop, soil type, terrain, shape and size of field, low labor requirements and 24-hours-a-day operation, according to Robert Mulliner, NU South Central Station, Clay Center.

Mulliner explained that a permanent solid-set system is one in which the entire acreage to be irrigated has laterals buried below the surface. Average cost of the buried system will run $500 to $700 per acre, installed, he said.

"Sprinklers attached to risers which are connected to the buried laterals are spaced so as to adequately cover the irrigated acreage," Mulliner said. Only a small portion of the acreage is irrigated at any one time, in normal irrigation, he added.

A tendency to widen the spacing between sprinklers reduces the overall cost per acre, according to Mulliner. He warned that wind velocity distorts the spray pattern and may prevent uniform coverage. Since wind velocity is higher in western Nebraska, sprinklers should be more closely spaced in the western part of the state, he said.

Other disadvantages to the wider spacings are increased in water application and the necessity of a soil with high intake rates, according to Mulliner.

Apartment Complex Would Be Built On Five Acres

A proposed apartment complex near 63rd St. and Holdrege would be built on about five acres of land, instead of ten acres, as incorrectly reported in the Jan. 16 Sunday Journal and Star.

In addition, no part of the land will be dedicated to the city for park purposes, as reported in the story. The City-County Planning Commission will require that 40 feet on the north portion of the site be dedicated to the city for right-of-way purposes on Holdrege.

The planning commission, which meets at 2:30 this afternoon at the County-City Bldg., will consider the apartment complex, being proposed by C. E. Corning.

County Commissioners Show Amazing Accord

By GERRY SWITZER
Star Staff Writer

For the first time in about a year, Lancaster County Commissioners Tuesday agreed on every item of business and gave unanimous approval to all motions with the exception of one on which Board Chairman William Grossman did not vote.

Grossman said he did not care to vote on a motion passed by the other two members of the board directing him to appear at a legislative hearing on a bill which would have the effect of taking from counties the one per cent they now collect for collecting taxes for other governmental subdivisions.

County Clerk Carl Hartman said that if this bill is passed, it could result in "pushing the county up against the levy" maximum.

As a result of board action last week and recept of a letter from County Attorney Paul Douglas, county employes were granted the retroactive pay increases back to Aug. 23 when the raises would have gone into effect had it not been for the President's wage freeze.

The county commissioners last week voted to approve the retroactive pay subject to the approval of the county attorney, who had told them earlier that, in his opinion, it would be legal to grant the retroactive pay.

In a letter received from Douglas Tuesday, the county attorney said:

"In my opinion, it is legal for the county commissioners to allow county employes the retroactive pay. My approval is irrelevant."

In other action, the board:

—Referred to the County-City Building Committee the matter of the Lincoln Electric System phasing out steam producing facilities which would affect the County-City Building.

—Referred to the County-City Building Committee the problem of added parking spaces needed by the county after Commissioner Robert Colin reported that Mayor Sam Schwartzkopf "said he was 'washing his hands of the whole deal.'" —Deferred for two weeks the possibility of reimbursing Mr. and Mrs. Dean Grubbs for night detention services at Westview.

—Approved a motion by Colin to have the Jan. 4 minutes show that Colin voted against an increase in salaries for county commissioners rather than not voting.

Rev. Rex Bevans Heads Drug Unit

The treatment Resources Committee of the Lincoln Comprehensive Drug Planning Commission Tuesday elected Rev. Rex Bevans as its chairman.

In other action, the committee agreed to the appointment of a task force to prepare an inventory of drug treatment and education services being offered by other agencies and document the number of persons seeking drug abuse treatment in the Lincoln area.

The committee also agreed to a regular meeting date of the first Tuesday of every month.

County Board Rejects All 3 Bedspread Bids

The controversy over the "Buttons and Bows" bedspreads for Lancaster Manor which was believed to have ended last week with the opening of bids resparked Tuesday when Lancaster County Commissioners unanimously voted to reject all three bids submitted.

The commissioners, who indicated they had not seen the specifications which included a clause that the bidders provide a sample bedspreadn agreed that it would be best to reject all bids and delay purchase of bedspreads to a later date.

Neither the low bidder, Medline Industries nor the other two bidders, Sears and Miller and Paine, included a sample bedspread with their bids.

Rex Carl of Colonial Homesn which operates Lancaster Manor for the county, said that the line asking for the sample was inserted into the specifications because of the "or equal" clause put into the specifications by the commissioners so that suppliers with a comparable spread but who did not carry the Morgan-Jones line would not beeliminated from bidding.

He told the board that without a sample spread there was no way of knowing if the "or equal" was actually a comparable spread.

In other business the board approved the continuation of the Lincoln Action Program (LAP) and directed the chairman to send a letter to Congressman Charles Thone advising him of the board's position.

Intergovernmental Relations Committee Formation Urged

The President of the Lincoln League of Women Voters Tuesday urged the Lancaster County Board to establish a committee on Intergovernmental Relations.

Jeanne Agee, in appearing before the county board, said that the League has recently completed the first phase of its study of county government and its relationship to other governmental structures within the county.

As a result of this, the members became aware of the complexities of the relationship between the different governing bodies in the county, she said, adding that this was the reason for the recommendation.

She said that the League feels the committee should concern itself "first and foremost with all the governmental units within the county and become acquainted with inter-relationships as they currently exist."

Other purposes of the committee listed by Mrs. Agee are:

—To study all suggestions for change and decide whether or not they would actually improve functioning of governments within the count.

—Make recommendations for improvements that might be made.

—Provide leadership in educating the general population about the entier scope of intergovernmental relationships.

First Presbyterian Okays Budget

A budget of $184,659 for 1972 was announced at the annual meeting of the First Presbyterian Church. Deacons, elders and trustees were elected at the meeting.

Elected to three-year terms as elders are Thomas D. Graham, John M. Guthery, Ingram T. Hermanson, LeRoy Ihrie, Robert B. Johnston, Donald W. Miltner, Mrs. Eber (Florence) Tice, Dr. Donald T. Waggener, Mrs. Heber (Marian) Waldron and William C. Wylder.

Serving three-year terms as deacons are Dennis L. Andrews, George A. Ball, Ralph L. Beach Jr., Robert W. Davis, Mrs. Harold (Musetta) Gilman, John B. Goessman, Mrs. Edward (Ethelyn) Hermanson, Joe E. Hile, Alcide A. H. Jeannoutot Mrs. Elmer (Lois) Kintner, Mrs. Leonard (Jeanne) Lee, Eleanor Lett, Everett E. Liming Sr., Helen Madsen, Fawn Merwin, Dale L. Novotny, Mervin Peterson, Robert O. Peterson, Grant M. Rome, Mrs. Robert (Jeane) Synhorst and Del Whiteley.

Elected to two-year terms as deacons are Delmer Vanderbeck and Dr. Norman Sunderman.

Trustees, to serve three years, are Melvin Andelt, Dr. Keith L. Broman, Connie Selden and Robert E. Swett. Treasurer of the board is Herbert C. Henderson. He will serve one year.

Foundation board members, elected to six-year terms, are Herbert C. Henderson, C. M. Pierson, Russell E. Eichelberger and Thomas E. Allman.

Paul Elsenheimer, business administrator for the church, said a capital funds drive for April was approved. Chairman of the drive will be Dennis Lyon. Donald Burzlaff will be vice chairman.

Bodies Discovered

Larisa, Greece (UPI) — Rescue workers found the bodies of a man and woman in wreckage of a two-train crash near Mount Olympus, raising the death toll in the collision to 18 dead and 45 injured. All were killed when the Athens - bound International Acropolis Express slammed into the Athens-Salonica local train Sunday.

Faculty Art Show Set Wednesday

Eleven University of Nebraska-Lincoln art department faculty members have put together a collection of 84 pieces of art to be shown at Sheldon Memorial Art Gallery from Jan. 19-Feb. 13 in the Biennial Faculty Exhibition.

The collection includes oil, water color and pastel paintings, photographs, wood and rope sculpture, bronze, bronze and wood pieces and lithograph prints.

The faculty show alternates yearly with a show presented by graduate students. An undergraduate student exhibition is held each spring.

The faculty exhibition will be displayed with pieces from the gallery's permanent collection and with a photography contest display that will end on Jan. 23.

Exhibition pieces will be made available for sale.

Retroactive Wage Action Underway

University of Nebraska officials are taking the "appropriate steps" to clear the way for possible payment of retroactive salary increases to NU employes whose wages were frozen last fall.

NU Vice President Howard Neville, the university's chief business affairs officer, said Tuesday that some 700 to 800 employes, all nine-month contract holders who did not receive promotions, had been affected by the wage freeze.

Following provisions of the Economic Stabilization Act, which granted permission for retroactive pay for many employes across the country, the university has been in contact with local representatives of the federal Pay Board, Neville said.

Since NU has more than 5,000 employes, it cannot grant the raises without notification of the Pay Board, he said, and then delay to await any response from the federal officials.

Neville said he hoped the matter might be cleared up within the next 30 days.

Bill Doesn't Require Data Processing Use

Nebraska's counties are not required to use data processing facilities for taxing and revenue functions, according to an attorney general's interpretation of a 1971 bill.

The Department of Justice opinion was made public Tuesday by State Sen. Ellen E. Craft of North Platte. She said a number of counties have been concerned that the 1971 session's LB155 requires counties to use data processing facilities from 1977 on, in preparation of assessment rolls, tax rolls, tax bills and other revenue functions.

The opinion, prepared for Atty. Gen. Clarence A. H. Meyer, by Assistant Atty. Gen. Ralph E. Gillan, acknowledged there was ambiguity in language of LB155. But floor debate on the bill was reviewed and the opinion said "the Legislative intent is clear, and the counties and districts are not reuired to utilize such a system if they do not desire to do so."

Former Used Car Dealer Is Sentenced To 2 To 5 Years

Omaha (AP) — Robert Gaylord, 41, former used car dealer who pleaded no contest to a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses, has been sentenced to a term of two to five years in the Nebraska Penal Complex.

Gaylord is free on $10,000 bond pending his appeal.

Gaylor was charged in connection with one auto deal in which he sold a car to Steven Moster of Omaha. His attorney, Bernard Walsh, asked District Court Judge John Murphy to put Gaylord on probation, saying that although he has been convicted on one charge, there are about 20 similar deals on which Gaylord could make restitution if placed on probation. He said Gaylord already has made about $5,000 restitution.

A civil suit involving Gaylord also is on file.

$1.4 Million County Road Plan Proposed

By GERRY SWITZER
Star Staff Writer

A $1,432,000 proposed 1972 road program and a $8,129,000 six-year proposed program for Lancaster County were presented the County Board Tuesday by Lancaster County Engineer Walter Hoppe.

The commissioners set 2 p.m. Feb. 8 for public hearing on both proposed programs.

The total proposed costs are up from last year when the proposed one-year program was $1,304,000 and the proposed eight-year program was $8 million.

Due to a law passed by the 1969 Legislature, items previously included in the proposed annual road programs are no longer included in the annual fiscal-year program; therefore, it is impossible to compare the last two year's figures with previous years.

Prior to the passage of the law to provide for functional classification of all highways in the state, the annual county road program proposal included maintenance items, new equipment costs, etc., which are not included under the new system.

According to the 1972-73 fiscal year program, Hoppe is proposing 14.4 miles of new paving, 3.8 miles of which will be partially funded by federal funds, and 1.4 miles of resurfacing. The total six year program calls for 80 miles of new paving.

This compares with the 1971-72 program of 14.1 miles of new paving and four miles of resurfacing and the six-year program presented last year calling for 69 miles of new paving and six miles of resurfacing.

The one-year program calls for construction of 13 box culvert bridges and two steel and one concrete bridge.

Location and estimated costs of road projects scheduled for paving in the 1972-73 fiscal year on the proposed program:

—2.9 miles on Denton South on Southwest 98th, $210,000.

—2 miles on the East Jog Road, $150.000.

—2 miles on the West Agnew Road, $120,000.

—2.7 miles from Waverly North on Northeast 141st St., $195,000.

—1.8 miles on the East Roca Road, $140,000.

—3 miles from Denton south on Southwest 98th, $75,000.

—1.4 miles or resurfacing on Northwest 48th, $70,000.

Location and estimated costs of proposed bridges in the 1972-73 fiscal year are:

—Southwest 40th on the Cushman Park Road, $50,000.

—East Holdrege over Stevens Creek, $50,000.

—West Waverly Rd. over Oak Creek, $90,000.

—Northeast 84th Street, $7,500.

—Northeast 40th, $9,000.

—North of the West Waverly Rd. and two miles west of Northwest 48th, $8,200.

—East on West Agnew Road at Northeast 84th Street, $7,600.

—Centerville Road on Southwest 12th, $12,000.

—West Panama Road, $9,800.

—West McKelvie Road, $4,800.

—West Cheney Road, $4,400.

—Eat Jog Road, $5,600.

—East Cheney Road, $4,500.

—Southeast 162nd, $5,000.

—Southeast 162nd, 3.5 miles south of Bennet, $3,000.

Plane Crash Kills 3 Near Chambers

Chambers (AP)—A single-engine Piper PA23, piloted by Kyle G. Kime, 29, Chadron, crashed 9 miles west and 1 mile south of here about 12:45 a.m. Tuesday, killing the pilot and two passengers, the Federal Aviation Administration in Omaha reported.

The FAA said the plane had filed a flight plan from Omaha to Hot Springs, S.D., and had departed Eppley Airfield in Omaha at 11:45 p.m. Monday.

High Davis, director of the Hot Springs, S.D., Veterans Administration Center, said one of the passengers was Leno Pederson, 53, nursing assistant at the Hot Springs center 29 years. Davis said Mr. Pederson was returning from transporting a patient from Hot Springs to an Omaha Hospital.

The Federal Aviation Agency office in Chadron said the third victim was Dan French, a mechanic at the Chadron airport.

Ron Francis, a lineman for the Niobrara Valley Electric Membership Assn., said he and another lineman discovered the wreckage "strewn through a pasture" when they went to check the lines.

Francis said the plane "broke one of the poles down and two wires" knocking out power in the area. He said electric clocks stopped at 1 a.m.

There was no fire at the time of the crash, the FAA said. The aircraft was owned by Kime Flying Service of Chadron.

The FAA and the Nebraska State Patrol were investigating the crash.

Laboratory High School To Close At Concordia

Seward — Concordia Teachers College has announced it will close its laboratory high school this year after more than three-quarters of a century of operation.

College president W. Th. Janzow said the Missouri Lutheran Synodical Board for Higher Education was convinced student teaching and other functions of the school, known as the Concordia Secondary Laboratory School, could be provided at lower cost using existing schools in the area.

As a synodical school, the four-year institution draws students from a wide area. According to Gilbert Heine, director of college relations, 86 of the 166-member student body come from out of town, some of them from out of state.

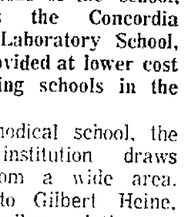
The remaining 80 Seward residents will transfer to the public schools next year unless they elect to attend one of the church's remaining two synodical high schools.

The school was formed in 1894, seven years before the college. It has served as a training ground for future teachers throughout its existence, but recently became a lab school for faculty members as well. Student teachers will be transferred to public schools within a 150-mile radius, with some even going to Denver, but Heine noted there will be no way to replace the faculty's use.

Janzow said the closing, which becomes effective June 1, is the result of a five-year study. He said the money crunch now affecting all of higher education was a major factor.

Holdrege Man To Head Four States Council

Denver, Colo.—R. D. Dirmeyer, Holdrege, general manager of the Central Nebraska Public Power and Irrigation District, was elected president of the Four States Irrigation Council at its annual meeting here. Dirmeyer served as vice president in 1971.



R. D. Dirmeyer

Elected Nebraska director to the Four States Council was J. Hargleroad, Hastings, vice president of the Central district's board of directors.

The Four States Irrigation Council is an organization of irrigation districts in Nebraska, Kansas, Colorado and Wyoming.

Beaver Valley Fire District Receives Truck

The Beaver Valley Rural Fire District acquired that one-thousandth surplus government vehicle received in Nebraska through the Clarke-McNary Program.

The vehicle, a 2½-ton truck, was picked up at the state forester's shop by Don Haag, fire district secretary.

The Beaver Valley Rural Fire District, with equipment located at Danbury and Lebanon, protects more than 100,000 acres of rural land in Red Willow County in the Beaver Creek drainage area of the Republican River Basin.

In the Clarke-McNary Program, the federal government cooperates with states to provide assistance through state foresters for tree distribution, fire control equipment, tree management und marketing on state and private lands.

Kansas Woman Killed at Alma

The State Patrol received Tuesday a delayed report of the death of Rose Jackson, 62, Almena, Kan., from a two-car accident south of Alma on Route 183-383 Jan. 13.

The patrol said she was riding in a southbound car driven by Harvey Jackson, 76, Norton, Kan. when it was in a sideswipe collision with a northbound car driven by Kelly Klink 21, Colorado Springs, Colo.

PINE-COVERED VALLEY . . . proposed site for water-recreation area.

Everything Ready For Dam Design —Except Sufficient Amount Of Water

By SAM THORSON
Outstate Nebraska Bureau

Chadron — All systems appear to be "go" for design and construction of a water-recreation dam in the wildest back-country of the Pine Ridge hills south of here — with one exception.

There may not be enough water to fill the reservoir.

Currently underway is a joint national Forest Service (NFS)-Soil Conservation Service (SCS) study of the Little Bordeaux Creek watershed on rolling, pine-covered NFS land eight miles south and three miles east of Chadron. Stream-gauge data now being gathered by the NFS from the Little Bordeaux will be programmed by the SCS for computer analysis to determine whether there is enough runoff from the watershed's 17-inch annual rainfall to counteract the effects of evaporation, transpiration (plant use) and seepage.

Dam Opposed

Several Chadron naturalists are predicting — and hoping — that the study will bear out their assertion that there is not enough runoff to fill a reservoir. They argue that the reservoir would turn the Little Bordeaux valley, now abounding in wild turkey and deer, into a "ticky-tack" tourist attraction, and that the area's recreational needs would best be served by leaving the area in its primitive state.

On the other hand, Wally Chesbro, district ranger for the Pine Ridge district of the Nebraska National Forest, says the reservoir "warrants development from the standpoint of demand for water recreation" in the Pine Ridge area. Moreover, he says, recreational activities — including hiking, camping, fishing, canoeing, and horseback riding — would specifically exclude motorboating. The noise from waterski-towing outboard engines would thus be eliminated as a threat to the tranquility of the valley.

Campgrounds would be placed well back from the lake, he said, leaving the 50-acre reservoir surrounded with a "more or less natural" pine-studded shoreline, with the exception of a sand beach at the tip of the pensinsula between two branches of the Little Bordeaux flowing into the reservoir. The development would be connected to Chadron State Park a few miles to the west with a series of foot trails.

Plans tentatively call for a boat launch, 295 picnic units, 100 camping units, two picnic shelters, and a bathhouse. Access roads would be built from U.S. 385 on the west and U.S. 20 to the northeast. The reservoir and "developable acres in the area" would be capable of accommodating 3,267 vacationers at a time.

Few Problems Seen

Siltation is not expected to be a problem, Chesbro said, nor is eutrophication, (a periodic decrease in available oxygen) the watershed above consisting almost entirely of forest and grassland. The annual "drawdown" of the water level would not exceed two feet, eliminating the possibility of mud flats.

Not only is the reservoir desirable from the recreational standpoint, Chesbro said, but "there is enough support locally and statewide to gain the necessary funds and get the thing built." There will be no firm estimate of cost until after the reservoir's feasibility is established. Costs will be shared equally by the Forest Service and its co-sponsor, the Panhandle Resource Conservation and Development (RC&D) district.

Meanwhile local environmental spokesmen have been criticizing the project as an "economically and ecolically shortsighted" intrusion into one of Nebraska's wildest and most beautiful areas — even if the runoff study proves it feasible.

'Fine As Is'

Richard Daugherty, a social science professor at Chadron State College, feels that the Little Bordeaux valley is better off left as it is.

"This area should be very careful what sort of development it proceeds with or encourages," he said. "Its attraction is its relatively undeveloped state, and that's so easily lost."

A fellow Chadron State faculty member, geology professor Larry Agenbroad, objects on three grounds:

Low runoff. The springs that feed the creek will not fill the dam in the 3½ to 7 years the NFS predicts, he said, nor will the NFS be able to keep it full.

Aesthetics. "The reservoir would destroy some of the nicest nature area in Pine Ridge for hunting hiking and picnicking with a pond that's too small to have any water sports except maybe a rowboat."

Silation. One factor the NFS hasn't considered. Agenbroad said, is the shale composition of the soil, which would cause the steep banks of the reservoir to cave in, causing the reservoir to salt in "in less than 40 years."

The dam project was conceived by the SCS as a flood control project, Agenbroad said, until "they proved to themselves they didn't need it. The Bureau of Reclamation couldn't irrigate with it. Then the Forest Service took it over for recreation."

The whole project, he concluded, is both "economically and ecologically shortsighted."

If local support has developed, the Chadron Chamber of Commerce still has not taken a position on the project.

There hasn't been too much comment on it," said Chamber president Ray Watkins, "at least not among the businessmen." Concrete planning, he said, is still too far in the future to stimulate much interest.

The runoff study results may scrap the Little Bordeaux reservoir before it ever reaches "hard planning stage, however. The size of the reservoir has already been sliced once on the drawing board, from 100 to 50 acres, after a 1967 skeleton feasilibty study by an Omaha firm showed that the larger lake could not be sustained. Moreover, according to NFS engineer Dave Coe, that conclusion was reached with stream gauge information obtained at a site farther downstream than the proposed dam, draining from a larger watershed area—and therefore yielding an inflated runoff estimate.

Later, in planning a 50-acre reservoir, the NFS decided to move the dam axis upstream, rather than settling for a lower reservior, in oder to retain the only suitable shoreline site for a sand beach. That decision cut the size of the effective watershed even further, further reducing the runoff potential.

"I feel that the 50 surface acres is about all we could expect," Coe said, "and maybe the test will be negative and not even support that."

Husband's Prayer Is Answered

Omaha (AP) — A prayer written on a paper towel in a hospital room on New Year's Eve has been granted.

Mrs. Barbara Novak Gamerl, 60, wife of Joseph Gamerl Sr., has been freed from pain.

Joseph Gamerl wrote the prayer in his wife's hospital room on the night of Dec. 31. It said:

"I wonder and I ponder, believing that God in all his goodness not deceiving.

"Would condescend to shower one more blessing on me an mine this year just beginning.

"No doubt there are many people who need more this blessing that I'm asking for,

"But on this night I'll ask the Lord to free just one more soul from awful agony.

Man's Arrest Said Illegal, But To Stand

Fremont, (AP) — The procedure used by Fremont police in an arrest probably won't be challenged in court even though the attorney for the arrested man says it could be.

William F. Rohn, court-appointed attorney for Henry Frederick Boock, 47 said the arrest could be challenged but it would not accomplish much because Boock also is wanted by Blair authorities.

Boock was apprenended by Blair police after a high-speed chase Dec. 30 and was taken to Pender for Thurston County authorities. The chase started at Winnebago. A Fremont warrent charged Boock with auto theft and breaking and entering.

Detective Sgt. W. C. Homes of Fremont police said he gave the warrant for Boock's arrest to Thurston County Sheriff Clyde Storie. However Mrs. Storie said her husband was in Lincoln at the time and a Fremont police an served the warrant.

Dodge County Atty. Gordon Gobel has advised that the warrant served in Pender apparently was served illegally.

Boock has been bound over to district court under $5000 bond.

Omahan Held For Robbery

Omaha (AP) — Archie Lee Robinson, 22 Omaha, was booked on suspicion of robbery and held without bond in city jail Tuesday in connection with the holdup of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Mollner at their Omaha home Sunday night, Deputy County Atty. Michael McGill said.

The Mollners told police two men who forced their way into the home about 6 p.m. Sunday robbed them of about $18 and then fled by jumping through windows when two cruiser policemen driving by, became suspicious and entered the home during the robbery.

Land Bank Loans at High

Omaha (UPI) — Loans outstanding of the Federal Land Bank of Omaha reached a new high of $941 million Dec. 31, 1971, the bank said Tuesday.

The figure is an increase of $61 million over a year earlier.

Loans outstanding in each of the four states served by the bank were: Nebraska $251 million; Iowa $456 million; South Dakota $178 million, and Wyoming $56 million.

All Omaha Schools To Have Lunchrooms Within 3 Years

Omaha (AP) — The Omaha Board of Education says it will give "special consideration" to lunchroom construction in next year's budget and will have food facilities in all schools in the system by 1975.

The facilities apparently won't be as elaborate as the cafeterias that serve most of the schools. Board members said Monday the district doesn't have the funds to build and operate comparable facilities.

Staff members were directed to develop alternative programs which would be "acceptable" to parents in the schools which are not now in the program.

The chief critic of the special school lunch program wasn't impressed.

Mrs. Carl A. Peterson, chairman of the Urban League of Nebraska's welfare task force, said the board's proposal was "incredible."

She said that "after all these months" the board should have had the "food sampled and the plans studied."

"In the name of Omaha's hungry children, why must some of them wait until 1975?" Mrs. Peterson asked.

Mrs. Peterson had sent a letter to Myrton Hall, assistant superintendent of the Omaha School District, asking that school officials "act promptly" to provide food service at 14 schools in the district which currently aren't included in the hot lunch program.

'Pappy' Quinn, Sandhills Bard, Dies at Ranch

Hyannis — Services for Tom Patrick (Pappy) Quinn, pioneer Sandhills cowboy and rancher, have tentatively been set for Thursday at the Hyannis Episcopal Church. The colorful Nebraska native, 86, died Monday at his ranch north of here.

Born under a wagon near the McPherson-Hooker County line, Mr. Quinn was sometimes known as a bard of the Sandhills and could quote extensively from William Jennings Bryan and Mari Sandoz among others.

Active until his death, Pappy Quinn was once described in the Nebraska Cattlemen as a cowboy, rancher, turkey raiser, dairyman, ditcher, drainer of meadows, slope protector for highways and the man who ramrodded the eradication of scabies or mange from Nebraska cattle herds.

He was an active member of the Old Time Cowboys Assn., the Nebraska Stock Growers Assn. and was president of Red Mill school district 143 in Cherry County.

Mr. Quinn is survived by his sons, Tom, McLean, Va., Bill, St. Louis, Mo.; daughter, Mrs. Francis McIntosh, Sidney.

I have recently seen filings for delegate to the national political conventions. Are these voted at large or by district? How many are elected from each party? Are they elected on the ballot as committed or uncommitted? If elected, do they pay their own expenses to the convention or are these expenses picked up by the national or local political party?
—I.M. Curious, Lincoln

ACTION LINE: Based on a law passed in 1965, there are currently two delegates to be picked by party voters in each of the three congressional districts. Beyond those six persons, all other delegates are elected at large on a statewide ballot. Alternates are chosen the same way. At the last convention, the Democrats sent 22 delegates and the Republicans sent 16 delegates. The persons seeking delegate positions must file either committed or uncommitted. Delegates and alternates pay their own way.

However, watch LB661 in the current Legislature as it could change the method by which Nebraskans choose their national convention delegates. LB661 says: based on 1968 Nebraska presidential returns, the Republicans will choose 16 delegates, six each from the First and Third Congressional Districts and four from the Second District. The Democrats will choose 22 delegates, eight each from the First and Second Districts and six from the Third District. The state political conventions would elect all alternate delegates.

Warm and sunny days in the rum-and-sugar islands. The winter tourists are here in Jamaica — the Sugar Daddies of the Caribbean. Montego Bay is booming.

A couple arrived this morning at plush Miranda Hill. Within half an hour, they were making plans to move here permanently.

New hotels are going up. A bright spot has been noticed all through the sunny islands: Uncle Sugar in Washington is lending a bundle to a private hotel in the Dominican Republic. Some $126,000.

The money will put in a swimming pool and other goodies. "To promote tourism" is the reason given by the Agency for International Development. A do-good project as altruistic as the depletion allowance for the oil industry. God bless America!

After sticking pins in the slaves for many a delightful year, Annie pinned the wrong boy. He strangled her in the upstairs bedroom.

This is told to tour groups (every 15 minutes) by a brown girl dressed in a mustard cotton slave gown, carefully researched by libraries and Mrs. Rollins.

There are eight of them. They recite the facts, explain the furnishings in sad, uninspired voices. I suppose when you do the same routine every 15 minutes, it's like tightening screws on an assembly line.

"Ahnd this is Annie Palmer's bedroom. The wallpaper was hand-painted in Hong Kong. The chest of drawers is mahogany, copied from the period by Jamacia craftsman. We now pass on to the etc."

I liked the house better when it was in ruins. An antique caretaker. He had no reproductions to point out. He told about Annie.

"She was a witch, sah. She cahn change sheself into little yellow bird."

Annie of course, haunted the place. Nobody would come within a mile of it after dark.

Retroactive Wage Action Underway

University of Nebraska officials are taking the "appropriate steps" to clear the way for possible payment of retroactive salary increases to NU employes whose wages were frozen last fall.

NU Vice President Howard Neville, the university's chief business affairs officer, said Tuesday that some 700 to 800 employes, all nine-month contract holders who did not receive promotions, had been affected by the wage freeze.

Following provisions of the Economic Stabilization Act, which granted permission for retroactive pay for many employes across the country, the university has been in contact with local representatives of the federal Pay Board, Neville said.

Since NU has more than 5,000 employes, it cannot grant the raises without notification of the Pay Board, he said, and then delay to await any response from the federal officials.

Neville said he hoped the matter might be cleared up within the next 30 days.

Bill Doesn't Require Data Processing Use

Nebraska's counties are not required to use data processing facilities for taxing and revenue functions, according to an attorney general's interpretation of a 1971 bill.

The Department of Justice opinion was made public Tuesday by State Sen. Ellen E. Craft of North Platte. She said a number of counties have been concerned that the 1971 session's LB155 requires counties to use data processing facilities from 1977 on, in preparation of assessment rolls, tax rolls, tax bills and other revenue functions.

The opinion, prepared for Atty. Gen. Clarence A. H. Meyer, by Assistant Atty. Gen. Ralph E. Gillan, acknowledged there was ambiguity in language of LB155. But floor debate on the bill was reviewed and the opinion said "the Legislative intent is clear, and the counties and districts are not reuired to utilize such a system if they do not desire to do so."

Former Used Car Dealer Is Sentenced To 2 To 5 Years

Omaha (AP) — Robert Gaylord, 41, former used car dealer who pleaded no contest to a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses, has been sentenced to a term of two to five years in the Nebraska Penal Complex.

Gaylord is free on $10,000 bond pending his appeal.

Gaylor was charged in connection with one auto deal in which he sold a car to Steven Moster of Omaha. His attorney, Bernard Walsh, asked District Court Judge John Murphy to put Gaylord on probation, saying that although he has been convicted on one charge, there are about 20 similar deals on which Gaylord could make restitution if placed on probation. He said Gaylord already has made about $5,000 restitution.

A civil suit involving Gaylord also is on file.

$1.4 Million County Road Plan Proposed

By GERRY SWITZER
Star Staff Writer

A $1,432,000 proposed 1972 road program and a $8,129,000 six-year proposed program for Lancaster County were presented the County Board Tuesday by Lancaster County Engineer Walter Hoppe.

The commissioners set 2 p.m. Feb. 8 for public hearing on both proposed programs.

The total proposed costs are up from last year when the proposed one-year program was $1,304,000 and the proposed eight-year program was $8 million.

Due to a law passed by the 1969 Legislature, items previously included in the proposed annual road programs are no longer included in the annual fiscal-year program; therefore, it is impossible to compare the last two year's figures with previous years.

Prior to the passage of the law to provide for functional classification of all highways in the state, the annual county road program proposal included maintenance items, new equipment costs, etc., which are not included under the new system.

According to the 1972-73 fiscal year program, Hoppe is proposing 14.4 miles of new paving, 3.8 miles of which will be partially funded by federal funds, and 1.4 miles of resurfacing. The total six year program calls for 80 miles of new paving.

This compares with the 1971-72 program of 14.1 miles of new paving and four miles of resurfacing and the six-year program presented last year calling for 69 miles of new paving and six miles of resurfacing.

The one-year program calls for construction of 13 box culvert bridges and two steel and one concrete bridge.

Location and estimated costs of road projects scheduled for paving in the 1972-73 fiscal year on the proposed program:

—2.9 miles on Denton South on Southwest 98th, $210,000.

—2 miles on the East Jog Road, $150,000.

—2 miles on the West Agnew Road, $120,000.

—2.7 miles from Waverly North on Northeast 141st St., $195,000.

—1.8 miles on the East Roca Road, $140,000.

—3 miles from Denton south on Southwest 98th, $75,000.

—1.4 miles or resurfacing on Northwest 48th, $70,000.

Location and estimated costs of proposed bridges in the 1972-73 fiscal year are:

—Southwest 40th on the Cushman Park Road, $50,000.

—East Holdrege over Stevens Creek, $50,000.

—West Waverly Rd. over Oak Creek, $90,000.

—Northeast 84th Street, $7,500.

—Northeast 40th, $9,000.

—North of the West Waverly Rd. and two miles west of Northwest 48th, $8,200.

—East on West Agnew Road at Northeast 84th Street, $7,600.

—Centerville Road on Southwest 12th, $12,000.

—West Panama Road, $9,800.

—West McKelvie Road, $4,800.

—West Cheney Road, $4,400.

—Eat Jog Road, $5,600.

—East Cheney Road, $4,500.

—Southeast 162nd, $5,000.

—Southeast 162nd, 3.5 miles south of Bennet, $3,000.

Plane Crash Kills 3 Near Chambers

Chambers (AP)—A single-engine Piper PA23, piloted by Lyle G. Kime, 29, Chadron, crashed 9 miles west and 1 mile south of here about 12:45 a.m. Tuesday, killing the pilot and two passengers, the Federal Aviation Administration in Omaha reported.

The FAA said the plane had filed a flight plan from Omaha to Hot Springs, S.D., and had departed Eppley Airfield in Omaha at 11:45 p.m. Monday.

High Davis, director of the Hot Springs, S.D., Veterans Administration Center, said one of the passengers was Leno Pederson, 53, nursing assistant at the Hot Springs center 29 years. Davis said Mr. Pederson was returning from transporting a patient from Hot Springs to an Omaha Hospital.

The Federal Aviation Agency office in Chadron said the third victim was Dan French, a mechanic at the Chadron airport.

Ron Francis, a lineman for the Niobrara Valley Electric Membership Assn., said he and another lineman discovered the wreckage "strewn through a pasture" when they went to check the lines.

Francis said the plane "broke one of the poles down and two wires" knocking out power in the area. He said electric clocks stopped at 1 a.m.

There was no fire at the time of the crash, the FAA said. The aircraft was owned by Kime Flying Service of Chadron.

The FAA and the Nebraska State Patrol were investigating the crash.

Laboratory High School To Close At Concordia

Seward — Concordia Teachers College has announced it will close its laboratory high school this year after more than three-quarters of a century of operation.

College president W. Th. Janzow said the Missouri Lutheran Synodical Board for Higher Education was convinced student teaching and other functions of the school, known as the Concordia Secondary Laboratory School, could be provided at lower cost using existing schools in the area.

As a synodical school, the four-year institution draws students from a wide area. According to Gilbert Heine, director of college relations, 86 of the 166-member student body come from out of town, some of them from out of state.

The remaining 80 Seward residents will transfer to the public schools next year unless they elect to attend one of the church's remaining two synodical high schools.

The school was formed in 1894, seven years before the college. It has served as a training ground for future teachers throughout its existence, but recently became a lab school for faculty members as well. Student teachers will be transferred to public schools within a 150-mile radius, with some even going to Denver, but Heine noted there will be no way to replace the faculty's use.

Janzow said the closing, which becomes effective June 1, is the result of a five-year study. He said the money crunch now affecting all of higher education was a major factor.

Holdrege Man To Head Four States Council

Beaver Valley Fire District Receives Truck

The Beaver Valley Rural Fire District acquired that one-thousandth surplus government vehicle received in Nebraska through the Clarke-McNary Program.

The vehicle, a 2½-ton truck, was picked up at the state forester's shop by Don Haag, fire district secretary.

The Beaver Valley Rural Fire District, with equipment located at Danbury and Lebanon, protects more than 100,000 acres of rural land in Red Willow County in the Beaver Creek drainage area of the Republican River Basin.

In the Clarke-McNary Program, the federal government cooperates with states to provide assistance through state foresters for tree distribution, fire control equipment, tree management und marketing on state and private lands.

Kansas Woman Killed at Alma

PINE-COVERED VALLEY . . . proposed site for water-recreation area.

Everything Ready For Dam Design —Except Sufficient Amount Of Water

By SAM THORSON
Outstate Nebraska Bureau

Chadron — All systems appear to be "go" for design and construction of a water-recreation dam in the wildest back-country of the Pine Ridge hills south of here — with one exception.

There may not be enough water to fill the reservoir.

Currently underway is a joint national Forest Service (NFS)-Soil Conservation Service (SCS) study of the Little Bordeaux Creek watershed on rolling, pine-covered NFS land eight miles south and three miles east of Chadron. Stream-gauge data now being gathered by the NFS from the Little Bordeaux will be programmed by the SCS for computer analysis to determine whether there is enough runoff from the watershed's 17-inch annual rainfall to counteract the effects of evaporation, transpiration (plant use) and seepage.

Dam Opposed

Several Chadron naturalists are predicting — and hoping — that the study will bear out their assertion that there is not enough runoff to fill a reservoir. They argue that the reservoir would turn the Little Bordeaux valley, now abounding in wild turkey and deer, into a "ticky-tack" tourist attraction, and that the area's recreational needs would best be served by leaving the area in its primitive state.

On the other hand, Wally Chesbro, district ranger for the Pine Ridge district of the Nebraska National Forest, says the reservoir "warrants development from the standpoint of demand for water recreation" in the Pine Ridge area. Moreover, he says, recreational activities — including hiking, camping, fishing, canoeing, and horseback riding — would specifically exclude motorboating. The noise from waterski-towing outboard engines would thus be eliminated as a threat to the tranquility of the valley.

Campgrounds would be placed well back from the lake, he said, leaving the 50-acre reservoir surrounded with a "more or less natural" pine-studded shoreline, with the exception of a sand beach at the tip of the pensinsula between two branches of the Little Bordeaux flowing into the reservoir. The development would be connected to Chadron State Park a few miles to the west with a series of foot trails.

Plans tentatively call for a boat launch, 295 picnic units, 100 camping units, two picnic shelters, and a bathhouse. Access roads would be built from U.S. 385 on the west and U.S. 20 to the northeast. The reservoir and "developable acres in the area" would be capable of accommodating 3,267 vacationers at a time.

Few Problems Seen

Siltation is not expected to be a problem, Chesbro said, nor is eutrophication, (a periodic decrease in available oxygen) the watershed above consisting almost entirely of forest and grassland. The annual "drawdown" of the water level would not exceed two feet, eliminating the possibility of mud flats.

Not only is the reservoir desirable from the recreational standpoint, Chesbro said, but "there is enough support locally and statewide to gain the necessary funds and get the thing built." There will be no firm estimate of cost until after the reservoir's feasibility is established. Costs will be shared equally by the Forest Service and its co-sponsor, the Panhandle Resource Conservation and Development (RC&D) district.

Meanwhile local environmental spokesmen have been criticizing the project as an "economically and ecolically shortsighted" intrusion into one of Nebraska's wildest and most beautiful areas — even if the runoff study proves it feasible.

'Fine As Is'

Richard Daugherty, a social science professor at Chadron State College, feels that the Little Bordeaux valley is better off left as it is.

"This area should be very careful what sort of development it proceeds with or encourages," he said. "Its attraction is its relatively undeveloped state, and that's so easily lost."

A fellow Chadron State faculty member, geology professor Larry Agenbroad, objects on three grounds:

Low runoff. The springs that feed the creek will not fill the dam in the 3½ to 7 years the NFS predicts, he said, nor will the NFS be able to keep it full.

Aesthetics. "The reservoir would destroy some of the nicest nature area in Pine Ridge for hunting hiking and picnicking with a pond that's too small to have any water sports except maybe a rowboat."

Silation. One factor the NFS hasn't considered, Agenbroad said, is the shale composition of the soil, which would cause the steep banks of the reservoir to cave in, causing the reservoir to salt in "in less than 40 years."

The dam project was conceived by the SCS as a flood control project, Agenbroad said, until "they proved to themselves they didn't need it. The Bureau of Reclamation couldn't irrigate with it. Then the Forest Service took it over for recreation."

The whole project, he concluded, is both "economically and ecologically shortsighted."

If local support has developed, the Chadron Chamber of Commerce still has not taken a position on the project.

There hasn't been too much comment on it," said Chamber president Ray Watkins, "at least not among the businessmen." Concrete planning, he said, is still too far in the future to stimulate much interest.

The runoff study results may scrap the Little Bordeaux reservoir before it ever reaches "hard planning stage, however. The size of the reservoir has already been sliced once on the drawing board, from 100 to 50 acres, after a 1967 skeleton feasilibty study by an Omaha firm showed that the larger lake could not be sustained. Moreover, according to NFS engineer Dave Coe, that conclusion was reached with stream gauge information obtained at a site farther downstream than the proposed dam, draining from a larger watershed area—and therefore yielding an inflated runoff estimate.

Later, in planning a 50-acre reservoir, the NFS decided to move the dam axis upstream, rather than settling for a lower reservior, in oder to retain the only suitable shoreline site for a sand beach. That decision cut the size of the effective watershed even further, further reducing the runoff potential.

"I feel that the 50 surface acres is about all we could expect," Coe said, "and maybe the test will be negative and not even support that."

Husband's Prayer Is Answered

Omaha (AP) — A prayer written on a paper towel in a hospital room on New Year's Eve has been granted.

Mrs. Barbara Novak Gamerl, 60, wife of Joseph Gamerl Sr., has been freed from pain.

Joseph Gamerl wrote the prayer in his wife's hospital room on the night of Dec. 31. It said:

"I wonder and I ponder, believing that God in all his goodness not deceiving.

"Would condescend to shower one more blessing on me an mine this year just beginning.

"No doubt there are many people who need more this blessing that I'm asking for,

"But on this night I'll ask the Lord to free just one more soul from awful agony.

"And as this old year closes on this day, please grant my wish to Thee, oh Lord, I pray."

Mrs. Gamerl, who had been suffering from a terminal disease for nearly two years, died Saturday.

Man's Arrest Said Illegal, But To Stand

Fremont, (AP) — The procedure used by Fremont police in an arrest probably won't be challenged in court even though the attorney for the arrested man says it could be.

William F. Rohn, court-appointed attorney for Henry Frederick Boock, 47 said the arrest could be challenged but it would not accomplish much because Boock also is wanted by Blair authorities.

Boock was apprenended by Blair police after a high-speed chase Dec. 30 and was taken to Pender for Thurston County authorities. The chase started at Winnebago. A Fremont warrent charged Boock with auto theft and breaking and entering.

Detective Sgt. W. C. Homes of Fremont police said he gave the warrant for Boock's arrest to Thurston County Sheriff Clyde Storie. However Mrs. Storie said her husband was in Lincoln at the time and a Fremont police an served the warrant.

Dodge County Atty. Gordon Gobel has advised that the warrant served in Pender apparently was served illegally.

Boock has been bound over to district court under $5000 bond.

Omahan Held For Robbery

Omaha (AP) — Archie Lee Robinson, 22 Omaha, was booked on suspicion of robbery and held without bond in city jail Tuesday in connection with the holdup of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Mollner at their Omaha home Sunday night, Deputy County Atty. Michael McGill said.

The Mollners told police two men who forced their way into the home about 6 p.m. Sunday robbed them of about $18 and then fled by jumping through windows when two cruiser policemen driving by, became suspicious and entered the home during the robbery.

Land Bank Loans at High

Omaha (UPI) — Loans outstanding of the Federal Land Bank of Omaha reached a new high of $941 million Dec. 31, 1971, the bank said Tuesday.

The figure is an increase of $61 million over a year earlier.

Loans outstanding in each of the four states served by the bank were: Nebraska $251 million; Iowa $456 million; South Dakota $178 million, and Wyoming $56 million.

All Omaha Schools To Have Lunchrooms Within 3 Years

Omaha (AP) — The Omaha Board of Education says it will give "special consideration" to lunchroom construction in next year's budget and will have food facilities in all schools in the system by 1975.

The facilities apparently won't be as elaborate as the cafeterias that serve most of the schools. Board members said Monday the district doesn't have the funds to build and operate comparable facilities.

Staff members were directed to develop alternative programs which would be "acceptable" to parents in the schools which are not now in the program.

The chief critic of the special school lunch program wasn't impressed.

Mrs. Carl A. Peterson, chairman of the Urban League of Nebraska's welfare task force, said the board's proposal was "incredible."

She said that ' after all these months" the board should have had the "food sampled and the plans studied.'

"In the name of Omaha's hungry children, why must some of them wait until 1975?" Mrs. Peterson asked.

Mrs. Peterson had sent a letter to Myrton Hall, assistant superintendent of the Omaha School District, asking that school officials "act promptly" to provide food service at 14 schools in the district which currently aren't included in the hot lunch program.

'Pappy' Quinn, Sandhills Bard, Dies at Ranch

Hyannis — Services for Tom Patrick (Pappy) Quinn, pioneer Sandhills cowboy and rancher, have tentatively been set for Thursday at the Hyannis Episcopal Church. The colorful Nebraska native, 86, died Monday at his ranch north of here.

Born under a wagon near the McPherson-Hooker County line, Mr. Quinn was sometimes known as a bard of the Sandhills and could quote extensively from William Jennings Bryan and Mari Sandoz among others.

Active until his death, Pappy Quinn was once described in the Nebraska Cattlemen as a cowboy, rancher, turkey raiser, dairyman, ditcher, drainer of meadows, slope protector for highways and the man who ramrodded the eradication of scabies or mange from Nebraska cattle herds.

He was an active member of the Old Time Cowboys Assn., the Nebraska Stock Growers Assn. and was president of Red Mill school district 143 in Cherry County.

Mr. Quinn is survived by his sons, Tom, McLean, Va., Bill, St. Louis, Mo.; daughter, Mrs. Francis McIntosh, Sidney.

Brown is a patient at Brooke's Institute of Surgical Research, a burn center.

Brown was using the torch on a trailer in an auto and marine shop when it ignited his clothing. He was severely burned before two other men, including shop owner Willard Lundgren, could roll him outside into the snow. Lundgren suffered burns of the hands and wrists in attempting to extinguish the flames.

Brown was flown to Texas by an Air Force plane from Buckley Field in Denver.

Illness Forces Change In Symphony Program

By RICHARD GRACE

Lincoln concert goers were surprised when they entered the Stuart Theatre Tuesday evening to find the Lincoln Symphony's program was drastically altered when the originally scheduled Concerto in C minor by Saint-Saens was cancelled in favor of a solo program by the featured pianist, Horacio Gutierrez.

Gutierrez was unable to prepare the concerto due to an extended illness and, for some unexplained reason, the orchestra was not notified of this dilemma until Monday.

Fortunately, the solo portion of the program was outstanding and perhaps the audience was able to glean the talents of this artist to a better advantage since the Saint-Saens concerto is not one of the better piano concertos.

Gutierrez, who has already captured many accolades including the 1970 winner of the Tschaikovsky Competition, is indeed an exciting talent. His Sonato No. 50, a rather unknown but interesting work by Mendelssohn entitled Variations Serieuses and three etudes by Chopin and Scriabin.

His playing throughout was accurate, both in style and technique required of this diverse program.

The most exciting choice of compositions was his second encore which was the powerful and difficult last movement of Prokofieff's Sonato No. 7 and the audience displayed its approval with a warm, appreciative applause.

The orchestra portion of the program included two famous works of the 19th and 20th Century-repetoire. The Academic Festival Oveture of Brahms was given an uninspired reading by the players and conductor, Leo Kopp. This popular work suffered from a definite lack of ensemble. Perhaps the orchestra gave more of their rehearsal schedule to preparation of the concerto and the most difficult symphony of Prokofieff which concluded the program.

Prokofieff's Symphony No. 5, op. 100 is a masterpiece of this century. It represents a pre-Soviet time in Prokofieff's life when he was not bound to display his musical nationalistic wares. It is also one of his first endeavors into a full-scale symphony and is most cohesive in form and instrumentation. If the Brahms piece had some musical problems the players redeemed themselves with this mighty work.

True, there were some technical faults but overall the playing was most satisfying and gratifying to hear in a live performance.

Four Elected To Church Vestry At St. Matthews

Four persons were elected to three-year terms on the vestry at St. Matthew's Episcopal Church during the church's annual meeting.

They are Lee B. Liggett, Mrs. Wesley (Joan) Reist, Mrs. Carl H. (Lorraine) Rohman and Richard Spencer.

At an earlier meeting, Robert L. VanDervoort was re-elected vestry clerk and Mrs. Carl Klemme was re-elected treasurer.

Loren Andrews, Mrs. L. K. Bourke and James Menard were elected delegates to the Annual Council of the Diocese.

Nixon, Daughter Doesn't Favor Evader Amnesty

Atlanta, Ga. (AP) — Julie Eisenhower, President Nixon's younger daughter, says she has more respect for the draft evaders who went to jail than those who fled to Canada.

Julie, 23, the wife of David Eisenhower, the late President Eisenhower's grandson, also said she does not favor amnesty for deserters. But, she said, it "probably would be granted in the future."

Little Boys 'Troublesome'

Little boys are troublesome, but they seldom present the kind of trouble Margi Melton, 10, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Melton of 2736 Royal Ct., was faced with Monday night.

She and her brother, Mike 5, were playing at the Charles Pallesen residence at 2727 Royal Ct. when her brother along with Mike Pallesen, also 5, locked her in a pair of handcuffs and no one could find the key.

Police officers Al Jones and Jim Kellie arrived at the house and she was taken to the police station where officers tried to pick the locks but were unable to open the cuffs.

She was finally taken to the city garage where the two officers had to use a hammer and punch to break open the handcuffs.

Union Loan Reports 1971 'The Greatest'

The Union Savings and Loan Association president, Kenneth King, said at the firm's annual meeting, "1971 was the greatest year in the history of the savings and loan business."

He reported the association made mortgages worth about $9 million more than in 1970. He said total assets had increased $10 million.

King said savings reached another new high, increasing 17½% to $39 million.

Directors are King, Max Meyer, Earl Luff, Merle Hale, Selmer A. Solheim, John D. Phillips and Arthur J. Weaver.

State Development Of Fort Urged

Alliance (AP) — Directors of the Western Nebraska United Chambers of Commerce adopted a resolution Tuesday urging that federal properties known collecticely as Fort Robinson in northwest Nebraska, be turned over to the state for development.

The action was in response to requests from political interests in the Dakotas who had suggested the lands, amounting to some 35,000 acres, be turned over to the Indians, WNUCC spokesmen said.

In other action, the group voted to actively support Scottsbluff's bid to become national headquarters for the National Rifle Association.

The NRA, now headquartered in Washington, has expressed interest in using some property owned by Hiram Scott College.

The association has indicated it is considering several states as possible sites for a major NRA complex.

Colleges In Plan

Moscow — The U.S.S.R.'s ninth five-year plan, 1971-75, calls for the building of 50 institutions of higher learning, most of them in the rapidly growing areas of Siberia and the eastern part of the country.

I have recently seen filings for delegate to the national political conventions. Are these voted at large or by district? How many are elected from each party? Are they elected on the ballot as committed or uncommitted? If elected, do they pay their own expenses to the convention or are these expenses picked up by the national or local political party?
—I.M. Curious, Lincoln

ACTION LINE: Based on a law passed in 1965, there are currently two delegates to be picked by party voters in each of the three congressional districts. Beyond those six persons, all other delegates are elected at large on a statewide ballot. Alternates are chosen the same way. At the last convention, the Democrats sent 22 delegates and the Republicans sent 16 delegates. The persons seeking delegate positions must file either committed or uncommitted. Delegates and alternates pay their own way.

However, watch LB661 in the current Legislature as it could change the method by which Nebraskans choose their national convention delegates. LB661 says: based on 1968 Nebraska presidential returns, the Republicans will choose 16 delegates, six each from the First and Third Congressional Districts and four from the Second District. The Democrats will choose 22 delegates, eight each from the First and Second Districts and six from the Third District. The state political conventions would elect all alternate delegates.

A questionnaire was left at my door. On Oct. 14, 1971 a man called and for an hour I answered the questions. For cooperating, there was a choice of 400 trading stamps or $1 and I took the stamps. But, no stamps yet or even a dollar. —Mrs. Eva McMichael, Lincoln

I noticed that some people were paying for their license plates with a Master Charge charge accounts. Since I had to pay an extra dollar over last year for my plates, is this the reason why? —Glenn Holthus, Lincoln

ACTION LINE: Lancaster County Motor Vehicle Director Darrel Blank explains: The National Bank of Commerce sought and received permission to allow its Master Charge customers to use a special check to pay car taxes. The check is made out to Frank Golden, County treasurer The customer, if he chooses, can use this special blank check to pay county taxes and plate charges and that the bank handles the charges the normal way it does a Master Charge account.

Each day, the bank gives the county the amount of money in taxes the citizens charge to their Master Charge account.

You apparently paid more than last year ($1 because you had to replace your registration certificate at a cost of $1 extra.

I read a report that the green coffee market was "slow" one day. What is green coffee? All coffee I have is black or brown and my roommate says he thinks green coffee is grown in Greenland. I need a cup of truth. —Shagrin Krim, Lincoln

ACTION LINE: Green coffee is all unroasted coffee, according to an official of First MidAmerica. Green coffee closed at 44 cents last Friday, by the way.

There are several types of green coffee, all selling at a price delivered in New York . . . coffee not grown in Greenland. You win the bet

Crowded Car Yields Booty

Kalamazoo, Mich. (UPI) — Kalamazoo sheriff's officers stopped a car containing three teen-agers early Friday because "the vehicle looked overcrowded."

Besides the teen-agers, police found three geese, three rabbits, two pigs and 24 chickens, in the car. The livestock allegedly was stolen from a farm house.

Warm and sunny days in the rum-and-sugar islands. The winter tourists are here in Jamaica — the Sugar Daddies of the Caribbean. Montego Bay is booming.

A couple arrived this morning at plush Miranda Hill. Within half an hour, they were making plans to move here permanently.

New hotels are going up. A bright spot has been noticed all through the sunny islands: Uncle Sugar in Washington is lending a bundle to a private hotel in the Dominican Republic. Some $126,000.

The money will put in a swimming pool and other goodies. "To promote tourism" is the reason given by the Agency for International Development. A do-good project as altruistic as the depletion allowance for the oil industry. God bless America!

We went to Rose Hall today. Where wicked Annie Palmer killed three husbands and tortured her slaves.

The ghostly gray ruins were bought a few years ago. They are now restored. A bloke from Delaware did it. Rollins. Made a score in the car leasing business.

He restored it. His wife bought the antiques that furnish it.

It costs $2.50 to get in. And there's a condominium sales office—you don't make a million in car leasing business by leaving your brains in the woodshed. It's a matter of good works. And you might as well make money while doing it.

The Holiday Inn people will build a Rose Hall Holiday Inn down the sugar cane road.

After sticking pins in the slaves for many a delightful year, Annie pinned the wrong boy. He strangled her in the upstairs bedroom.

This is told to tour groups (every 15 minutes) by a brown girl dressed in a mustard cotton slave gown, carefully researched by libraries and Mrs. Rollins.

There are eight of them. They recite the facts, explain the furnishings in sad, uninspired voices. I suppose when you do the same routine every 15 minutes, it's like tightening screws on an assembly line.

"Ahnd this is Annie Palmer's bedroom. The wallpaper was hand-painted in Hong Kong. The chest of drawers is mahogany, copied from the period by Jamacia craftsman. We now pass on to the etc."

I liked the house better when it was in ruins. An antique caretaker. He had no reproductions to point out. He told about Annie.

"She was a witch, sah. She cahn change sheself into little yellow bird."

Annie of course, haunted the place. Nobody would come within a mile of it after dark.

Now they have Jamaica dinners there, eight to 10.

Annie doesn't live there anymore.

Illness Forces Change In Symphony Program

By RICHARD GRACE

Lincoln concert goers were surprised when they entered the Stuart Theatre Tuesday evening to find the Lincoln Symphony's program was drastically altered when the originally scheduled Concerto in C minor by Saint-Saens was cancelled in favor of a solo program by the featured pianist, Horacio Gutierrez.

Gutierrez was unable to prepare the concerto due to an extended illness and, for some unexplained reason, the orchestra was not notified of this dilemma until Monday.

Fortunately, the solo portion of the program was outstanding and perhaps the audience was able to glean the talents of this artist to a better advantage since the Saint-Saens concerto is not one of the better piano concertos.

Gutierrez, who has already captured many accolades including the 1970 winner of the Tschaikovsky Competition, is indeed an exciting talent. His Sonato No. 50, a rather unknown but interesting work by Mendelssohn entitled Variations Serieuses and three etudes by Chopin and Scriabin.

His playing throughout was accurate, both in style and technique required of this diverse program.

The most exciting choice of compositions was his second encore which was the powerful and difficult last movement of Prokofieff's Sonato No. 7 and the audience displayed its approval with a warm, appreciative applause.

The orchestra portion of the program included two famous works of the 19th and 20th Century-repetoire. The Academic Festival Oveture of Brahms was given an uninspired reading by the players and conductor, Leo Kopp. This popular work suffered from a delinite lack of ensemble. Perhaps the orchestra gave more of their rehearsal schedule to preparation of the concerto and the most difficult symphony of Prokofieff which concluded the program.

Prokofieff's Symphony No. 5, op. 100 is a masterpiece of this century. It represents a pre-Soviet time in Prokofieff's life when he was not bound to display his musical nationalistic wares. It is also one of his first endeavors into a full-scale symphony and is most cohesive in form and instrumentation. If the Brahms piece had some musical problems the players redeemed themselves with this mighty work.

True, there were some technical faults but overall the playing was most satisfying and gratifying to hear in a live performance.

Union Loan Reports 1971 'The Greatest'

The Union Savings and Loan Association president, Kenneth King, said at the firm's annual meeting, "1971 was the greatest year in the history of the savings and loan business."

He reported the association made mortgages worth about $9 million more than in 1970. He said total assets had increased $10 million.

King said savings reached another new high, increasing 17½% to $39 million.

Directors are King, Max Meyer, Earl Luft, Merle Bate, Selmer A. Solheim, John D. Phillips and Arthur J. Weaver.

Four Elected To Church Vestry At St. Matthews

Four persons were elected to three-year terms on the vestry at St. Matthew's Episcopal Church during the church's annual meeting.

They are Lee B. Liggett, Mrs. Wesley (Joan) Reist, Mrs. Carl H. (Lorraine) Rohman and Richard Spencer.

At an earlier meeting, Robert L. VanDervoort was re-elected vestry clerk and Mrs. Carl Klemme was re-elected treasurer.

Loren Andrews, Mrs. L. K. Bourke and James Menard were elected delegates to the Annual Council of the Diocese.

Nixon, Daughter Doesn't Favor Evader Amnesty

Atlanta, Ga. (AP) — Julie Eisenhower, President Nixon's younger daughter, says she has more respect for the draft evaders who went to jail than those who fled to Canada.

Julie, 23, the wife of David Eisenhower, the late President Eisenhower's grandson, also said she does not favor amnesty for deserters. But, she said, it "probably would be granted in the future."

Little Boys 'Troublesome'

Little boys are troublesome, but they seldom present the kind of trouble Margi Melton, 10, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Melton of 2736 Royal Ct., was faced with Monday night.

She and her brother, Mike 5, were playing at the Charles Pallesen residence at 2727 Royal Ct. when her brother, along with Mike Pallesen, also 5, locked her in a pair of handcuffs and no one could find the key.

Police officers Al Jones and Jim Kellie arrived at the house and she was taken to the police station where officers tried to pick the locks but were unable to open the cuffs.

She was finally taken to the city garage where the two officers had to use a hammer and punch to break open the handcuffs.

State Development Of Fort Urged

Alliance (AP) — Directors of the Western Nebraska United Chambers of Commerce adopted a resolution Tuesday urging that federal properties known collecticely as Fort Robinson in northwest Nebraska, be turned over to the state for development.

The action was in response to requests from political interests in the Dakotas who had suggested the lands, amounting to some 35,000 acres, be turned over to the Indians, WNUCC spokesmen said.

In other action, the group voted to actively support Scottsbluff's bid to become national headquarters for the National Rifle Association.

The NRA, now headquartered in Washington, has expressed interest in using some property owned by Hiram Scott College.

The association has indicated it is considering several states as possible sites for a major NRA complex.

Colleges In Plan

Moscow — The U.S.S.R.'s ninth five-year plan, 1971-75, calls for the building of 50 institutions of higher learning, most of them in the rapidly growing areas of Siberia and the eastern part of the country.

League Of Human Dignity OKs Constitution, Bylaws

The League of Human Dignity Tuesday night approved a constitution and bylaws for the organization

The group was formed by handicapped persons in January of 1971, although its membership is not limited to handicapped persons.

One article of the constitution provides for active and associate members. A spokesman for the group said an associate membership would be for persons who might want to support the group, but for some reason did not wish to take an active role.

Only active members would have voting privileges, but an associate member could serve on committees. The constitution provided for $4 annual fees for active members, and for $2 annual fees for associate members.

The next meeting of the league will be Feb. 1. Officers will be elected and Letitia Simmons, director of the State Easter Seal Society, will speak, according to Curt Andrews, NOVA student working with the league.

Man Is Arrested In Rape Incident

A 23-year-old Lincoln man was jailed Tuesday night in connection with the alleged rape Tuesday morning of an 18-year-old girl in an apartment at 1416 O, according to Police Capt. Robert Butcher.

Butcher said the girl told officers that the assailant tied her hands behind her back with a belt at the time of the assault.

Butcher said police were notified of the incident by authorities at Lincoln General Hospital.

NORTHEAST MISSIONARY OKs BUDGET

A budget for 1972 of $13,822 was approved at the annual business meeting of the Northeast Missionary Church.

Everett Wieskamp was elected to a one-year term on the church board and Harold Slaight was named to a three-year term on the board of trustees.

Re-elected officers were Mrs. Aletha Davidson, secretary, and Wayne Stahley, treasurer.

Written, Oral State Of Union Message Planned

Washington (UPI) — President Nixon will present his State of the Union message to Congress in two separate parts — a comprehensive written message and a shorter one that he will deliver personally Thursday, the White House said Tuesday.

Nixon's speech, to be carried live on radio and television, is expected to last about 30 minutes and press secretary Ronald Ziegler said Nixon decided to also give lawmakers a written message to provide "more detail than he had time for." Ziegler believed it would be the first time a President has sent Congress both a written and oral State of the Union.

Doyle Sees Mid-1975 Completion For I-129 Bridge

S. Sioux City (AP) — Odds for completion of thenew 1-12-9 Missouri River bridge by July of 1975 are good if nothing else happens, said Tom Doyle, state engineer for the Nebraska Department of Roads here Tuesday.

Doyle said he was "not promising the bridge would be open to traffic by then" because the most recently revised work program already is four months behind schedule.

There have been varying opinions between the Nebraska and Iowa highways departments as to when the bridge would be completed.

One of the reasons is that the Iowa highway department is responsible for the I-129 Missouri River bridge south of the Sioux City metropolitan area.

Cow Is Chosen

Madison, Wis. (UPI) — The dairy cow was designated Wisconsin's official domestic animal.

The Nebraska Department of roads is responsible for the U.S. Highway 20 replacement for the 76-year-old combination bridge which is about three miles up river from where the I-129 bridge is located.

The two bridges are a cooperative effort between the two states with assistance from federal funds.

The I-129 bridge was originally scheduled for completion in 1972 and the U. S. Highway 20 bridge is scheduled for completion in 1979.

Remember and tell others. Thank you.

MONEY MATTERS

BY LINDA OLIG

Since the holidays are well behind us, as well as many of the eye-catching sales, it is now time to settle down and tackle one of the most taxing tasks of the year — preparing those income tax returns.

Before figuring up how much you made and spent during the past year, and also how much you have paid the U.S. Government and how much you will owe come April 15, we want to fill you in on some of the newest and most perplexing innovations recently introduced and also some of the ideas that have been around for quite some time but frequently go unnoticed.

One of the most publicized innovations within the realm of the Internal Revenue Service is the liberalization of the child care deduction. Perhaps partly due to the publicity, taxpayers have generally become perplexed about this most recent law.

To lessen the confusion, we chatted with Jack Marcum of H & R Block. We learned that the bill did not go into effect until Jan. 1, 1972, and therefore will not be applicable on this year's tax returns, but will be used in succeeding years.

According to Mr. Marcum, we must go a step backwards and look at the former provisions for child care deductions to make the new ones meaningful.

Formerly, and also for the tax statements we are now preparing, married persons with two or more children under the age of 13 years and still residing at home were limited to a deduction of $900 for child care. After all, a babysitter or some means of child care is as essential to a working mother as a car is to a traveling salesman.

However, Mr. Marcum reminded us, persons wishing to claim this deduction were limited by their combined gross income. As it increased to more than $6,000, the deduction was reduced dollar by dollar. For example, if the combined gross income was $6,900, the couple could claim no deduction.

The child care provision has now been revised and liberalized for use on next year's statement. Now children up to 15 years of age are covered for child care and the maximum deduction is $400 per month or $4,800 per year. Also, after the combined gross income reaches $18,000, the deduction is reduced by 50 cents for each dollar.

And then, as another aid to the working mother, housekeeping chores and all other duties performed at home are now subject to deduction.

Single persons who have been forced to shoulder a heavy tax load will be pleased to note that the Government has made adjustments for them, too. The accelleration rate for singles has been slowed down to allow for a fairer tax rate. By the way, the tax rate for all taxpayers begins at 14 per cent and the maximum is 70 per cent for all taxable income.

NEXT WEEK — More on deductions, exemptions, and taxes.

Alumnae Meeting

The members of Sigma Kappa Alumnae will meet at 7:30 o'clock on Thursday evening, Jan. 20, at the home of Mrs. Kenneth B. Smith, 6500 Pioneers Blvd., with Mrs. A. J. Whitmer as assisting hostess.

Following a business meeting the program will be presented by Mrs. Smith who will show slides of her recent trip to Alaska.

A Child's World

By PHYLLIS WOOLLEN

When a husband and wife contemplate divorce, one of the many factors that come into the picture is the question of the offspring. Should a couple stay together for the sake of the children? If so, what effect does a bad marriage have on the children?

These are just a few of the questions that were discussed with Dr. Ron Love and Jerry Aspengren of the Child Guidance Center this week.

Both Dr. Love and Mr. Aspengren agree that a couple should not stay together for the benefit of the children. In actuality, the children are usually not the issue at all. Children are too often used as a bouncing board for the true internal conflicts between man and wife that either one—or both—is not willing to confront. If a marriage is held together "for the children," the underlying ills of the situation may never be faced.

If parents do stay together in an uncongenial marriage, the children will, in all likelihood, show their appreciation to some extent. However, the consequences often overpower any good that holding the marriage together may impart. The child will assume some responsibility for the parents being together, which creates an unnecessary burden on him. In addition, a child learns about relationships from the example set forth in his own home. A deteriorating marriage cannot project the honesty, genuineness and fairness of a good relationship.

Parents who are struggling within their own relationship will too often involve the children in their disagreements. Conflicts in the training or teaching of a child will cause the child to develop anxieties and become a part of the battle, placing him in a precarious position.

Basically, children want to love both of their parents, and they can if parents don't involve them in their arguments. The problem is, the parents seldom can refrain from involving them. Undeniably, children do have a need to have their parents together. They need to maintain contact with both mother and father. Yet, if the parents do separate, a healthy child will ride through and deal appropriately with the situation, realizing in the long run that his parents have been honest. At the same time, it can be a freeing experience for the child who is no longer the fulcrum of fights.

Marriage itself is a highly formalized tradition between a man and a woman. Although attitudes are changing, people still seek long term, monogamous relationships. It is for this reason that a divorce is not always a ready answer. Children, of course, provide a bond that is too easily misused.

Also traditionally in a divorce, the woman is granted custody of the children. Attitudinally we are moving away from this dictum, but it takes a couple with courage to face a squeamish outside world that feels children belong with their mother and let the father, who can be most capable, raise the children.

Essentially, what is best for the parents is best for the children. A couple should stay together, according to Dr. Love and Mr. Aspengren, only if they are making a successful go of their marriage or can foresee a reasonable way to do so.

Dinner Opens Exhibition

The Nebraska Art Association will open its Faculty Exhibition this evening, Wednesday, Jan. 19, when the members will meet for a spaghetti dinner at 6:30 o'clock, at the Sheldon Memorial Art Gallery.

The exhibition, composed of oil, water color and pastel paintings, and numerous works of sculpture, will continue through Feb. 13.

Opening lead — queen of diamonds.

Card reading is the most important single faculty required of a declarer. Moreover, declarer should bend every possible effort in this direction because, after all, once the location of the opposing 26 cards is known, it is seldom difficult to achieve the best result.

Take this case where South gets to four hearts and West leads a diamond. Declarer wins with the ace and plays the king of hearts, which East takes with the ace.

East returns a diamond to the king and South must now watch his step or he will go down one. His proper play is to enter dummy with a spade, lead a heart, and finesse the nine!

If he does, he makes the contract; if he doesn't, he doesn't.

I am ready to grant that this play has all the earmarks of being based on a peek at the East-West hands. The more normal play would be to cash the high hearts on the assumption that the trumps are divided 3-2.

But in this hand all signs point to a 4-1 trump division and the finesse is therefore the indicated play.

Let's see why. West passed originally and then doubled one heart. At trick two East showed up with the ace of hearts, leaving West with at most 11 points for his double.

West could scarcely double with 11 aceless points unless he had either a singleton heart or a void. The plain unadulterated fact is that a hand where West would have the doubleton ten of hearts and still double is next to impossible to construct.

On this basis, declarer should assume that a trump finesse, if attempted, will succeed.

But in this hand all signs point to a 4-1 trump division and the finesse is therefore the indicated play.

Let's see why. West passed originally and then doubled one heart. At trick two East showed up with the ace of hearts, leaving West with at most 11 points for his double.

West could scarcely double with 11 aceless points unless he had either a singleton heart or a void. The plain unadulterated fact is that a hand where West would have the doubleton ten of hearts and still double is next to impossible to construct.

On this basis, declarer should assume that a trump finesse, if attempted, will succeed.

Dining with Wine

A skill for making some of the greatest wines in the world has gained for Germany a distinction enjoyed by few nations. And this position has been attained in spite of the difficulties encountered in growing grapes in that country.

The "vitis viniferas" as wine grapes are called, grow in a belt around the earth between the 30th and 50th parallels. The further north grapes are grown, the more difficult it is to reap a crop which has matured to its fullness. If you will consult your map of Germany you will note that at the village of Lorch the Rhine river makes an abrupt turn and flows almost directly east to just past the village of Hockheim. The area between these two towns is known as the "Rheingau" and the vineyards are located on the southern slopes of the Tanunus mountains. There are approximately 8000 acres of grapes under cultivation in what has become regarded as the most valuable farm land in the world—some of the vineyards are valued at over $250,000.00 per acre. This is the furthest north that grapes are grown and the wine made from these grapes is simply magnificent.

The vineyards are all located on very steep slopes and all of the work required to tend the vines must be done by hand—no machinery is used. Even the top-soil which is washed down the slopes after a rain, must be shoveled into containers to be carried back to the top of the slopes to be replaced around the vines. Early frost and hail-storms take their toll and it is a very fortunate vineyard owner who is able to reap a full harvest each year. The wines from the Rheingau are called Rhine wines and may be easily identified since they are sold in brown bottles. While this area has become famous for white wine, the only red German wine of distinction also comes from the Rheingau. The vineyards around the village of Assmanhausen at the western end of the Rheingau produce a Pinot Noir grape from which is made the German wine known as a Spatburgunder. It is the only red German wine worthy of note.

Some of the most famous wine Estates in the world are located in this fabulous region. They include the Schloss Johannisberg, which developed the Riesling grape of the same name; the Scjhloss Vollrads, owned by the same family since the middle of the 14th century; the Geisenheim wine school, the greatest school of its type in the world; the Marcobrunner Estate at Eltville, which is joined by the Hattenheimer and Schonborn Estates and many others. The German Government which owns over 300 acres or vineyards in this area produce wines of superlative qualities.

The Rheingau wines are in a class by themselves. They are fruity, fragrant, golden in color and have great balance. They are seldom used in cooking and are a wonderful beverage at any time of the day. They may be served with almost any food and being low in both alcohol and calorie content are a great favorite with weight watchers.

Calorie Counting Not Unpleasant

This is the eighth day of my Eight Week Beauty Improvement Plan (Bip for short). Today I want to banish from your mind the idea that you must plan two sets of meals when you have a family and wish to lose weight yourself. With a few changes, this is not necessary.

To begin with, your family can have much larger servings than you should have and they can have "seconds". I think you will be very surprised to discover what large amounts you have eaten in the past when you see what three or four ounces of meat or five ounces of chicken look like. After weighing portions of food a few times you will be able to guess the number of ounces a serving provides by its size.

A good reducing diet should set the pattern for future food habits. Take smaller helpings and do not waste calories on foods which give you no essential nutrients. When the food intake is restricted there is no room for what my daughter calls "junk" foods.

Your family can have all of the bread and butter or margarine they want. They can have rich salad dressings. They can drink whole milk while you have powdered fat-free or skim milk. They can have desserts while you eat fresh fruit.

You can remove your portion of vegetables from the pot before you season theirs. You can bake their apples with sugar and butter, but eat yours raw. A baked potato is fine for the whole clan. Put sour cream on theirs and season yours with chives, parsley, garlic salt or very little sour cream.

Remember that herbs are a dieter's best friend. Keep a varied supply on your kitchen shelves. Be sure to have lemons and tarragon vinegar, powdered ginger and paprika on hand. Onion and celery salt are helpful. Brocolli and fish are delicious with lemon juice while tarragon vinegar peps up spinach and other greens. Use consomme or chicken broth on your meat and chicken instead of gravy. You can have chili sauce and tomato catsup (2 or 3 tablespoons) and a dash of wine or liquor adds zest to many items.

Really, you can eat very pleasantly and still lose weight and become healthier and prettier, too. Here are the menus for today.

MENUS FOR TODAY

BREAKFAST

8 ounces tomato juice
Poached egg on toast, butter on toast and grated Parmesan cheese on egg.
2 slices bacon, crips and drained
Coffee, black

LUNCH

Seafood salad — lettuce, 10 medium shrimp, ½ cup crabmeat — with low calorie dressing.
1 roll (not sweet) with 1 teaspoon margarine or butter
8 ounces skim milk

DINNER

1 medium slice ham, not fried, visible fat removed
8 asparagus stalks
Salad of shredded lettuce with reducer's dressing
1 roll (not sweet) with 1 teaspoon margarine or butter
½ cup unsweetened applesauce, seasoned with nutmeg or cinnamon

Total Calories — 1202

If you want to lose from 15 to 20 pounds in the next eight weeks or improve your appearance generally, but missed the first part of this series, it is not too late to begin. My Bip Kit give you a booklet with complete directions and a unique wall chart on which you can plot your daily weight and watch your beauty line rise as your weight line drops. If any of you would like to have this kit send 50 cents (includes postage and handling) and your printed name and address to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Announcement Of Interest

There will be interest this morning in the announcement of the marriage of Mrs. Florence Rosenbush to J. Sigfried North which took place late on Tuesday afternoon, Jan. 18.

The 5 o'clock ceremony, which took place at Mr. North's home at 3035 Wendover, was solemnized by the Rev. Darrel E. Berg in the presence of only the immediate members of the families.

Following the wedding there was a dinner for only the families.

Tuesday Meetings

"Comets In The Sky" was the topic of the program presented by Mrs. W. R. Van Horn at the Tuesday morning, Jan. 18, meeting of PEO Chapter GV.

The 10 o'clock program meeting was preceded by a coffee at 9:30 o'clock.

The coffee and meeting were held at the home of Mrs. William Edgecomb, 2925 Calvert.

The members of Chapter DX PEO, were entertained at a salad luncheon on Tuesday afternoon, Jan. 18.

Hostess for the 12:30 o'clock event was Mrs.Vaulx Risser. Mrs. I. L. Hathaway, Mrs. Don Pieper, and Miss Helen Scott was assisting hostesses.

The program was presented by Mrs. Scott Bukey. Mrs. Bukey reviewed the book, "Tell Me A Story."

The program for the Tuesday morning, Jan. 18, meeting of PEO Chapter FW was a travelogue of London presented by Mrs. James Porter.

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: As a father whose daughter may marry a conscientious objector I am concerned about the part of the wedding ceremony where I am supposed to "give away" the bride.

Symbolically, this indicates that she is passing from my protection to that of her husband's. However, as a conscientious objector, the young man has taken the position that he will not fight to protect his family, and therefore I do not feel that I can or should carry thru this part of the wedding ceremony. So what should be done?

DOUBTFUL GEORGE

DEAR GEORGE: No problem. Ask the officiating clergyman to please omit that part of the service. With so many writing their own marriage services these days, you'll be in style.

(Just be sure you aren't making waves because you object to your daughter's marrying a conscientious objector.)

DEAR ABBY: Three years ago I started to crochet an afghan for my sister in law. (My husband's sister.) She knew I was making it for her and she saw me working on it several times.

In the meantime, my husband and I became divorced, and we have both remarried. I have finally finished the afghan, but now I wonder if I should give it to my former sister in law. I really wouldn't mind giving it to her as I feel I owe it to her since I did promise it to her, but I haven't seen her since my divorce (two years ago) and I wouldn't want to embarrass her with the gift.

Should I send her the afghan or not? She may have forgotten about it by this time. Thank you.

WONDERING

DEAR WONDERING: Since you made it for her, promised it to her and feel that you "owe" it to her, give it to her.

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: As a father whose daughter may marry a conscientious objector I am concerned about the part of the wedding ceremony where I am supposed to "give away" the bride.

Symbolically, this indicates that she is passing from my protection to that of her husband's. However, as a conscientious objector, the young man has taken the position that he will not fight to protect his family, and therefore I do not feel that I can or should carry thru this part of the wedding ceremony. So what should be done?

DOUBTFUL GEORGE

DEAR GEORGE: No problem. Ask the officiating clergyman to please omit that part of the service. With so many writing their own marriage services these days, you'll be in style.

(Just be sure you aren't making waves because you object to your daughter's marrying a conscientious objector.)

DEAR ABBY: Three years ago I started to crochet an afghan for my sister in law. (My husband's sister.) She knew I was making it for her and she saw me working on it several times.

In the meantime, my husband and I became divorced, and we have both remarried. I have finally finished the afghan, but now I wonder if I should give it to my former sister in law. I really wouldn't mind giving it to her as I feel I owe it to her since I did promise it to her, but I haven't seen her since my divorce (two years ago) and I wouldn't want to embarrass her with the gift.

Should I send her the afghan or not? She may have forgotten about it by this time. Thank you.

WONDERING

DEAR WONDERING: Since you made it for her, promised it to her and feel that you "owe" it to her, give it to her.

Dining with Wine

A skill for making some of the greatest wines in the world has gained for Germany a distinction enjoyed by few nations. And this position has been attained in spite of the difficulties encountered in growing grapes in that country.

The "vitis vinifera" as wine grapes are called, grow in a belt around the earth between the 30th and 50th parallels. The further north grapes are grown, the more difficult it is to reap a crop which has matured to its fullness. If you will consult your map of Germany you will note that at the village of Lorch the Rhine river makes an abrupt turn and flows almost directly east to just past the village of Hockheim. The area between these two towns is known as the "Rheingau" and the vineyards are located on the southern slopes of the Tanunus mountains. There are approximately 8000 acres of grapes under cultivation in what has become regarded as the most valuable farm land in the world—some of the vineyards are valued at over $250,000 00 per acre. This is the furthest north that grapes are grown and the wine made from these grapes is simply magnificent.

The vineyards are all located on very steep slopes and all of the work required to tend the vines must be done by hand—no machinery is used. Even the top-soil which is washed down the slopes after a rain, must be shoveled into containers to be carried back to the top of the slopes to be replaced around the vines. Early frost and hail-storms take their toll and it is a very fortunate vineyard owner who is able to reap a full harvest each year. The wines from the Rheingau are called Rhine wines and may be easily identified since they are sold in brown bottles. While this area has become famous for white wine, the only red German wine of distinction also comes from the Rheingau. The vineyards around the village of Assmanhausen at the western end of the Rheingau produce a Pinot Noir grape from which is made the German wine known as a Spatburgunder. It is the only red German wine worthy of note.

Some of the most famous wine Estates in the world are located in this fabulous region. They include the Schloss Johannisberg, which developed the Riesling grape of the same name; the Sejhloss Vellrads, owned by the same family since the middle of the 14th century; the Geisenheim wine school, the greatest school of its type in the world; the Marcobrunner Estate at Eltville, which is joined by the Hattenheimer and Schonborn Estates and many others. The German Government which owns over 300 acres or vineyards in this area produce wines of superlative qualities.

The Rheingau wines are in a class by themselves. They are fruity, fragrant, golden in color and have great balance. They are seldom used in cooking and are a wonderful beverage at any time of the day. They may be served with almost any food and being low in both alcohol and calorie content are a great favorite with weight watchers.

Calorie Counting Not Unpleasant

This is the eighth day of my Eight Week Beauty Improvement Plan (Bip for short). Today I want to banish from your mind the idea that you must plan two sets of meals when you have a family and wish to lose weight yourself. With a few changes, this is not necessary.

To begin with, your family can have much larger servings than you should have and they can have "seconds". I think you will be very surprised to discover what large amounts you have eaten in the past when you see what three or four ounces of meat or five ounces of chicken look like. After weighing portions of food a few times you will be able to guess the number of ounces a serving provides by its size.

A good reducing diet should set the pattern for future food habits. Take smaller helpings and do not waste calories on foods which give you no essential nutrients. When the food intake is restricted there is no [illegible] my daughter calls "junk" foods.

Your family can have all of the bread and butter or margarine they want. They can have rich salad dressings. They can drink whole milk while you have powdered fat-free or skim milk. They can have desserts while you eat fresh fruit.

You can remove your portion of vegetables from the pot before you season theirs. You can bake their apples with sugar and butter, but eat yours raw. A baked potato is fine for the whole clan. Put sour cream on theirs and season yours with chives, parsley, garlic salt or very little sour cream.

Remember that herbs are a dieter's best friend. Keep a varied supply on your kitchen shelves. Be sure to have lemons and tarragon vinegar, powdered ginger and paprika on hand. Onion and celery salt are helpful. Brocolli and fish are delicious with lemon juice while tarragon vinegar peps up spinach and other greens. Use consomme or chicken broth on your meat and chicken instead of gravy. You can have chili sauce and tomato catsup (2 or 3 tablespoons) and a dash of wine or liquor adds zest to many items.

Really, you can eat very pleasantly and still lose weight and become healthier and prettier, too. Here are the menus for today.

MENUS FOR TODAY

BREAKFAST

8 ounces tomato juice
Poached egg on toast, butter on toast and grated Parmesan cheese on egg.
2 slices bacon, crips and drained
Coffee, black

LUNCH

Seafood salad — lettuce, 10 medium shrimp, ½ cup crabmeat — with low calorie dressing.
1 roll (not sweet) with 1 teaspoon margarine or butter
8 ounces skim milk

DINNER

1 medium slice ham, not fried, visible fat removed
8 asparagus stalks
Salad of shredded lettuce with reducer's dressing
1 roll (not sweet) with 1 teaspoon margarine or butter
½ cup unsweetened applesauce, seasoned with nutmeg or cinnamon

Total Calories — 1202

If you want to lose from 15 to 20 pounds in the next eight weeks or improve your appearance generally, but missed the first part of this series, it is not too late to begin. My Bip Kit give you a booklet with complete directions and a unique wall chart on which you can plot your daily weight and watch your beauty line rise as your weight line drops. If any of you would like to have this kit send 50 cents (includes postage and handling) and your printed name and address to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Announcement Of Interest

There will be interest this morning in the announcement of the marriage of Mrs. Florence Rosenbush to J. Sigfried North which took place late on Tuesday afternoon, Jan. 18.

The 5 o'clock ceremony, which took place at Mr. North's home at 3035 Wendover, was solemnized by the Rev. Darrel E. Berg in the presence of only the immediate members of the families.

Following the wedding there was a dinner for only the families.

Tuesday Meetings

"Comets In The Sky" was the topic of the program presented by Mrs. W. R. Van Horn at the Tuesday morning, Jan. 18, meeting of PEO Chapter GV.

The 10 o'clock program meeting was preceded by a coffee at 9:30 o'clock.

The coffee and meeting were held at the home of Mrs. William Edgecomb, 2925 Calvert.

The members of Chapter DX PEO, were entertained at a salad luncheon on Tuesday afternoon, Jan. 18.

Hostess for the 12:30 o'clock event was Mrs. Vaulx Risser. Mrs. I. L. Hathaway, Mrs Don Pieper, and Miss Helen Scott was assisting hostesses.

The program was presented by Mrs. Scott Bukey. Mrs. Bukey reviewed the book, "Tell Me A Story."

ASTROLOGICAL FORECAST

☆ By SIDNEY OMARR ☆

Forecast For Wednesday

The late actress Jayne Mansifeld was a great friend of astrology and did everything she could to promote the subject. She was born under Aries and exemplified characteristics of that zodiacal sign: independence, ambition and insistence on living life to the hilt.

☆ ☆ ☆

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Go slow; be thorough. Develop philosophical concepts. Find out where you really want to go — and why. Then you will learn how to arrive at destination. Spiritual adviser can show way.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Friend offers advice which can pay dividends. Key is to temporarily set aside skepticism. Give others benefit of doubt. Accent receptiveness. Exchange ideas. Meaningful change will occur.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Opposition is bluffing. Stick to convictions. Those in positions of authority will back you. Be diplomatic, but don't give up something for nothing. Key now is to set sights on goal — and to get going.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Take off rose-colored glasses. See, instead, in light of reality. Avoid self-deception. Pisces person is involved. Check statements, bills. Count change. You gain by publishing, advertising, special announcements.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Affairs of heart could flutter. Means some relationships are open to question. Decision is due. Stop playing games with emotions. If single, marriage discussion is indicated. Finances are reviewed.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Those who in past were practical may now be eccentric. Self-reliance is a necessity. Depending on others could be costly. Lie low. Review and study — especially where legalities enter picture.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): You are able to find new ways of achieving goals. Improve relations with associates, coworkers. Steer clear of get-rich-quick schemes. Bring forth creative resources. You can break through red tape.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Protect assets. Be wary of slippery deals. Obtain hint from Libra message. Be fair to young person, but don't be weak. Follow through on hunch; utilize intuitive intellect. Gain comes from surprise source.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Social activity accelerates. Party mood could prevail. Remember diet, rest requirements. Recent resolutions were wise; don't shatter them. Stick to familiar ground. Someone may whisper sweet nothings.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Strive to obtain perspective. Looking too far ahead—or behind—is not answer: Check details. Find out the why of events. Be analytical. Ideas can be developed. Build self-confidence.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Friendly tip could result in profit—emotional and otherwise. You make significant gains through study of written material. Many promises are made—but it is best to stick with one who has feet on ground.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): You make favorable impression on those in authoritative positions. Your special qualities are appreciated. Key now is to win rather than force your way. Aid comes from unorthodox source.

IF TODAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY you have original udeas, and this year you will have opportunity to put them into operation. You are extremely attractive to opposite sex. Persons born under Leo find you esepcially fascinating.

Phelps County Planning 100th Birthday Party

Holdrege (AP)—Phelps County will be 100 years old next year and plans are beginning for a centennial celebration to be held in February, 1973.

Don Lindgren, president of the Phelps County Historical Society, said a meeting has been called Jan. 26 to begin planning for the occasion.

CARMICHAEL

State PTA Legislative Parley Set

Topics ranging from state aid to education to child welfare legislation are on tap Wednesday for the Nebraska PTA's annual legislative workshop.

The workshop is set to begin at 9:30 a.m. at the Knolls.

After opening remarks by Mrs. James Kirkman of North Platte, state PTA president, workshop participants will hear a talk on state aid to schools from Charles A. Peters of Omaha, president of the Nebraska State School Boards Association.

Ely Feistner, executive secretary of the Lincoln Education Association, will speak on "vital concerns of the professional educator" just before a luncheon with members of the Legislature's Education Committee.

Afternoon speakers will include Mrs. Dorothy Beavers of Omaha, chairman of the Nebraska State Technical Community College Board, and Mrs. Clifford Jorgenson of Lincoln, chairman of the Nebraska Commmittee on Children and Youth.

Mrs. Marvin C. Stewart of Lincoln, state PTA legislative chairman, is in charge of workshop arrangements.

Airport Authority Protests Service Cut Request

By LYNN ZERSCHLING
Star Staff Writer

Frontier Airlines request for a six-month suspension of service from Omaha to Chicago prompted the Lincoln Airport Authority Tuesday to file a petition with the Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB) to register its concern.

Airport Authority members said they were concerned that the suspension of the flights would seriously affect airline service for Lincolnites, eventually resulting in Lincoln losing passengers to Omaha.

Frontier Airlines has asked CAB for permission to cut back service from Omaha to Chicago, effective Feb. 1st.

Loss A Factor

Frontier Sales Service Manager Glenn Emmons said that the cutback was requested since the airline has been losing money and due to poor connecting services at Chicago's Midway Airport.

Emmons said that Frontier would still have connecting service from Lincoln to Omaha and that none of the service in Lincoln would be affected.

He noted that only about five passengers a month take the Lincoln to Omaha to Chicago trip.

'The service just hasn't developed," Emmons added.

6 Months 'Forever'

Lincoln Airport Authority attorney Chauncey Barney said, "Realistically, for us, suspension of Frontier's service for six months is forever."

Authority member Joseph Hampton added, "In all my years on the board, I haven't seen us get anything without kicking and scratching."

Barney said the Authority has not decided whether it will actively protest Frontier' sapplication or to just bring the matter to CAB's attention.

Presently, Frontier Airlines flies two daily round trips on the Omaha to Chicago run. If CAB does not approve the temporary suspension, Emmons said the service would be cut back to five trips weekly.

He added, "We have lost a tremendous ammount of money."

For the twelve-month period ending Oct. 12 last year Frontier lost $392,000 on the Omaha-Chicago route.

Due to Frontier's financial situation, it has not yet begun nonstop service from Lincoln to Chicago, which has been approved by CAB.

As a result of Frontier's request to suspend service, Barney said the Omaha Airport Authority and Chamber of Commerce have asked CAB to grant American Airlines operating rights between Omaha and Chicago.

In addition to Frontier, the only other airline currently serving that route is United Air Lines.

Barney stated, "The worst thing that could happen to us is a full schedule of American flights in Omaha, with United deciding to join in competition. The end result can only be to overlook Lincoln service."

Can't Stand By

He added, 'We can't just stand by and watch our traffic go down the highway to Omaha."

American was one of three airlines designated to enter the Omaha market in the CAB's July, 1970, decision in the Service to Omaha-Des Moines Route case.

However, both American and Trans World Airlines contended that they could not operate routes into the midwest at a profit without also being given authority to tie those routes into Chicago. As a result CAB suspended implementation of these routes.

In other action the Authority approved the appointment of Ervin Wursten to assistant general director and granted him a $1,000-a-year salary boost. Wursten will earn $11,463 annually.

Frontier's Flight Cut Is Upheld

The State Aeronautics Department reported Tuesday the Federal Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB) has denied a charge Frontier Airlines violated its operating certificate terms.

The charge was levied by the state last summer in protest of Frontier's decision to drop one daily flight between Omaha and Denver via Hastings, Kearney and McCook.

The state had contended Frontier violated a provision in its operating certificate which granted it the right to offer two nonstop flights between Omaha and Denver daily in return for offering two flights via the three cities.

State Aeronautics Director Nicolas Smeloff said the decision was forwarded to him by Richard J. O'Melia, director of the CAB's bureau of enforcement.

Smeloff said the CAB decision "reaffirmed Frontier's right to cut service."

The letter, the director said, "also took note" of the state's request to consider whether a reduction of service was a violation of Frontier's duty to "provide adequate air service" to the points it is authorized to serve.

But, he said, the letter stated that determination was outside the scope of the bureau and would be considered separately.

Smeloff said a review of the enforcement bureau's decision would be requested in 20 days.

Terry Carpenter Completes Filing For Senate Race

State Sen. Terry Carpenter completed filing with the Secretary of State Tuesday for the Democratic nomination to the U.S. Senate seat now held by Republican Carl T. Curtis.

Other candidate filings Tuesday:

State Sen. George Syas of Omaha, for renomination to the Legislature from the 13th District. Syas has served in the Unicameral continuously since 1951.

J. Everett Denton, Minatare post office, Sioux County, filed for delegate to the Republican National Convention from the Third District, committed to President Nixon.

Darrel J. Peters of Arnold filed for the governing board of the Mid-Plains Technical Community College.

Chichester, 70, Quits Holiday

London UPI — Sir Francis Chichester, 70, said he was forced to abandon a two-week walking holiday in the south of France because of ill health. ASTROLOGICAL FORECAST

☆ By SIDNEY OMARR ☆

Forecast For Wednesday

The late actress Jayne Mansfield was a great friend of astrology and did everything she could to promote the subject. She was born under Aries and exemplified characteristics of that zodiacal sign: independence, ambition and insistence on living life to the hilt.

☆ ☆ ☆

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Go slow; be thorough. Develop philosophical concepts. Find out where you really want to go — and why. Then you will learn how to arrive at destination. Spiritual adviser can show way.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Friend offers advice which can pay dividends. Key is to temporarily set aside skepticism. Give others benefit of doubt. Accent receptiveness. Exchange ideas. Meaningful change will occur.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Opposition is bluffing. Stick to convictions. Those in positions of authority will back you. Be diplomatic, but don't give up something for nothing. Key now is to set sights on goal — and to get going.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Take off rose-colored glasses. See, instead, in light of reality. Avoid self-deception. Pisces person is involved. Check statements, bills. Count change. You gain by publishing, advertising, special announcements.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Affairs of heart could flutter. Means some relationships are open to question. Decision is due. Stop playing games with emotions. If single, marriage discussion is indicated. Finances are reviewed.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Those who in past were practical may now be eccentric. Self-reliance is a necessity. Depending on others could be costly. Lie low. Review and study — especially where legalities enter picture.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): You are able to find new ways of achieving goals. Improve relations with associates, coworkers. Steer clear of get-rich-quick schemes. Bring forth creative resources. You can break through red tape.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Protect assets. Be wary of slippery deals. Obtain hint from Libra message. Be fair to young person, but don't be weak. Follow through on hunch; utilize intuitive intellect. Gain comes from surprise source.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Social activity accelerates. Party mood could prevail. Remember diet, rest requirements. Recent resolutions were wise; don't shatter them. Stick to familiar ground. Someone may whisper sweet nothings.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Strive to obtain perspective. Looking too far ahead—or behind—is not answer. Check details. Find out the why of events. Be analytical. Ideas can be developed. Build self-confidence.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Friendly tip could result in profit—emotional and otherwise. You make significant gains through study of written material. Many promises are made—but it is best to stick with one who has feet on ground.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): You make favorable impression on those in authoritative positions. Your special qualities are appreciated. Key now is to win rather than force your way. Aid comes from unorthodox source.

IF TODAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY you have original ideas, and this year you will have opportunity to put them into operation. You are extremely attractive to opposite sex. Persons born under Leo find you esepcially fascinating.

Phelps County Planning 100th Birthday Party

Holdrege (AP)—Phelps County will be 100 years old next year and plans are beginning for a centennial celebration to be held in February, 1973.

Don Lindgren, president of the Phelps County Historical Society, said a meeting has been called Jan. 26 to begin planning for the occasion.

State PTA Legislative Parley Set

Topics ranging from state aid to education to child welfare legislation are on tap Wednesday for the Nebraska PTA's annual legislative workshop.

The workshop is set to begin at 9:30 a.m. at the Knolls.

After opening remarks by Mrs. James Kirkman of North Platte, state PTA president, workshop participants will hear a talk on state aid to schools from Charles A. Peters of Omaha, president of the Nebraska State School Boards Association.

Ely Feistner, executive secretary of the Lincoln Education Association, will speak on "vital concerns of the professional educator" just before a luncheon with members of the Legislature's Education Committee.

Afternoon speakers will include Mrs. Dorothy Beavers of Omaha, chairman of the Nebraska State Technical Community College Board, and Mrs. Clifford Jorgenson of Lincoln, chairman of the Nebraska Commmittee on Children and Youth.

Mrs. Marvin C. Stewart of Lincoln, state PTA legislative chairman, is in charge of workshop arrangements.

Bryant Leads Applause

Volney Meece of the Oklahoma City Times and president of the Football Writers Association claims the first person to rise to his feet and applaud Nebraska football coach Bob Devaney when he was introduced as the American Football Coaches Association's third vice president was, yep, Alabama's Bear Bryant.

For those who think they're getting a lot of action for their money while watching those Sunday afternoon pro football games, digest these figures: In that six-quarter playoff game between Kansas City and Miami 149 plays were run. But in the four quarters of the Fiesta Bowl, Florida State and Arizona State ran off 167 plays.

The Big Eight's outdoor championships are supposed to be held this year in Manhattan, Kan. In addition to golf and tennis, that also involves track, but the K-State drive to raise money for a new track surface is stalled at the two-thirds mark. The meet is less than four months away.

Lemons Still Funny

Since Oklahoma City wasn't a part of the second annual Husker Classic, Nebraskans, who were kept laughing a year ago during coach Abe Lemons stay in the Capital City, missed out on it this time around.

But he's still as funny as ever. Recently while his team was losing a 127-67 game to California — that's 60 points — Lemons was ejected from the court after the officials tired of blowing technical fouls on him.

Lemons explained later, "I don't know how many technicals were called, but they shot eight free throws between two field goals. They got 12 points and we ain't even touched the ball. That's gotta be some kind of world record."

Lemons says the Cal coach came to him after the game and explained he didn't intend for the score to be that big.

"I asked him, 'Well, how bad you think you'd have beat me if you tried," Abe relates.

On another subject Lemons says, "I keep hoping President Nixon will send me an out of bounds play, but I haven't heard a word. We can get the ball in bounds allright — but after we do, we can't score."

Thanks, But No Thanks

At the Football Coaches convention in Florida, Jimmy McDowell, executive director of the National Football Hall of Fame, was congratulating Mississippi coach Buster Kinnard on his team's finish this season and predicted that the Rebels would be in next year's Orange Bowl against Nebraska.

"I'd like to be there," replied Kinnard, "But couldn't you put us against someone except Nebraska, or Oklahoma, or Colorado . . ."

Colorado not only has Charlie Davis coming back next season, but they've got a sophomore-to-be named Gary Campbell, a 6-1, 200-pounder who broke every Colorado freshman rushing record last fall with 598 yards on 85 carries for a 7.0 average and 11 touchdowns.

He's from Hawaii.

If you think the Big Eight hasn't made giant strides in national prestige, consider this: Colorado's third place Big Eight team that finished third in the final Associated Press poll achieved the highest finish ever for a CU team in the national polls. The Colorado team of 1961 that won the Big Eight championship was rated only seventh in the national polls.

Bob Hentzen of the Topeka Capital-Journal comes up with this interesting fact: Nebraska's defense during the 1971 season was especially effective against the other team's top ball carrier with only Utah State's Ed Giles doing better against the Huskers than his season average.

Devaney Fails To Convince Sen. Carpenter

. . . TERRY SAYS, 'WHEN BELL RINGS, DEVANEY GETS HIS EARS UP'

By DON BEMAN
United Press International

A leader in the fan and politician campaign to induce Nebraska football coach Bob Devaney to stay on Tuesday questioned whether the downward step would be taken next year.

"The coach may say the job is tiring, and I'm sure it is," said Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff.

"But the coach may be humming a different tune after he has had a chance to rest and to think," he said.

"I have an idea it's about like the old fire house," he said. "The bell rings and he gets his ears up."

Devaney, during a Monday news conference, told reporters he has decided to stay on as head football coach through the end of the 1972 season.

'But that definitely will be it," he said.

And the coach went so far as to name an heir apparent to his job, subject to approval by NU President D. B. Varner and the Board of Regents.

His personal choice for his own replacement was Tom Osborne, to whom he gave the title "assistant head football coach."

But, said Carpenter, Devaney's "pondering" about the situation is far from over despite his announced plans.

"He's given the people of this state something tangible to hang on to," the lawmaker said, "And the people may have a hard time adjusting to something else."

Meanwhile, Carpenter reported he still intends to introduce a resolution in the legislature originally designed to provide some inducement for Devaney to stay on.

"It may be anti-climactic," he said, but added he would go ahead with the plans.

WEST WINS NBA CONTEST

LA's West Hits Jumper For Victory

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (UPI) —Jerry West hit a 20-foot jump shot with two seconds left Tuesday night to give the West a thrilling 112-110 victory over the East in the 22nd annual National Basketball Association All-Star game.

Playing in his 11th All-Star game, West scored five of his 11 points in the final quarter and also had numerous steals. He was selected the contest's Most Valuable Player for the first time in his 12-year-pro career.

Winning their second straight All-Star game, the Western Conference team overcame a 10-point halftime deficit for its eighth victory in the history of the series.

West's desperation basket came with New York's Walt Frazier guarding him after Boston's Dave Cowens made a 14-foot jumper from the side with 11 seconds to go to tie the score at 110.

The Los Angeles Lakers' superstar was one of five West players to score in double figures with Connie Hawkins of Phoenix leading the way with 13 points and Milwaukee's Kareem Jabber adding 12 although the Buck ace did not play in the hectic final period.

John Havlicek of the Celtics scored six of the East's last eight points, making an 18-foot jump shot from the side with 43 seconds left that brought his club within two at 110-108.

The West brought the ball down the court and Golden State's Cazzie Russell missed a jump shot from the side with 19 seconds to go. Frazier got the rebound and the East went down to tie the score.

—EYES GLOVES CROWN—

Stutzman Likes Title Chances

By RANDY EICKHOFF
Star Sports Writer

In the ring, Ron Stutzman was giving a boxing lesson to an exasperated stablemate. Over in one corner of the garage-turned-into-a-gymnasium, a middleweight savagely mauled a heavy bag, exhaling loudly everytime he connected.

A light-heavyweight worked out on the speed bag . . . tapping it lightly two or three times, then building up speed until his fists were a blur of flying leather.

Stutzman finished his workout and climbed from the ring, ignoring his sparring partner who, close to tears, wanted to continue. Randy Nelsen, boxing coach of the Lincoln Saylor boxing club, cimbed into the ring and tried to calm the harrassed fighter down.

"He always gets that way," Stutzman said, waving his hand at the fighter still in the ring. "He always tries to hurt you . . . he just won't learn."

Stutzman, in his second year of amateur boxing, is considered by most of his peers as a top contendor for the heavyweight crown in the Southeast District Golden Gloves Tournament Jan. 26-27 at Pershing Auditorium.

"I think I'll win the title this year," Stutzman says matter-of-factly. "The only one who could possibly give me any trouble is Gene Truba (of Fairbury).

"He's (Truba) a stylish fighter, the kind I'm trying to be. So if I fight him, I think I'll have to be more aggressive and take the fight to him.

"I wasn't very experienced last year, but this year, I think I've got all my stuff together. I think it takes a heavyweight six or seven fights to get everything going for him."

Stutzman has a 7-3-1 record but feels that he is finally ready now for the Golden Gloves.

"My left hook is coming across real good now and I've learned how to use my right a little better. But I'm not a slugger. I'd rather box three rounds than get hurt trying to take a guy out in the first or second round." However, four of his came via the TKO route.

Stutzman says he got into boxing "because I like being an individualist. I made the first cut when I tried out for the Omaha Mustangs (as a guard), but then I hurt my knee and decided to quit. I was afraid that I wouldn't be able to box if I continued playing football. And in boxing, you're on your own. It's not a place for a guy to go only half-way."

The 21-year-old father of two girls credits his wife with encouraging him in his boxing career.

"She likes to see me in the ring," he grins while leaning back in a chair below a prominately-displayed picture of a glowering Sonny Liston. "She keeps me going when I try to slack off."

Then his smile slips off his face and he leans forward to emphasize a point. "The only thing that I've got to do is remember what Randy (Nelsen) has taught me.

"I have to stay calm and pick my shots. I've gotta try and anticipate the other guy and wait for the right time to lower the boom if I can. I can't get excited or that'll give the other guy a shot at me and that, I don't want."

The heavily-muscled fighter feels that the lack of amateur fighters at smokers this year may be due to the absence of professional fighters training in Lincoln.

"In Omaha, the young kids can go down to the gym and watch the fighters train. I mean the good ones like Art Hernandez before he moved. I think (Ron) Stander is a farce and they'd be making a mistake to copy him.

"Don't get me wrong," he hastens to add. "He can take a punch and he can hit hard. But he's no boxer. Not the kind that the kids could watch like Hernandez."

Stutzman also thinks that more out-of-town fighters should be brought in to give the local fighters more experience.

"It's hard to find experienced heavyweights. If we had more boxers, we'd have a higher caliber of fighters. They'd have to improve."

But in the meantime, Stutzman says he thinks he'll "stick around a while." At least, until he's 26 . . . even if he wins the Southeast and Midwest tournaments and goes to the nationals.

"I'm going to stick the whole route. As long as I can because it's a fine sport and I like it."

California, Stanford After Same Head Football Coach?

. . . WHITE REFUSES COMMENT

Compiled From Wires

California and Stanford, college football's Big Game rivals, are entangled in an off-season situation just as interesting as any of their past gridiron battles.

Both schools may be after the same man as head football coach, although only the Stanford job was officially vacant Tuesday.

Cal may soon have its third athletic director in the last four months.

Mike White, a young Stanford assistant coach, reportedly had his pick of three new jobs. But, like all other principals, he wouldn't comment.

The Pacific-8 Conference schools were expected to make announcements soon, perhaps Wednesday, on their respective situations.

The Oakland Tribune said Tuesday that Ray Willsey, Cal's head football coach for eight years and the acting athletic director since last September, would lose both jobs, and that track Coach Dave Maggard would become athletic director.

California football coach Ray Willsey, 40, resigned Tuesday night after eight years directing the Bears.

The announcement was made by UC Chancellor Albert H. Bowker who said he accepted Willsey's resignation.

"He has coached at Berkeley during, perhaps its most difficult years and has done his utmost to serve the university well," Bowker said. We wish him the best in his future endeavors."

Willsey, who has also been acting athletic director since last fall's resignation of Paul Brechler, fashioned a 40-42-1 record since becoming chief mentor in 1964.

He has not had a losing year in the last five, and was the northern California Coach of the Year in 1968.

Paul Brechler, 59, resigned as Cal's athletic director last Sept. 15. The resignation came a week after the National Collegiate Athletic Association placed the university on probation that could last through the 1973-74 school year.

Brechler said he had been considering the move for a year but waited until the NCAA made its ruling.

Maggard, 32, coached the Bears to the NCAA track championship in 1970. But the title was taken away when the NCAA declared that Isaac Curtis, a sprinter, had failed to take a required entrance examination and should have been declared ineligible by Cal.

Mead Still Leading Class D Rankings

By VIRGIL PARKER
Prep Sports Writer

The Class D high school basketball top ten ratings show more stability near the top of the list than the other divisions this week, but farther down the rankings some drastic reshuffling became necessary.

Mead, Palmer, Yutan and Adams claim the first four spots, just as they did a week ago.

But then Venango, fifth last time, drops clear off the list after losing to unranked Madrid Wheatland. Sidney St. Patrick takes advantage of Venango's misfortune to move up from sixth to fifth.

Then come another casualty. Trenton, winner of its first five, stumbled to unrated Culbertson. Thus Bartlett, eighth a week ago, finds itself all the way up to sixth.

Davenport and Clarks, No. 9 and 10 last time, also had trouble during the past week and are replaced.

That means the final four places are all occupied by newcomers. Niobrara, loser only to Class C Orchard, gets the No. 7 call, followed by Silver Creek, which has lost only to No. 2 Palmer and Class C Osceola.

Chester-Hubbell, which gained the finals of the Pioneer Conference tournament last week, recording a win over previously ninth-ranked Davenport along the way, gets that spot.

Then comes Falls City Sacred Heart, a finalist in the Southeast Border tournament last week. That tourney class B Tecumseh, defending state Class C champion Pawnee City and Class C teams from Johnson-Brock, Humbolt, Nebraska City Lourdes and Southeast Consolidated — pretty fast company for a Class D quintet.

Yet Sacred Heart gained the finals before bowing out and is rewarded with the No. 10 spot in the small-school top ten ratings.

None of the top ten members can feel secure or rest on past laurels, however, for a large number of challengers lurk in the wings.

One of the toughest trios to figure is Giltner, Hampton and Marquette. The former two have lost just once, both to Marquette, yet the latter has dropped one to Palmer — which doesn't hurt — but another to Clarks, which now falls by the wayside.

Table Rock, Byron, Shickley and Petersburg are among others closely pressing the leaders.

Fisher Named LCC Head Pro

Jerry Fisher, who has served two years as assistant golf pro to Bud Williamson at the Lincoln Country Club, has been appointed head pro.

Fisher, 27, is a Beatrice native and graduated from Hastings College with a business administration degree.

Two years in the Army and a 14-month hitch as head pro at Hastings' Meadowbrook Country Club preceded his assistantship at LCC.

Fisher, who received his PGA card in November, won the Nebraska assistant pro tournament last summer at Dodge Park in Council Bluffs, Iowa.

Western Tips NU Frosh

Scottsbluff (AP) — Nebraska Western remained undefeated in 13 starts by taking a 76-71 college basketball victory over the previously undefeated freshmen of Nebraska University Tuesday night.

Dale Hooks and Dave Renfro paced the Western offense, scoring 19 and 17 points respectively.

Kent Reckewey and Don Jackson scored 21 each for the young Cornhuskers, now 5-1 on the season.

The NU frosh trailed by one at the half, 33-34, and kept the contest close until the final buzzer.

NU Frosh	33 37—71

NU Frosh-Reckewey 21, Jackson 21, Irwin 13, Goodrich 8, Martin, Nix 4.

Muck Set To Enter Handball Tourney

By STEVE GILLISPIE
Star Sports Writer

Lincoln is going big time for the first time — in handball.

The Central YMCA will host the first annual Runza Open Handball Tournament this weekend. Players from six states including Terry Muck, one of the top players in the country, is entered.

Muck was the third-rated player in 1970 and No. 6 last year.

The St. Paul, Minn., competitor is no stranger to some Nebraskans as he recently won the Omaha Open. His biggest career win came last year when he defeated No. 1-ranked Paul Haber for the New York Athletic Club Invitational championship.

The 5-6, 140-pounder, who is also a former national collegiate champ, will be challenged by four state titlists and 27 other players.

Joel Levy, a two-time Kentucky champ, Iowa winner Bill Bauerly, Nebraska champ Rich Hill of Omaha and Colorado champ Lee Wretlind are top challengers.

There is also top-flight competition in the doubles division including Larry Wood and Glen Blue, ranked in the country's top 20 and Curt Creed and Ron Wenger, who have won the Oklahoma City Open the past two years.

Competition will begin at 6 p.m. Friday with the first round of the singles. Saturday's schedule has the doubles first round at 9 a.m., singles quarterfinals at noon, doubles quarterfinals at 3 p.m., and doubles semifinals at 4:30.

On Sunday, the singles semis held at 11 a.m. with the double finals at 1 p.m. and singles finals at 2:30.

Trophies will be awarded for the first three places in both singles and doubles. Lincoln businessman Don Everett, is sponsoring the meet.

Stakes Winners Headline Fonner Park Nominating List

Grand Island — Six stakes winners were among the 94 3-year-olds to be nominated to the $4,000-added Fonner Park Special Stakes to be run in Grand Island on April 8.

These added money winners were the leading 2-year-olds of the 1971 racing season in Nebraska. The 17th renewal of the Special Stakes has attracted the nomination of these stakes winners: M. A. & R. W. Cole's Gracie C.; Ray Guzinski's Arian Ray; Sadie L. Foley's Baby Ball; Paul M. Kemling's Amajewel; Miti Stable's Great Commander; and R. D. DeWitt's, Leonard Smith's, A. J. Abbott's & T. V. Smith's Aye Jay Aye.

The 17th running of the $4,000-added Fonner Park Juvenile Stakes has drawn 123 nominations. The renewal of the Grand Island stake, which will be run on April 21, is second only in number of nominations to last year's running of the event.

Paul M. Kemling of Aurora is the leading nominator to the stakes. He nominated five 2-year-olds. Kemling won the second division of the Juvenile Stakes in 1971 with Amajewel.

Some 300 horses are already stabled at Fonner Park preparing the coming 40-day meeting which will run from March 3 through April 29.

Racing will be conducted on just Friday and Saturday through the first three weeks in March, then go to a five-day week, Tuesday through Saturday the final two weeks of the month. April will see six-day-a-week racing, Monday through Saturday

Early arrivals at Fonner Park are Roy Landis, Robert Colvin, Paul Kemling, Jasper Hitchcock, Eugene Warnke, Warren Lamont, Harold Allee, Bob Allee, Jim Moss, Walter Knapp, Richard Chatlos, Hugh Robertson, Jack Gardes, Ray Moon, Tom Sisson, Cliff Pierce, Kenneth Hall and Byron Levinson.

Horsemen are reminded that the deadline for filing stall applications for the 40-day meeting in Grand Island is Feb. 1. Anyone wishing to obtain stall blanks or condition books may write to Al Swihart, Fonner Park, P. O. Box 490, Grand Island, Neb. 68801.

Purses for the coming season will reach almost $500,000.

Bryant Leads Applause

Volney Meece of the Oklahoma City Times and president of the Football Writers Association claims the first person to rise to his feet and applaud Nebraska football coach Bob Devaney when he was introduced as the American Football Coaches Association's third vice president was, yep, Alabama's Bear Bryant.

For those who think they're getting a lot of action for their money while watching those Sunday afternoon pro football games, digest these figures: In that six-quarter playoff game between Kansas City and Miami 149 plays were run. But in the four quarters of the Fiesta Bowl, Florida State and Arizona State ran off 167 plays.

The Big Eight's outdoor championships are supposed to be held this year in Manhattan, Kan. In addition to golf and tennis, that also involves track, but the K-State drive to raise money for a new track surface is stalled at the two-thirds mark. The meet is less than four months away.

Lemons Still Funny

Since Oklahoma City wasn't a part of the second annual Husker Classic, Nebraskans, who were kept laughing a year ago during coach Abe Lemons stay in the Capital City, missed out on it this time around.

But he's still as funny as ever. Recently while his team was losing a 127-67 game to California — that's 60 points — Lemons was ejected from the court after the officials tired of blowing technical fouls on him.

Lemons explained later, "I don't know how many technicals were called, but they shot eight free throws between two field goals. They got 12 points and we ain't even touched the ball. That's gotta be some kind of world record."

Lemons says the Cal coach came to him after the game and explained he didn't intend for the score to be that big.

"I asked him, 'Well, how bad you think you'd have beat me if you tried," Abe relates.

On another subject Lemons says, "I keep hoping President Nixon will send me an out of bounds play, but I haven't heard a word. We can get the ball in bounds allright — but after we do, we can't score."

Thanks, But No Thanks

At the Football Coaches convention in Florida, Jimmy McDowell, executive director of the National Football Hall of Fame, was congratulating Mississippi coach Buster Kinnard on his team's finish this season and predicted that the Rebels would be in next year's Orange Bowl against Nebraska.

"I'd like to be there," replied Kinnard. "But couldn't you put us against someone except Nebraska, or Oklahoma, or Colorado..."

Colorado not only has Charlie Davis coming back next season, but they've got a sophomore-to-be named Gary Campbell, a 6-1, 200-pounder who broke every Colorado freshman rushing record last fall with 598 yards on 85 carries for a 7.0 average and 11 touchdowns.

He's from Hawaii.

If you think the Big Eight hasn't made giant strides in national prestige, consider this: Colorado's third place Big Eight team that finished third in the final Associated Press poll achieved the highest finish ever for a CU team in the national polls. The Colorado team of 1961 that won the Big Eight championship was rated only seventh in the national polls.

Bob Hentzen of the Topeka Capital-Journal comes up with this interesting fact: Nebraska's defense during the 1971 season was especially effective against the other team's top ball carrier with only Utah State's Ed Giles doing better against the Huskers than his season average.

Devaney Fails To Convince Sen. Carpenter

. . . TERRY SAYS, 'WHEN BELL RINGS, DEVANEY GETS HIS EARS UP'

By DON BEMAN
United Press International

A leader in the fan and politician campaign to induce Nebraska football coach Bob Devaney to stay on Tuesday questioned whether the downward step would be taken next year.

"The coach may say the job is tiring, and I'm sure it is," said Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff.

"But the coach may be humming a different tune after he has had a chance to rest and to think," he said.

"I have an idea it's about like the old fire house," he said. "The bell rings and he gets his ears up."

Devaney, during a Monday news conference, told reporters he has decided to stay on as head football coach through the end of the 1972 season.

'But that definitely will be it," he said.

And the coach went so far as to name an heir apparent to his job, subject to approval by NU President D. B. Varner and the Board of Regents.

His personal choice for his own replacement was Tom Osborne, to whom he gave the title "assistant head football coach."

But, said Carpenter, Devaney's "pondering" about the situation is far from over despite his announced plans.

"He's given the people of this state something tangible to hang on to," the lawmaker said, "And the people may have a hard time adjusting to something else."

Meanwhile, Carpenter reported he still intends to introduce a resolution in the legislature originally designed to provide some inducement for Devaney to stay on.

"It may be anti-climactic," he said, but added he would go ahead with the plans.

WEST WINS NBA CONTEST

LA's West Hits Jumper For Victory

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (UPI) —Jerry West hit a 20-foot jump shot with two seconds left Tuesday night to give the West a thrilling 112-110 victory over the East in the 22nd annual National Basketball Association All-Star game.

Playing in his 11th All-Star game, West scored five of his 11 points in the final quarter and also had numerous steals. He was selected the contest's Most Valuable Player for the first time in his 12-year-pro career.

Winning their second straight All-Star game, the Western Conference team overcame a 10-point halftime deficit for its eighth victory in the history of the series.

West's desperation basket came with New York's Walt Frazier guarding him after Boston's Dave Cowens made a 14-foot jumper from the side with 11 seconds to go to tie the score at 110.

The Los Angeles Lakers' superstar was one of five West players to score in double figures with Connie Hawkins of Phoenix leading the way with 13 points and Milwaukee's Kareem Jabber adding 12 although the Buck ace did not play in the hectic final period.

John Havlicek of the Celtics scored six of the East's last eight points, making an 18-foot jump shot from the side with 43 seconds left that brought his club within two at 110-108.

The West brought the ball down the court and Golden State's Cazzie Russell missed a jump shot from the side with 19 seconds to go. Frazier got the rebound and the East went down to tie the score.

—EYES GLOVES CROWN—

Stutzman Likes Title Chances

By RANDY EICKHOFF
Star Sports Writer

In the ring, Ron Stutzman was giving a boxing lesson to an exasperated stablemate. Over in one corner of the garage-turned-into-a-gymnasium, a middleweight savagely mauled a heavy bag, exhaling loudly everytime he connected.

A light-heavyweight worked out on the speed bag . . . tapping it lightly two or three times, then building up speed until his fists were a blur of flying leather.

Stutzman finished his workout and climbed from the ring, ignoring his sparring partner who, close to tears, wanted to continue. Randy Nelsen, boxing coach of the Lincoln Saylor boxing club, climbed into the ring and tried to calm the harrassed fighter down.

"He always gets that way," Stutzman said, waving his hand at the fighter still in the ring. "He always tries to hurt you . . . he just won't learn."

Stutzman, in his second year of amateur boxing, is considered by most of his peers as a top contender for the heavyweight crown in the Southeast District Golden Gloves Tournament Jan. 26-27 at Pershing Auditorium.

"I think I'll win the title this year," Stutzman says matter-of-factly. "The only one who could possibly give me any trouble is Gene Truba (of Fairbury).

"He's (Truba) a stylish fighter, the kind I'm trying to be. So if I fight him, I think I'll have to be more aggressive and take the fight to him.

"I wasn't very experienced last year, but this year, I think I've got all my stuff together. I think it takes a heavyweight six or seven fights to get everything going for him."

Stutzman has a 7-3-1 record but feels that he is finally ready now for the Golden Gloves.

"My left hook is coming across real good now and I've learned how to use my right a little better. But I'm not a slugger. I'd rather box three rounds than get hurt trying to take a guy out in the first or second round." However, four of his came via the TKO route.

Stutzman says he got into boxing "because I like being an individualist. I made the first cut when I tried out for the Omaha Mustangs (as a guard), but then I hurt my knee and decided to quit. I was afraid that I wouldn't be able to box if I continued playing football. And in boxing, you're on your own. It's not a place for a guy to go only half-way."

The 21-year-old father of two girls credits his wife with encouraging him in his boxing career.

"She likes to see me in the ring," he grins while leaning back in a chair below a prominately-displayed picture of a glowering Sonny Liston. "She keeps me going when I try to slack off."

Then his smile slips off his face and he leans forward to emphasize a point. "The only thing that I've got to do is remember what Randy (Nelsen) has taught me.

"I have to stay calm and pick my shots. I've gotta try and anticipate the other guy and wait for the right time to lower the boom if I can. I can't get excited or that'll give the other guy a shot at me and that, I don't want."

The heavily-muscled fighter feels that the lack of amateur fighters at smokers this year may be due to the absence of professional fighters training in Lincoln.

"In Omaha, the young kids can go down to the gym and watch the fighters train. I mean the good ones like Art Hernandez before he moved. I think (Ron) Stander is a farce and they'd be making a mistake to copy him.

"Don't get me wrong," he hastens to add. "He can take a punch and he can hit hard. But he's no boxer. Not the kind that the kids could watch like Hernandez."

Stutzman also thinks that more out-of-town fighters should be brought in to give the local fighters more experience.

"It's hard to find experienced heavyweights. If we had more boxers, we'd have a higher caliber of fighters. They'd have to improve."

But in the meantime, Stutzman says he thinks he'll "stick around a while." At least, until he's 26 . . . even if he wins the Southeast and Midwest tournaments and goes to the nationals.

"I'm going to stick the whole route. As long as I can because it's a fine sport and I like it."

California, Stanford After Same Head Football Coach?

. . . WHITE REFUSES COMMENT

Compiled From Wires

California and Stanford, college football's Big Game rivals, are entangled in an off-season situation just as interesting as any of their past gridiron battles.

Both schools may be after the same man as head football coach, although only the Stanford job was officially vacant Tuesday.

Cal may soon have its third athletic director in the last four months.

Mike White, a young Stanford assistant coach, reportedly had his pick of three new jobs. But, like all other principals, he wouldn't comment.

The Pacific-8 Conference schools were expected to make announcements soon, perhaps Wednesday, on their respective situations.

The Oakland Tribune said Tuesday that Ray Willsey, Cal's head football coach for eight years and the acting athletic director since last September, would lose both jobs, and that track Coach Dave Maggard would become athletic director.

California football coach Ray Willsey, 40, resigned Tuesday night after eight years directing the Bears.

The announcement was made by UC Chancellor Albert H. Bowker who said he accepted Willsey's resignation.

"He has coached at Berkeley during, perhaps its most difficult years and has done his utmost to serve the university well," Bowker said. We wish him the best in his future endeavors."

Willsey, who has also been acting athletic director since last fall's resignation of Paul Brechler, fashioned a 40-42-1 record since becoming chief mentor in 1964.

He has not had a losing year in the last five, and was the northern California Coach of the Year in 1968.

Paul Brechler, 59, resigned as Cal's athletic director last Sept. 15. The resignation came a week after the National Collegiate Athletic Association placed the university on probation that could last through the 1973-74 school year.

Brechler said he had been considering the move for a year but waited until the NCAA made its ruling.

Maggard, 32, coached the Bears to the NCAA track championship in 1970. But the title was taken away when the NCAA declared that Isaac Curtis, a sprinter, had failed to take a required entrance examination and should have been declared ineligible by Cal.

Muck Set To Enter Handball Tourney

By STEVE GILLISPIE
Star Sports Writer

Lincoln is going big time for the first time — in handball.

The Central YMCA will host the first annual Runza Open Handball Tournament this weekend. Players from six states including Terry Muck, one of the top players in the country, is entered.

Muck was the third-rated player in 1970 and No. 6 last year.

The St. Paul, Minn., competitor is no stranger to some Nebraskans as he recently won the Omaha Open. His biggest career win came last year when he defeated No. 1-ranked Paul Haber for the New York Athletic Club Invitational championship.

The 5-6, 140-pounder, who is also a former national collegiate champ, will be challenged by four state titlists and 27 other players.

Joel Levy, a two-time Kentucky champ, Iowa winner Bill Bauerly, Nebraska champ Rich Hill of Omaha and Colorado champ Lee Wretlind are top challengers.

There is also top-flight competition in the doubles division including Larry Wood and Glen Blue, ranked in the country's top 20 and Curt Creed and Ron Wenger, who have won the Oklahoma City Open the past two years.

Competition will begin at 6 p.m. Friday with the first round of the singles. Saturday's schedule has the doubles first round at 9 a.m., singles quarterfinals at noon, doubles quarterfinals at 3 p.m., and doubles semifinals at 4:30.

On Sunday, the singles semis held at 11 a.m. with the double finals at 1 p.m. and singles finals at 2:30.

Trophies will be awarded for the first three places in both singles and doubles. Lincoln businessman Don Everett, is sponsoring the meet.

Mead Still Leading Class D Rankings

By VIRGIL PARKER
Prep Sports Writer

The Class D high school basketball top ten ratings show more stability near the top of the list than the other divisions this week, but farther down the rankings some drastic reshuffling became necessary.

Mead, Palmer, Yutan and Adams claim the first four spots, just as they did a week ago.

But then Venango, fifth last time, drops clear off the list after losing to unranked Madrid Wheatland. Sidney St. Patrick takes advantage of Venango's misfortune to move up from sixth to fifth.

Then come another casualty. Trenton, winner of its first five, stumbled to unrated Culbertson. Thus Bartlett, eighth a week ago, finds itself all the way up to sixth.

Davenport and Clarks, No. 9 and 10 last time, also had trouble during the past week and are replaced.

That means the final four places are all occupied by newcomers. Niobrara, loser only to Class C Orchard, gets the No. 7 call, followed by Silver Creek, which has lost only to No. 2 Palmer and Class C Osceola.

Chester-Hubbell, which gained the finals of the Pioneer Conference tournament last week, recording a win over previously ninth-ranked Davenport along the way, gets that spot.

Then comes Falls City Sacred Heart, a finalist in the Southeast Border tournament last week. That tourney class B Tecumseh, defending state Class C champion Pawnee City and Class C teams from Johnson-Brock, Humboldt, Nebraska City Lourdes and Southeast Consolidated — pretty fast company for a Class D quintet.

Yet Sacred Heart gained the finals before bowing out and is rewarded with the No. 10 spot in the small-school top ten ratings.

None of the top ten members can feel secure or rest on past laurels, however, for a large number of challengers lurk in the wings.

One of the toughest trios to figure is Giltner, Hampton and Marquette. The former two have lost just once, both to Marquette, yet the latter has dropped one to Palmer — which doesn't hurt — but another to Clarks, which now falls by the wayside.

Table Rock, Byron, Shickley and Petersburg are among others closely pressing the leaders.

Fisher Named LCC Head Pro

Jerry Fisher, who has served two years as assistant golf pro to Bud Williamson at the Lincoln Country Club, has been appointed head pro.

Fisher, 27, is a Beatrice native and graduated from Hastings College with a business administration degree.

Two years in the Army and a 14-month hitch as head pro at Hastings' Meadowbrook Country Club preceded his assistantship at LCC.

Fisher, who received his PGA card in November, won the Nebraska assistant pro tournament last summer at Dodge Park in Council Bluffs, Iowa.

Western Tips NU Frosh

Scottsbluff (AP) — Nebraska Western remained undefeated in 13 starts by taking a 76-71 college basketball victory over the previously undefeated freshmen of Nebraska University Tuesday night.

Dale Hooks and Dave Renfro paced the Western offense, scoring 19 and 17 points respectively.

Kent Reckewey and Don Jackson scored 21 each for the young Cornhuskers, now 5-1 on the season.

The NU frosh trailed by one at the half, 33-34, and kept the contest close until the final buzzer.

UCLA's Wooden Says Frosh May Not Start

. . . BRUIN COACH INDICATES INEXPERIENCE

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Walter Hazzard, Gail Goodrich, Mike Warren, Freddie Goss, Keith Erickson—great neames in the history of UCLA basketball. But not one would have started as a freshmen if the NCAA had permitted it.

That's the view of the man who ought to know, Coach John Wooden, whose Bruin basketball team is, for the seventh week in succession this season, rated as the nation's best in The Associated Press poll.

Goodrich, now starring for the Los Angeles Lakers of the National Basketball Association, "just hadn't matured as a player when he was a freshman. In fact, he didn't start regularly as a sophomore," said Wooden.

The talk popped up because of the recent NCAA ruling that will permit freshmen to play on varsity football and basketball teams next year. Wooden said he didn't agree but wouldn't stand in the way.

"We'd be hurting ourselves if we didn't permit them to play," he said.

Of the five starters for Wooden's current team, three are sophomores. Wooden said probably none would have started a year ago if permitted. Center Bill Walton had knee problems, guard Greg Lee was inexperienced and forward Keith Wilkes, at 17, was simply too young.

"I have long believed in abolishing all freshmen basketball programs. Coming out of high school into college is a difficult experience for many youngsters, without having the added pressure of freshman basketball to worry about," said Wooden.

Four Lead Probable Candidates

NEW YORK (AP) — Pitchers Sandy Koufax and Early Wynn, and sluggers Yogi Berra and Ralph Kiner were considered the most likely candidates to be elected into Baseball's Hall of Fame Wednesday, when the voting by the Baseball Writers Association of America is announced.

A player must be named on at least 75 per cent of the ballots returned. More than 400 ballots were sent out.

Koufax, the fireballing lefthander, pitched 12 seasons for the Brooklyn and Los Angeles Dodgers and won 165 games and lost 87 before an arthritic arm forced him to retire from the game at the age of 30 in 1966. He now is eligible for the first time under the rule which says that a player must be retired for five seasons before becoming eligible.

Among Koufax' great accomplishments were a record four no-hitters, including a perfect game.

Berra, a former New York Yankee catcher and now a New York Mets coach, fell 28 votes short last year. He had a .285 lifetime batting average and 358 home runs, most by a catcher.

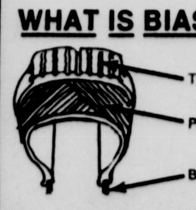
WHAT IS BIAS PLY?



The plies (cord fabric) of the tire are impregnated with rubber and overlap from one bead (wire ring) to the other at an angle (bias) ranging from 30 to 38 degrees. The tread rubber is then bonded (vulcanized) to the tire carcass.

RAIN CHECK: Should our supply of some sizes or lines run short during this event, we will honor any orders placed now for future delivery at the advertised price.

Curry Gains Recognition As Player Of Week

. . . JABLONSKI, WESTOVER GET MENTION

By VIRGIL PARKER
Prep Sports Writer

Jim Curry and his Holbrook Hornet teammates faced a seemingly impossible task last Saturday night. They trailed Eustis by 17 points going into the final quarter.

But Curry, who paced the Hornets with 30 points for the game, led a final frame surge that accounted for 29 points during those last eight minutes of action and eventually led to a 90-85 overtime basketball victory.

For his hoop heroics, Curry gains recognition as Player of the Week.

Even more amazing than the 29-point total for the fourth quarter — while Eustis could muster but 12 — was the fact that Curry and his mates accounted for eight counters in the final 41 seconds to knot the count at 80-all at the end of regulation time.

Then came a 10-5 edge in the overtime period to account for the triumph.

Other players who had outstanding games over the past weekend and deserve special mention include:

Kelly Wallace, Benkelman — Set a school scoring record with 41 points in an 86-45 victory over Stratton.

Paul Jablonski, Lincoln Pius X — Tallied 31 points as the Thunderbolts topped previously top-ten rated Waverly, 85-76.

George Schroeder, Laurel — Also poured 31 points through the net in a convincing 62-41 victory over O'Neill St. Mary.

Bob Whitemore, Rising City — Had 13 of his game-high 25 points in the third quarter as Rising City pulled away to an 85-52 win over Bradshaw.

Jack Eberspacher, Centennial — Had 29 points and 14 rebounds in 59-49 triumph over Norris.

Tom Westover, Lincoln Northeast — Didn't miss a field goal attempt in one ten-minute stretch, had some important assists as well, while scoring 18 points in 58-45 victory over Lincoln High.

Mick Gausman, Chester-Hubbell — On an out-of-bounds play, with just one second showing on the clock, Gausman fired in the desperation shot to give Chester a 65-63 win over Davenport.

Pat Hodges, Lexington — This super soph had 22 points in crucial 74-65 triumph over Minden.

Bob Krueger, Winside — He ignited a rally that brought Winside from 10 points behind in the final quarter to a 55-54 win over Osmond.

Joel Schreier, Verdigre — Had 32 points, most of them in the fourth quarter when Verdigre scored 32 points, in pacing his club to a 76-64 victory over Atkinson West Holt.

NU Yell Squad Ranked Sixth In National Poll

Overland Park, Kan. — Nebraska's pom pon girls, the Huskers' cheerleading corps, have been ranked sixth nationally by the International Cheerleading Foundation, Inc.

Notre Dame's co-ed cheerleaders were named No. 1, replacing UCLA, which for the first time in five years dropped to second.

The top 10:

1. Notre Dame, 2. UCLA, 3. Georgia, 4. Kansas, 5. Ohio State, 6. Nebraska, 7. Texas, 8. Tennessee, 9. Penn State, 10. Florida.

Commission Starts Random Survey Among Hunters

Hunters across Nebraska are now receiving questionnaires from the Game and Parks Commission seeking information on how gunners fared during the 1971-72 seasons.

Sent to a random 5 percent small-game permit holders, the survey will give Game Commission biologists some idea of total harvest, the number of days hunters spent in the field, the species they pursued, and other vital information.

By cooperating with a prompt, accurate response, hunters receiving the cards will aid Commission biologists in obtaining information valuable in game mangement.

Another survey, aimed at quail hunters, will also begin yielding information soon. A select group of avid bobwhite hunters have been keeping a diary of their hunt this year and have been saving wings from the birds they bagged. The wings reveal the sex and age composition of the season's quail harvest. Quail wings and the accompanying data should be sent to the Game and Parks Commission as soon as the season is over.

Entry Deadline For Gals' Tourney Extended

Grand Island (AP) — The deadline for entries in the 35th annual Nebraska Women's Bowling Association Tournament has been extended to Jan. 31, association secretary Opal Wall of Grand Island has announced.

The entry deadline had been scheduled for Jan. 16.

The tournament will be held for the first time in 12 years in western Nebraska, at both Kimball and Sidney. Scottsbluff hosted the 1960 tourney.

The tourney opens at both Kimball and Sidney the weekend of Feb. 26-27 and will run on weekends through April 29-30. Team competition will be held at Kimball and Sidney will have the doubles and singles competition.

Entry information is available at most Nebraska bowling establishments.

Gophers' New Slogan: 'Let's Roll With Stoll'

Minneapolis, Minn. (AP) — The Minnesota Gophers have come up with a new slogan, "Let's roll with Stoll."

And new football coach Cal Stoll is rolling as fast as he can to make up lost ground in the race for high school seniors.

"We're starting much later than most," Stoll said Tuesday. "We're way behind. But we're just going to have to run faster to catch up."

Stoll, 48, was named Gopher coach Jan. 11 to succeed Murray Warmath, who was reassigned in the athletic department.

"We're snowed under with work," said Stoll, who resigned as Wake Forest coach to return to his alma mater. "Right now recruiting and putting together my staff is what I'm most concerned with. Recruiting is the No. 1 priority. My people hit the road this morning."

Recruiting takes added significance this year. Freshmen will be eligible to play on the varsity for the first time next fall under a new NCAA regulation that was approved Sunday by Big Ten officials.

Stoll said it is unlikely that many freshmen will make the Gopher varsity, but has also noted, "I have seen a few 18-year-olds who could step right in."

Stoll is charged with rebuilding Minnesota's football program marked by three straight losing seasons. He begins with 26 lettermen.

Evaluating current members of the varsity is also on Stoll's busy agenda.

The Page, N.D., native who played for the Gophers in 1948-49 has now named six of his eight assistants.

Added to the staff Tuesday was Dick Moseley, 38, who last fall was defensive coordinator at Wichita State after four seasons as offensive coordinator at Eastern Michigan.

Roger French and Butch Nash were retained from Warmath's staff; Ron Stark and Norm Parker joined Stoll from Wake Forest, and Tom Moore, a Rochester native, comes from Georgia Tech.

Stoll is on a five-year contract starting with a $28,300 annual salary.

Dowden Leads Burwood Tourney

Beatrice — Weldon Dowden of Beatrice with a scratch series of 655 and 57 handicap pins for a 712 total took over the singles lead after the second weekend of the 28th annual Burwood Bowling Tournament at the Tonka Lanes here.

The leaders:

Single Lincolnite Claims Top Spot In Skating Meet

Only one Lincoln entry, Mark Willhoft, claimed a first place Sunday in Mid American Speed Skating League competition at the Holiday Skating Center.

Willhoft won the Juvenile C boys competition, an event in which teammate Dave Howard placed third.

Runnerup finishes by Lincoln skaters included those by Greg Parizek (juvenile A boys); Leslie Durbin (juvenile C girls), Parizek and Regan Kitchen in the two-boy relay and Parizek, Kitchen, Randy Curry and Jeff Hatcher in the juvenile boys relay.

Next competition for the Lincoln skaters will be at Salina, Kan.

Riley Dies; Former Deputy Commissioner

Omaha (AP) — Former deputy state athletic commissioner of Nebraska Jerry M. Riley died Monday. He was 34.

A 1960 graduate of Creighton University, Riley held the commission post from 1961 through 1966.

A junior high school teacher in the Council Bluffs School System, he was previously head basketball coach and an assistant coach at St. Joseph High School in Omaha.

Funeral services will be held at 10 a.m. Thursday at St. Thomas More Church.

Survivors include his wife Ann and his son, Sean.

UCLA Still Holds First In Ratings

Compiled from News Wires

Mighty UCLA, showing no signs of weakness, collected 75 of 76 first place votes Tuesday in the weekly wire service college basketball polls.

The Bruins were a unanimous choice in the United Press International poll of coaches and claimed 40 of the 41 Associated Press first place votes.

Marquette, like UCLA boasting a 12-0 record, got the only vote UCLA missed in the AP poll.

Coach Al McGuire's Warriors are a solid second in the two polls with once-beaten North Carolina third.

Missouri, boasting the best record in the Big Eight, shares 18th place in the UPI poll but has dropped out of the AP top 20 after losing on the road to Oklahoma.

Not Again! Nixon 'Jabbed' By City Council

Dallas (AP) — President Nixon is getting another jab from Dallas for his advice to the Miami Dolphins on football strategy.

Though not made a part of the official city records, Mayor Wes Wise and the City Council signed a document giving Nixon "a special award for outstanding assistance to Dallas Cowboy football fans through the giving of advice to that 'other team' " and naming Nixon "assistant coach of the year."

"I hope he takes this in the right spirit," commented Wise.

Nixon received the Dallas "Bonehead of the Year" award last week for giving the Dolphins a play to use against the Cowboys in the Super Bowl.

O'Donnell Transfers To Kearney State

Hastings (AP) — Jeff O'Donnell, a freshman at Doane College and previous basketball star at Hastings High School, is transferring to Kearney State College in hopes of being able to play.

O'Donnell led Hastings High School scoring two years ago and was second last year. He said he hadn't been playing at Doane.

Hadl Named Man Of Year

Canton, Ohio (AP) — John Hadl, quarterback of the San Diego Chargers, has been named the National Football League's "Man of the Year" because of his contributions toward civic affairs.

Hadl, a 10-year veteran, has lived in San Diego since he joined the club as No. 3 draft choice out of Kansas in 1962. He presently is assisting the Pauma Valley Indian Reservation development program and has always ben active in boys' club work and other youth activities.

The award, sponsored by Vitalis and coordinated by the Pro Football Hall of Fame, will set up a $25,000 scholarship fund in Hadl's name for the benefit of students from the San Diego area. In addition, Hadl geets a 1972 luxury car and a trophy.

Bluejay Guard Felled By Mononucleosis

Omaha (UPI) — Jim "Bimbo" Pietro, a starting guard for the Creighton basketball team, has been sidelined by mononucleosis and will miss at least the next three games, it was announced Tuesday.

The 5-11 sophomore is from Pittsburgh, Pa.

Olympic Contributions Mount

New York (AP) — Contributions to the United States Olympic Committee are "rolling in like crazy," according to the USOC's Bob Paul.

"Our funds over the last four years have been rolling in here faster than ever before," Paul declared Tuesday. The USOC set a goal of $10 million after the 1968 Olympics and 'As of two months ago, it looked like we would attain it," Paul said. "Of course, big things can happen between now and September."

Paul said recent statements by Avery Brundage, president of the International Olympic Committee, denouncing professionalism among many of the world's top skiers had no effect on the flow of contributions.

"Nobody is concerned about what Brundage says, because we don't have any professionals," Paul declared.

Brundage's statements have had their effect in Canada, however. The Canadian Olympic team is government supported, but the national team, which depends on contributions, is well short of its goal.

"I lay the blame squarely on Avery Brundage's shoulders," stated Donald Crawford, fund raising chairman of the Canadian Ski Association. "He has given the image of professionalism to world skiers and it's hurting the entire sport."

Brundage has reportedly prepared a blacklist, said to include about 40 of the world's premier skiers, of skiers whom he considers too commercial. In addition, he has threatened to expel from the Winter Olympics any nation which enters a skier who is on the list.

And new football coach Cal Stoll is rolling as fast as he can to make up lost ground in the race for high school seniors.

"We're starting much later than most," Stoll said Tuesday. "We're way behind. But we're just going to have to run faster to catch up."

Stoll, 48, was named Gopher coach Jan. 11 to succeed Murray Warmath, who was reassigned in the athletic department

"We're snowed under with work," said Stoll, who resigned as Wake Forest coach to return to his alma mater. "Right now recruiting and putting together my staff is what I'm most concerned with. Recruiting is the No. 1 priority. My people hit the road this morning."

Recruiting takes added significance this year. Freshmen will be eligible to play on the varsity for the first time next fall under a new NCAA regulation that was approved Sunday by Big Ten officials

Stoll said it is unlikely that many freshmen will make the Gopher varsity, but has also noted, "I have seen a few 18-year-olds who could step right in."

Stoll is charged with rebuilding Minnesota's football program marked by three straight losing seasons. He begins with 26 lettermen.

Evaluating current members of the varsity is also on Stoll's busy agenda.

The Page, N.D., native who played for the Gophers in 1948-49 has now named six of his eight assistants.

Added to the staff Tuesday was Dick Moseley, 38, who last fall was defensive coordinator at Wichita State after four seasons as offensive coordinator at Eastern Michigan.

Roger French and Butch Nash were retained from Warmath's staff; Ron Stark and Norm Parker joined Stoll from Wake Forest, and Tom Moore, a Rochester native, comes from Georgia Tech.

Stoll is on a five-year contract starting with a $28,300 annual salary.

NU Yell Squad Ranked Sixth In National Poll

Overland Park, Kan — Nebraska's pom pon girls, the Huskers' cheerleading corps, have been ranked sixth nationally by the International Cheerleading Foundation, Inc

Notre Dame's co-ed cheerleaders were named No 1, replacing UCLA, which for the first time in five years dropped to second.

The top 10:

1 Notre Dame 2 UCLA 3 Georgia, Kansas, 5 Ohio State, 6 Nebraska, Texas, 8 Tennessee, 9 Penn State, Florida

Commission Starts Random Survey Among Hunters

Hunters across Nebraska are now receiving questionnaires from the Game and Parks Commission seeking information on how gunners fared during the 1971-72 seasons.

Sent to a random 5 percent small-game permit holders, the survey will give Game Commission biologists some idea of total harvest, the number of days hunters spent in the field, the species they pursued, and other vital information.

By cooperating with a prompt, accurate response, hunters receiving the cards will aid Commission biologists in obtaining information valuable to game mangement.

Another survey, aimed at quail hunters, will also begin shortly. A select group of avid bobwhite hunters have been keeping a diary of their hunt this year and have been saving wings from the birds they bagged. The wings reveal the sex and age composition of the season's quail harvest. Quail wings and the accompanying data should be sent to the Game and Parks Commission as soon as the season is over.

Entry Deadline For Gals' Tourney Extended

Grand Island (AP) — The deadline for entries in the 35th annual Nebraska Women's Bowling Association Tournament has been extended to Jan. , association secretary Opal Hall of Grand Island has announced.

The entry deadline had been scheduled for Jan. 16.

The tournament will be held for the first time in 12 years in Western Nebraska, at both Kimball and Sidney. Scottsbluff hosted the 1960 tourney.

The tourney opens at both Kimball and Sidney the weekend of Feb. 26-27 and will run on weekends through April 30. Team competition will be held at Kimball and Sidney will have the doubles and singles competition.

Entry information is available at most Nebraska bowling establishments.

Single Lincolnite Claims Top Spot In Skating Meet

Only one Lincoln entry, Mark Willhoft, claimed a first place Sunday in Mid American Speed Skating League competition at the Holiday Skating Center.

Willhoft won the Juvenile C boys competition, an event in which teammate Dave Howard placed third.

Runnerup finishes by Lincoln skaters included those by Greg Parizek (juvenile A boys); Leslie Durbin (juvenile C girls), Parizek and Regan Kitchen in the two-boy relay and Parizek, Kitchen, Randy Curry and Jeff Hatcher in the juvenile boys relay.

Next competition for the Lincoln skaters will be at Salina, Kan.

Riley Dies; Former Deputy Commissioner

Omaha (AP) — Former deputy state athletic commissioner of Nebraska Jerry M. Riley died Monday. He was 34.

A 1960 graduate of Creighton University, Riley held the commission post from 1961 through 1966.

A junior high school teacher in the Council Bluffs School System, he was previously head basketball coach and an assistant coach at St. Joseph High School in Omaha.

Funeral services will be held at 10 a.m. Thursday at St. Thomas More Church.

Survivors include his wife Ann and his son, Sean.

UCLA Still Holds First In Ratings

Compiled from News Wires

Mighty UCLA, showing no signs of weakness, collected 75 of 76 first place votes Tuesday in the weekly wire service college basketball polls.

The Bruins were a unanimous choice in the United Press International poll of coaches and claimed 40 of the 41 Associated Press first place votes.

Marquette, like UCLA boasting a 12-0 record, got the only vote UCLA missed in the AP poll.

Coach Al McGuire's Warriors are a solid second in the two polls with once-beaten North Carolina third.

Missouri, boasting the best record in the Big Eight, shares 18th place in the UPI poll but has dropped out of the AP top 20 after losing on the road to Oklahoma.

Not Again! Nixon 'Jabbed' By City Council

Dallas (AP)— President Nixon is getting another jab from Dallas for his advice to the Miami Dolphins on football strategy.

Though not made a part of the official city records, Mayor Wes Wise and the City Council signed a document giving Nixon "a special award for outstanding assistance to Dallas Cowboy football fans through the giving of advice to that 'other team'" and naming Nixon "assistant coach of the year"

"I hope he takes this in the right spirit," commented Wise.

Nixon received the Dallas "Bonehead of the Year" award last week for giving the Dolphins a play to use against the Cowboys in the Super Bowl.

O'Donnell Transfers To Kearney State

Hastings (AP) — Jeff O'Donnell, a freshman at Doane College and previous basketball star at Hastings High School, is transferring to Kearney State College in hopes of being able to play.

O'Donnell led Hastings High School scoring two years ago and was second last year. He said he hadn't been playing at Doane.

Hadl Named Man Of Year

Canton, Ohio (AP) — John Hadl, quarterback of the San Diego Chargers, has been named the National Football League's "Man of the Year" because of his contributions toward civic affairs.

Hadl, a 10-year veteran, has lived in San Diego since he joined the club as No. 3 draft choice out of Kansas in 1962. He presently is assisting the Pauma Valley Indian Reservation development program and has always ben active in boys' club work and other youth activities.

The award, sponsored by Vitalis and coordinated by the Pro Football Hall of Fame, will set up a $25,000 scholarship fund in Hadl's name for the benefit of students from the San Diego area. In addition, Hadl geets a 1972 luxury car and a trophy.

Bluejay Guard Felled By Mononucleosis

Omaha (UPI) — Jim "Bimbo" Pietro, a starting guard for the Creighton basketball team, has been sidelined by mononucleosis and will miss at least the next three games, it was announced Tuesday.

The 5-11 sophomore is from Pittsburgh, Pa.

Olympic Contributions Mount

New York (AP) — Contributions to the United States Olympic Committee are "rolling in like crazy," according to the USOC's Bob Paul.

"Our funds over the last four years have been rolling in here faster than ever before," Paul declared Tuesday. The USOC set a goal of $10 million after the 1968 Olympics and 'As of two months ago, it looked like we would attain it," Paul said. "Of course, big things can happen between now and September."

Paul said recent statements by Avery Brundage, president of the International Olympic Committee, denouncing professionalism among many of the world's top skiers had no effect on the flow of contributions

"Nobody is concerned about what Brundage says, because we don't have any professionals," Paul declared.

Brundage's statements have had their effect in Canada, however. The Canadian Olympic team is government supported, but the national team, which depends on contributions, is well short of its goal.

"I lay the blame squarely on Avery Brundage's shoulders," stated Donald Crawford, fund raising chairman of the Canadian Ski Association. "He has given the image of professionalism to world skiers and it's hurting the entire sport."

Brundage has reportedly prepared a blacklist, said to include about 40 of the world's premier skiers, of skiers whom he considers too commercial. In addition, he has threatened to expel from the Winter Olympics any nation which enters a skier who is on the list.

UCLA's Wooden Says Frosh May Not Start

. . . BRUIN COACH INDICATES INEXPERIENCE

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Walter Hazzard, Gail Goodrich, Mike Warren, Freddie Goss, Keith Erickson—great neames in the history of UCLA basketball. But not one would have started as a freshmen if the NCAA had permitted it.

That's the view of the man who ought to know, Coach John Wooden, whose Bruin basketball team is, for the seventh week in succession this season, rated as the nation's best in The Associated Press poll.

Goodrich, now starring for the Los Angeles Lakers of the National Basketball Association, "just hadn't matured as a player when he was a freshman. In fact, he didn't start regularly as a sophomore," said Wooden.

The talk popped up because of the recent NCAA ruling that will permit freshmen to play on varsity football and basketball teams next year. Wooden said he didn't agree but wouldn't stand in the way.

"We'd be hurting ourselves if we didn't permit them to play," he said.

Of the five starters for Wooden's current team, three are sophomores. Wooden said probably none would have started a year ago if permitted. Center Bill Walton had knee problems, guard Greg Lee was inexperienced and forward Keith Wilkes, at 17, was simply too young.

"I have long believed in abolishing all freshmen basketball programs. Coming out of high school into college is a difficult experience for many youngsters, without having the added pressure of freshman basketball to worry about," said Wooden.

Four Lead Probable Candidates

NEW YORK (AP) — Pitchers Sandy Koufax and Early Wynn, and sluggers Yogi Berra and Ralph Kiner were considered the most likely candidates to be elected into Baseball's Hall of Fame Wednesday, when the voting by the Baseball Writers Association of America is announced.

A player must be named on at least 75 per cent of the ballots returned. More than 400 ballots were sent out.

Koufax, the fireballing lefthander, pitched 12 seasons for the Brooklyn and Los Angeles Dodgers and won 165 games and lost 87 before an arthritic arm forced him to retire from the game at the age of 30 in 1966. He now is eligible for the first time under the rule which says that a player must be retired for five seasons before becoming eligible.

Among Koufax' great accomplishments were a record four no-hitters, including a perfect game.

Berra, a former New York Yankee catcher and now a New York Mets coach, fell 28 votes short last year. He had a .285 lifetime batting average and 358 home runs, most by a catcher.

Natural Resource Program Kill Motion Handed Defeat

By United Press International

The Nebraska Legislature Tuesday indicated its support of the controversial natural resource district program by rejecting a bill to repeal it.

The bill up for first round consideration, LB117, was introduced by Sen. J. James Waldron of Callaway during last year's session.

The measure would have repealed the controversial law, originally passed by the 1969 Legislature. Waldron said adoption of the repealer bill could lead to a new approach to the problems.

Can't Start Over

But Sen. Gerald Stromer of Kearney, saying the concept of the program "cannot be postponed and we cannot start over," introduced the kill motion.

The Legislature adopted his motion on a 27-17 count.

Waldron, in arguing for repeal of the resource district act, said there were a number of defects, despite a series of bills introduced last year to overhaul the original act.

By repealing the law, he said, it "doesn't necessarily mean the end of soil and water conservation" efforts, but a chance to start with a clean slate.

Waldron told the lawmakers those who believe the 1969 law, even with its amendments" is the "savior" to the state are "very foolish."

Support Lagging

The law, he said, "is not the only possible plan" to meet conservation needs. He also said, in view of a bill recently given endorsement to limit the mill levy for the districts to one mill, the people are "unwilling to fund the program" to the degree necessary for success.

Sen. Jules Burbach of Crofton, author of the amendments introduced last year to overhaul the program, said the original law was not considered the ultimate answer. He also said more charges would probably be made.

But, said the lawmaker, with the addition of the suggested changes "the conclusion has been reached we are on firm ground."

Sen. Maurice Kremer of Aurora told the lawmakers approval of the Waldron repealer bill would send "years of work down the drain."

'Really Don't Know'

"I really don't know what we could do better" by trying a program, he added.

The problem of taxation was also mentioned by Sen. Ramey C. Whitney of Chappell, who said he supported repeal of the law "for one reason — feel the property taxes are high enough" now.

Sen. David Stahmer of Omaha replied, however, "if there is any instance where a tax is not unjust . . . it's this one." He said the program involves "the very substances of land and water."

Here is the vote of the lawmakers on the motion to kill the natural resource district repealer bill:

For (27): Barnett, Burbach, DeCamp, Elrod, Epke, Hasebroock, Johnson, Keyes, Kime, Kokes, Kremer, Luedtke, Maresh, Marvel, Moylan, Orme, Pfister, Savage, Simpson, Skarda, Snyder, Stahmer, Stromer, Swanson, Syas, Waldo, Ziebarth.

Against (17): Carpenter, Carsten, Clark, Craft, Duis, Goodrich, Holmquist, Kennedy, Klaver, Mahoney, Morgan, Schmit, Stull, Waldron, Warner, Whitney, Wiltse.

Not Voting (5): Carstens, Chambers, Lewis, Nore, Proud.

Solons May Consider Curb On Agency Powers

It appeared Tuesday the Legislature would consider this year the powers of state agencies to adopt rules and regulations related to laws passed by the Unicameral.

The indication came about when Sen. C. W. Holmquist of Oakland asked that his bill, LB373, which would require a legislative review of all rules and regulations, be withdrawn.

He said it didn't appear to him the lawmakers were willing to consider the matter.

But the move drew objections and ultimately Holmquist decided to leave the bill on the board.

Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff said the matter should be looked into, but said he didn't know whether the Legislature would have the time this year.

However, he said, it has been his own feeling lawmaking should be left to the Legislature and not to the agencies by giving them unlimited authority to set up rules and regulations.

"That's the sole right of this body — to make laws," he said, "and delegate only nominal responsibilities to the agencies."

Sen. John DeCamp of Neligh said it appeared to him the state has "two separate legislative bodies . . . this Legislature and the individual agencies."

"We've got to get some controls somehow," he said, and asked that those interested get together and work out a comprehensive bill by amending the Holmquist measure.

Sen. Cal Carsten of Avoca said under the present system, the governor has the authority to review rules and regulations adopted by the agencies.

But, he said, "the governor never gets blamed" for faulty rules and regulations.

"The Legislature does," he added.

Holmquist, in withdrawing his request to drop the bill from legislative consideration, said it would "tickle me pink" to take the matter up this year.

Measure Heard Clarifying Status Of Renters' Security Payments

By The Associated Press

The Legislature's Banking and Insurance Committee Tuesday heard and held a measure said by its sponsor to be the answer to a sometimes thorny problem between landlords and tenants.

Sen. Wally Barnett of Lincoln said his LB1097 was designed to clarify the status of security put down by persons wishing to rent an apartment or home.

Barnett said the payments are used as damage deposits in some cases.

Oftentimes, he told the committee, tenants have a difficult time in receiving their deposits after the lease is ended.

The measure would provide that a landlord must surrender the deposit within one month after the termination of the lease or stand liable for three times the amount of the deposit if the tenant takes the case to court.

"This doesn't hurt either the landlord or the tenant," Barnett told the committee. "It's just designed to protect tenants from the few persons who use such practices."

Nebraska Real Estate Commission Director Paul Quinlan also spoke in favor of the measure, saying the commission monthly receives "more calls about matters related to this problem than about anything else."

Nevertheless, he said, the commission has no authority to act.

"This bill doesn't say anything that probably, on the part of completely responsible people, isn't now being done," Quinlan told the committee.

Quinlan said the problem is national in scope and explained Barnett's bill is patterned after an existing Colorado law.

Warehoused-Goods Tax Plan Draws Opposition

By The Associated Press

Warehousemen and manufacturers lined up in force before the Legislature's revenue committee Tuesday afternoon to oppose a bill which would put certain warehouse-stored merchandise on the property tax rolls.

The committee adjourned without taking action on the measure, DeWitt Sen. Willard Waldo's LB1135.

Two other bills also were aired but held for later disposition. One was Lincoln Sen. Harold D. Simpson's LB1138, requiring warehousemen to furnish evidence of the status of stored goods for tax purposes.

Only Witness

Waldo was the only witness appearing in support of LB1135, which would erase from the books a law which states that merchandise stored in Nebraska and destined for shipment to another state shall be exempt from property taxation.

Waldo contended that if cattle in feedlots, destined for eventual shipment outside the state, are to be taxed with other personal property on Jan. 1, the principle should apply also to warehouse merchandise.

The amount of tax money at issue was not reported, but a representative of the New Holland Farm Machinery Manufacturing plant in Grand Island said that firm's inventory tax bill of $57,698 last year would have been increased by $120,000 under LB1135.

A Unique Position

Lincoln tax consultant Fred Herrington, former state tax commissioner, said the effects of LB1135 would be to empty all warehouses and bring in no additional tax money. Nebraska would be the only state among those bordering it to deny such exemption, he said.

State Tax Commissioner William Peters, appearing in opposition to the bill, said it would be inconsistent to place warehouse goods on tax rolls at a time when the Legislature is contemplating partial exemption of other personal property such as business inventories and equipment, and farm equipment and livestock.

Warehousemen and manufacturers also opposed Sen. Simpson's LB1138.

The third bill heard, Valentine Sen. Otho G. Kime's LB1153, drew no opposition. It would exempt from sales taxes the purchases made by irrigation districts.

State Tourism Program Bill Returned To File

By United Press International

The Legislature decided to recall a bill to set up a state tourism program Tuesday and give it back its financial footing.

LB650 was returned to general file by the lawmakers to consider a proposal by Omaha Sen. Duke Snyder to reinsert in the measure a one percent levy on motel and hotel room rents for tourism promotion.

The funding procedure had been amended out of the bill during the 1971 session, but a 22-18 vote by the lawmakers reversed the earlier action.

The bill, which would set up a state travel and tourism promotion fund and the mechanics for administrating the fund, was discussed at length during the Monday session, but the lawmakers had adjourned without taking any action.

'Worthless Without Tax'

Arguing for his proposal, Snyder said the entire proposal was worthless without the tax. "If we're going to kill it, let's put it out here where everyone can read about it," he said.

But Omaha Sen. Eugene Mahoney, who led the fight last year to drop the motel tax from LB650, argued the levy would end up taxing Nebraskans more than out-staters.

Sen. John DeCamp of Neligh said Nebraskans make up as much as 70% of those who use the state's motels and hotels, but that figure was disputed by Lincoln Sen. Roland Luedtke.

He said the figures DeCamp was referring to were taken from the information of one Lincoln hotel during the Legislature's 1971 session.

'Got To Get Money'

"We've got to get the money somewhere," said Sen. Rudolf C. Kokes of Ord, "and this is the least painful tax we could vote in."

A detailed amendment was proposed by Scottsbluff Sen. Terry Carpenter which basically left the structure for the program the same but deleted the taxing provision and provided an initial state appropriation of $150,000.

The amendment was inserted in the record and held over for later discussion at its sponsor's request.

Proponents of the tax provision have estimated the levy could raise $500,000 annually for the promoton fund.

Death Of Youth Believed Suicide

Clearwater (UPI) — A 19-year-old Clearwater youth was found dead in his car Tuesday morning about four miles northeast of Clearwater.

Authorities identified the youth as Martin Lee Sucka, who apparently died of a self-inflicted gunshot wound.

He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Sucka of Clearwater.

Bill Would Make Sabotaging Halloween Treats A Felony

By United Press International

The Nebraska Legislature's Public Health Committee unanimously advanced a bill Tuesday which would trade Halloween treaters trick for trick.

The bill, LB1126, would impose a 2- to 10-year state prison term on any person "who knowingly furnishes any food containing . . . harmful objects."

The bill, which would make such incidents a felony crime, was introduced by Sen. Gerald Stromer of Kearney.

He told the committee it was a "sad commentary" to say "certain people get their kicks" from spoiling Halloween by handing out treats with razor blades, pins or needles in them.

The committee asked if there was an existing statute which covers such situation. Stromer said "nothing that is absolutely clear."

And 17-year-old James Warner of Waverly, son of State Sen. Jerome Warner, told the committee he asked that same question of the Omaha Police Department.

The reply, he said, was that possibly "felonious assault" could be stretched to cover the incidents, but the department spokesman said he wasn't really sure about that.

"It is very hard to trace these things down in the first place," he said, "but when they are there should be some definite penalty."

The committee also advanced a bill, LB1156, which would drop the requirement that at least one-third of the Nebraska Blue Cross board members be hospital administrators.

Sen. Loran Schmit of David City, the bill's sponsor, said the same person who works on setting hospital rates should not be required to sit on the Blue Cross board, which works for lower rates.

State Insurance Director Samuel VanPelt said the bill's adoption would ultimately allow for more public participation on the board and also said it could lead to lower health care costs.

Held in committee was a measure, LB1124, which would allow municipal governments to make gifts to non-profit organizations set up to run hospitals.

City of Wayne attorney John Addison told the committee the bill would allow the transfer of funds in that city to a new non-profit group.

He said specifically, it would allow the transfer of monies collected through taxation to run the city hospital, being phased out, over to the new facility.

Attorney General's Opinion Sought On Aid To Private College Students

By BOB GUENTHER
Star Staff Writer

Spokesman for ten Nebraska private colleges Tuesday compared the fate of their institutions to the bald eagle's possible extinction — that is, unless a tuition grant program is made available to their students.

However, the constitutional quandry over church-state separation remained unanswered, so the Legislature's Education Committee unanimously voted to hold LB1171 pending an attorney general's opinion.

Under the bill's terms, tuition grands (possibly $1 million the first year) would be given on a financial need basis to resident, full-time undergraduates attending accredited colleges. The grant's amount would be the difference between the private college's tuition and the average tuition for two terms at the University of Nebraska.

Doane College President Philip Heckman pointed to a "cost-gap problem" between private and public facilities as the reason the independent schools are "sliding from the scene like the bald eagle."

Heckman supplied figures to the committee showing that in 1931 private colleges cost on the average $230 more than public-supported schools.

However, next year, the tuition differential average should reach $2,000 per year, he said...

Consequently, Heckman said, there has been "a flow away from the private sector resulting in empty beds and classrooms." The Doane president said the ten colleges could serve 3,700 more students than they currently have enrolled.

This is in spite of the fact that the ten schools have doubled their total enrollment over the past 6 years from 6,000 to 12,000, he stated.

The enrollment lag, Heckman said, has also changed the complexion of the colleges' ledgers from black to red as have operational costs which, he said, have increased 86%.

"In 1969, the ten scholos were $460,000 in the black; in 1970, they were $810,000 in the red," he said.

Heckman said the ten colleges are saving the taxpayers an estimated $12 million annually and account for 26% of Nebraska's college students.

Dana College President Earl Mezoff testified how a program has worked in Iowa since 1969.

During 1969-70, $1.5 million was given in grants to 2,166 students, or about $732 per student. In 1970-71 the amount was doubled, and 3,536 students got an average of $860 each. For 1972 biennium, the grant level is expected to be increased by one-third, he reported.

In the presence of some 65 bill supporters, NSEA representative John Lynch was the lone person speaking in opposition.

Lynch testified that Nebraska's restrictive constitution makes such funding impossible.

However, Lincoln Sen. Roland Luedtke testified that he thought the bill was constitutional because the benefits are going to the student, not the private institution.

The committee, in other action, killed a bill, LB1165, on a 6 to 2 vote which would have limited Educational Service Units to budgets generated by the one mill levy and no more.

Light Bulb Is 71 Years Old

Livermore, Calif. (UPI) — An lectric lamp bulb at the Livermore fire department doesn't give much light, but it may be the longest lived in the world. The bulb, handblown and carrying no manufacturer's marking, was given to the department in 1901 and firemen say that with brief interruptions it has been burning continuously ever since.

Inspection Program Faults Cited

By United Press International

The state motor vehicles inspection program must either be abolished or made better because the present system isn't doing the job, the Legislature was told Tuesday.

Omaha Sen. William Skarda made the remarks during discussion of a proposed resolution which would reject two recent changes in the program handed down by the State Department of Motor Vehicles.

The resolution, introduced by Sen. J. James Waldron of Callaway earlier this week, was referred to committee.

"You set up a program and you didn't fund it," Skarda told the lawmakers. "It's no good and we all agree. You either ought to abolish it or make it better."

Skarda was apparently referring to the state's diversion of half the funds collected through inspection fees to the general fund. Motor Vehicles Department Director John Kissack has contended a thorough inspection program cannot be administered unless the diverted money can be used to hire more inspectors and otherwise improve the program.

The Waldron resolution would reject two new inspection rules to require the replacement of safety glass with cracks longer than eight inches in the front passenger's area, and that one wheel and drum be removed to check brake linings and other mechanical parts...

Waldron argued the first requirement would require "hundreds and hundreds of people to go out and buy new windshields when there is no proof such a crack will diminish your vision or ability to drive your car."

He added the second change would pose a major enforcement problem, because many inspectors would not be able to remove and then replace the wheel properly, and few would want to do it anyway for the present $1.75 they receive per inspection.

"The inspectors will be down here asking for an increase in their fee, and the people themselves won't be very happy," he said.

Sen. Claire W. Holmquist of Oakland contended the new changes should never have been adopted because the Legislature has already gone over the inspection laws thoroughly.

"When the Department of Motor Vehicles lays down rules and regulations contrary to what the Legislature approved I think they're wrong," he said.

Bill Would Make Sabotaging Halloween Treats A Felony

By United Press International

The Nebraska Legislature's Public Health Committee unanimously advanced a bill Tuesday which would trade Halloween treaters trick for trick.

The bill, LB1126, would impose a 2- to 10-year state prison term on any person "who knowingly furnishes any food containing . . . harmful objects."

The bill, which would make such incidents a felony crime, was introduced by Sen. Gerald Stromer of Kearney.

He told the committee it was a "sad commentary" to say "certain people get their kicks" from spoiling Halloween by handing out treats with razor blades, pins or needles in them.

The committee asked if there was an existing statute which covers such situation. Stromer said "nothing that is absolutely clear."

And 17-year-old James Warner of Waverly, son of State Sen. Jerome Warner, told the committee he asked that same question of the Omaha Police Department.

The reply, he said, was that possibly "felonious assault" could be stretched to cover the incidents, but the department spokesman said he wasn't really sure about that.

"It is very hard to trace these things down in the first place," he said, "but when they are there should be some definite penalty."

The committee also advanced a bill, LB1156, which would drop the requirement that at least one-third of the Nebraska Blue Cross board members be hospital administrators.

Sen. Loran Schmit of David City, the bill's sponsor, said the same person who works on setting hospital rates should not be required to sit on the Blue Cross board, which works for lower rates

State Insurance Director Samuel VanPelt said the bill's adoption would ultimately allow for more public participation on the board and also said it could lead to lower health care costs.

Held in committee was a measure, LB1124, which would allow municipal governments to make gifts to non-profit organizations set up to run hospitals.

City of Wayne attorney John Addison told the committee the bill would allow the transfer of funds in that city to a new non-profit group.

He said specifically, it would allow the transfer of monies collected through taxation to run the city hospital, being phased out, over to the new facility.

Attorney General's Opinion Sought On Aid To Private College Students

By BOB GUENTHER
Star Staff Writer

Spokesman for ten Nebraska private colleges Tuesday compared the fate of their institutions to the bald eagle's possible extinction — that is, unless a tuition grant program is made available to their students.

However, the constitutional quandry over church-state separation remained unanswered, so the Legislature's Education Committee unanimously voted to hold LB1171 pending an attorney general's opinion.

Under the bill's terms, tuition grands (possibly $1 million the first year) would be given on a financial need basis to resident, full-time undergraduates attending accredited colleges. The grant's amount would be the difference between the private college's tuition and the average tuition for two terms at the University of Nebraska.

Doane College President Philip Heckman pointed to a "cost-gap problem" between private and public facilities as the reason the independent schools are "sliding from the scene like the bald eagle."

Heckman supplied figures to the committee showing that in 1931 private colleges cost on the average $230 more than public-supported schools.

However, next year, the tuition differential average should reach $2,000 per year, he said.

Consequently, Heckman said, there has been "a flow away from the private sector resulting in empty beds and classrooms." The Doane president said the ten colleges could serve 3,700 more students than they currently have enrolled.

This is in spite of the fact that the ten schools have doubled their total enrollment over the past 6 years from 6,000 to 12,000, he stated.

The enrollment lag, Heckman said, has also changed the complexion of the colleges' ledgers from black to red as have operational costs which, he said, have increased 86%.

"In 1969, the ten scholos were $460,000 in the black; in 1970, they were $810,000 in the red," he said.

Heckman said the ten colleges are saving the taxpayers an estimated $12 million annually and account for 26% of Nebraska's college students.

Dana College President Earl Mezoff testified how a program has worked in Iowa since 1969.

During 1969-70, $1.5 million was given in grants to 2,166 students, or about $732 per student. In 1970-71 the amount was doubled, and 3,536 students got an average of $860 each. For 1972 biennium, the grant level is expected to be increased by one-third, he reported.

In the presence of some 65 bill supporters, NSEA representative John Lynch was the lone person speaking in opposition.

Lynch testified that Nebraska's restrictive constitution makes such funding impossible.

However, Lincoln Sen. Roland Luedtke testified that he thought the bill was constitutional because the benefits are going to the student, not the private institution.

The committee, in other action, killed a bill, LB1165, on a 6 to 2 vote which would have limited Educational Service Units to budgets generated by the one mill levy and no more.

Light Bulb Is 71 Years Old

Livermore, Calif. (UPI) — An lectric lamp bulb at the Livermore fire department doesn't give much light, but it may be the longest lived in the world. The bulb, handblown and carrying no manufacturer's marking, was given to the department in 1901 and firemen say that with brief interruptions it has been burning continuously ever since.

Inspection Program Faults Cited

By United Press International

The state motor vehicles inspection program must either be abolished or made better because the present system isn't doing the job, the Legislature was told Tuesday

Omaha Sen. William Skarda made the remarks during discussion of a proposed resolution which would reject two recent changes in the program handed down by the State Department of Motor Vehicles.

The resolution, introduced by Sen J James Waldron of Callaway earlier this week, was referred to committee.

"You set up a program and you didn't fund it" Skarda told the lawmakers. "It's no good and we all agree. You either ought to abolish it or make it better."

Skarda was apparently referring to the state's diversion of half the funds collected through inspection fees to the general fund. Motor Vehicles Department Director John Kissack has contended a thorough inspection program cannot be administered unless the diverted money can be used to hire more inspectors and otherwise improve the program

The Waldron resolution would reject two new inspection rules to require the replacement of safety glass with cracks longer than eight inches in the front passenger's area, and that one wheel and drum be removed to check brake linings and other mechanical parts.

Waldron argued the first requirement would require "hundreds and hundreds of people to go out and buy new windshields when there is no proof such a crack will diminish your vision or ability to drive your car."

He added the second change would pose a major enforcement problem, because many inspectors would not be able to remove and then replace the wheel properly, and few would want to do it anyway for the present $1.75 they receive per inspection.

"The inspectors will be down here asking for an increase in their fee, and the people themselves won't be very happy," he said.

Sen. Claire W. Holmquist of Oakland contended the new changes should never have been adopted because the Legislature has already gone over the inspection laws thoroughly.

"When the Department of Motor Vehicles lays down rules and regulations contrary to what the Legislature approved I think they're wrong," he said.

Stocks Up In Active Trading

New York (AP) — Stock market prices churned ahead Tuesday, scoring moderate gains in very active trading.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials rose 6.10 to 917.22, extending Monday's gains when the blue-chip indicator tacked on nearly 4½ points.

Analysts said the market was responding to the continued influx of foreign funds, triggered by the recent realignment of international exchange rates.

Also, they pointed out that interest rates had been falling for the past several weeks, increasing the relative attractiveness of stocks as an investment vehicle.

Morgan Guaranty Trust's ¼% cut in its prime rate Tuesday, matching the reductions by some other large New York banks Friday and Monday, increased the likelihood that the 4¾% rate would stick. This may have prodded investors, brokers said.

Traders apparently ignored news stories of the West Coast dock strike and of President Nixon's reported plan to submit a record $247-billion budget to Congress for fiscal 1973. Brokers pointed out, however, that these developments might have moderated the market's gains.

Volume on the New York Stock Exchange totaled 21.07 million shares, compared with 15.86 million shares Monday.

Of the 1,752 stocks traded on the Big Board, 923 advanced, and 576 declined. There were 93 new highs and 5 new lows.

The Big Board index of some 1,300 common stocks gained 0.23 to 57.62.

The Associated Press 60-stock average rose 1.4 to 334.5, with industrials up 2.6, rails up 1.6, and utilities down 0.8.

Standard & Poor stock index was 104.05, up 0.35.

Rubber issues, mail order-retail, utilities, metals, and chemicals were mixed. All other categories were up.

A total of 146 blocks of 10,000 shares or more were traded on the Big Board, compared with a revised total of 96 Monday.

DPF was most-active on the New York Stock Exchange, rising ⅝ to 10. A block of 147,000 shares traded at 9¼, off 1/8.

On the American Stock Exchange the price-change index climbed 0.09 to 26.74. Of the 1,206 stocks traded, 552 advanced, and 440 declined. Volume totaled 7.71 million shares, compared with Monday's 5.96 million shares.

Corporate bonds were up and governments were down.

Fat Cattle Are Firm At Omaha

Omaha (AP) — Fat cattle prices firmed at Monday's upturns in Omaha Tuesday. Trading was described as only moderately active compared with Monday's near torrid pace as trade sources reported some developing resistance to further price advances.

Steer top here moved up another notch to 37.50 for two loads of high choice to prime reputation Nebraska offerings scaling 1,140 lbs. This marked another new peak—best since early March, 1952. Other well finished steers sold on down to 36.75, choice in volume to 35.00-36.50.

Toppy heifers grouped 35.75-36.25, choice mainly 34.50-35.50.

Reaction tripped the hog market 50 to 75 cents lower although pork prices in the cooler continued to push Higher. Sows sold steady to 25 lower.

Fat lambs, in light supply, sold steady to as much as 50 cents higher, woolies at the full advance.

Natural Resource Program Kill Motion Handed Defeat

By United Press International

The Nebraska Legislature Tuesday indicated its support of the controversial natural resource district program by rejecting a bill to repeal it.

The bill up for first round consideration, LB117, was introduced by Sen. J. James Waldron of Callaway during last year's session.

The measure would have repealed the controversial law, originally passed by the 1969 Legislature Waldron said adoption of the repealer bill could lead to a new approach to the problems.

Can't Start Over

But Sen. Gerald Stromer of Kearney, saying the concept of the program "cannot be postponed and we cannot start over," introduced the kill motion.

The Legislature adopted his motion on a 27-17 count.

Waldron, in arguing for repeal of the resource district act, said there were a number of defects, despite a series of bills introduced last year to overhaul the original act.

By repealing the law, he said, it "doesn't necessarily mean the end of soil and water conservation" efforts, but a chance to start with a clean slate.

Waldron told the lawmakers those who believe the 1969 law, even with its amendments" is the "savior" to the state are "very foolish."

Support Lagging

The law, he said, "is not the only possible plan" to meet conservation needs He also said, in view of a bill recently given endorsement to limit the mill levy for the districts to one mill, the people are "unwilling to fund the program" to the degree necessary for success.

Sen. Jules Burbach of Crofton, author of the amendments introduced last year to overhaul the program, said the original law was not considered the ultimate answer. He also said more charges would probably be made.

But, said the lawmaker, with the addition of the suggested changes "the conclusion has been reached we are on firm ground."

Sen. Maurice Kremer of Aurora told the lawmakers approval of the Waldron repealer bill would send ' years of work down the drain."

'Really Don't Know'

"I really don't know what we could do better" by trying a program, he added

The problem of taxation was also mentioned by Sen. Ramey C. Whitney of Chappell, who said he supported repeal of the law "for one reason — feel the property taxes are high enough" now.

Sen. David Stahmer of Omaha replied, however, "if there is any instance where a tax is not unjust . . . it's this one." He said the program involves "the very substances of land and water."

Here is the vote of the lawmakers on the motion to kill the natural resource district repealer bill:

For (27): Barnett, Burbach, DeCamp, Elrod, Epke, Hasebroock, Johnson, Keyes, Kime, Kokes, Kremer, Luedtke, Maresh, Marvel, Moylan, Orme, Pfister, Savage, Simpson, Skarda, Snyder, Stahmer, Stromer, Swanson, Syas, Waldo. Ziebarth.

Against (17): Carpenter, Carsten, Clark, Craft, Duis, Goodrich, Holmquist, Kennedy, Klaver, Mahoney, Morgan, Schmit, Stull, Waldron, Warner, Whitney, Wiltse.

Not Voting (5): Carstens, Chambers, Lewis, Nore, Proud.

Solons May Consider Curb On Agency Powers

It appeared Tuesday the Legislature would consider this year the powers of state agencies to adopt rules and regulations related to laws passed by the Unicameral.

The indication came about when Sen. C. W. Holmquist of Oakland asked that his bill, LB373, which would require a legislative review of all rules and regulations, be withdrawn.

He said it didn't appear to him the lawmakers were willing to consider the matter.

But the move drew objections and ultimately Holmquist decided to leave the bill on the board.

Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff said the matter should be looked into, but said he didn't know whether the Legislature would have the time this year.

However, he said, it has been his own feeling lawmaking should be left to the Legislature and not to the agencies by giving them unlimited authority to set up rules and regulations.

"That's the sole right of this body — to make laws," he said, "and delegate only nominal responsibilities to the agencies."

Sen. John DeCamp of Neligh said it appeared to him the state has "two separate legislative bodies . . . this Legislature and the individual agencies."

"We've got to get some controls somehow," he said, and asked that those interested get together and work out a comprehensive bill by amending the Holmquist measure.

Sen. Cal Carsten of Avoca said under the present system, the governor has the authority to review rules and regulations adopted by the agencies.

But, he said, "the governor never gets blamed" for faulty rules and regulations.

"The Legislature does," he added.

Holmquist, in withdrawing his request to drop the bill from legislative consideration, said it would "tickle me pink" to take the matter up this year.

Measure Heard Clarifying Status Of Renters' Security Payments

By The Associated Press

The Legislature's Banking and Insurance Committee Tuesday heard and held a measure said by its sponsor to be the answer to a sometimes thorny problem between landlords and tenants.

Sen. Wally Barnett of Lincoln said his LB1097 was designed to clarify the status of security put down by persons wishing to rent an apartment or home.

Barnett said the payments are used as damage deposits in some cases.

Oftentimes, he told the committee, tenants have a difficult time in receiving their deposits after the lease is ended.

The measure would provide that a landlord must surrender the deposit within one month after the termination of the lease or stand liable for three times the amount of the deposit if the tenant takes the case to court.

"This doesn't hurt either the landlord or the tenant," Barnett told the committee. "It's just designed to protect tenants from the few persons who use such practices."

Nebraska Real Estate Commission Director Paul Quinlan also spoke in favor of the measure, saying the commission monthly receives "more calls about matters related to this problem than about anything else."

Nevertheless, he said, the commission has no authority to act.

"This bill doesn't say anything that probably, on the part of completely responsible people, isn't now being done," Quinlan told the committee.

Quinlan said the problem is national in scope and explained Barnett's bill is patterned after an existing Colorado law.

Warehoused-Goods Tax Plan Draws Opposition

By The Associated Press

Warehousemen and manufacturers lined up in force before the Legislature's revenue committee Tuesday afternoon to oppose a bill which would put certain warehouse-stored merchandise on the property tax rolls.

The committee adjourned without taking action on the measure. DeWitt Sen. Willard Waldo's LB1135.

Two other bills also were aired but held for later disposition. One was Lincoln Sen. Harold D. Simpson's LB1138, requiring warehousemen to furnish evidence of the status of stored goods for tax purposes.

Only Witness

Waldo was the only witness appearing in support of LB1135, which would erase from the books a law which states that merchandise stored in Nebraska and destined for shipment to another state shall be exempt from property taxation.

Waldo contended that if cattle in feedlots, destined for eventual shipment outside the state, are to be taxed with other personal property on Jan. 1, the principle should apply also to warehouse merchandise.

The amount of tax money at issue was not reported, but a representative of the New Holland Farm Machinery Manufacturing plant in Grand Island said that firm's inventory tax bill of $57,698 last year would have been increased by $120,000 under LB1135.

A Unique Position

Lincoln tax consultant Fred Herrington, former state tax commissioner, said the effects of LB1135 would be to empty all warehouses and bring in no additional tax money. Nebraska would be the only state among those bordering it to deny such exemption, he said.

State Tax Commissioner William Peters, appearing in opposition to the bill, said it would be inconsistent to place warehouse goods on tax rolls at a time when the Legislature is contemplating partial exemption of other personal property such as business inventories and equipment, and farm equipment and livestock.

Warehousemen and manufacturers also opposed Sen. Simpson's LB1138

The third bill heard, Valentine Sen. Otho G. Kime's LB1153, drew no opposition. It would exempt from sales taxes the purchases made by irrigation districts.

State Tourism Program Bill Returned To File

By United Press International

The Legislature decided to recall a bill to set up a state tourism program Tuesday and give it back its financial footing.

LB650 was returned to general file by the lawmakers to consider a proposal by Omaha Sen. Duke Snyder to reinsert in the measure a one percent levy on motel and hotel room rents for tourism promotion

The funding procedure had been amended out of the bill during the 1971 session, but a 22-18 vote by the lawmakers reversed the earlier action.

The bill, which would set up a state travel and tourism promotion fund and the mechanics for administrating the fund, was discussed at length during the Monday session, but the lawmakers had adjourned without taking any action.

'Worthless Without Tax'

Arguing for his proposal, Snyder said the entire proposal was worthless without the tax. "If we're going to kill it, let's put it out here where everyone can read about it," he said.

But Omaha Sen. Eugene Mahoney, who led the fight last year to drop the motel tax from LB650, argued the levy would end up taxing Nebraskans more than out-staters.

Sen. John DeCamp of Neligh said Nebraskans make up as much as 70% of those who use the state's motels and hotels, but that figure was disputed by Lincoln Sen. Roland Luedtke.

He said the figures DeCamp was referring to were taken from the information of one Lincoln hotel during the Legislature's 1971 session.

'Got To Get Money'

"We've got to get the money somewhere," said Sen Rudolf C Kokes of Ord, "and this is the least painful tax we could vote in."

A detailed amendment was proposed by Scottsbluff Sen Terry Carpenter which basically left the structure for the program the same but deleted the taxing provision and provided an initial state appropriation of $150,000.

The amendment was inserted in the record and held over for later discussion at its sponsor's request.

Proponents of the tax provision have estimated the levy could raise $500,000 annually for the promoton fund.

Journal and Star
Want Ads

Your low-cost Want Ad appears daily in the Lincoln Star (Morning) and the Lincoln Journal (Evening) or the Sunday Journal and Star at the following cash rates:

Words	Lines	DAYS 1	4	7	10
— 10	2	1.02	3.44	4.90	5.60
11-15	3	1.38	4.92	6.93	8.10
16-20	4	1.76	6.40	8.96	10.40
21-25	5	2.15	7.80	11.20	13.00
26-30	6	2.52	9.12	13.02	15.00
31-35	7	2.87	10.36	14.70	17.50

FOR GREATEST ECONOMY — start your ad for 10 times, cancel when you obtain results. You pay only the rate earned at the time of cancellation.
These low-cost rates apply to Want Ads from within the State of Nebraska which are placed for consecutive days and are paid for within 10 days after the ad expires or is canceled. Daily rate for ads from outside State of Nebraska is 55cents per line.
Single paper rates either evening Journal or morning Star, are 93% of the combination rates. These ads would appear under "Too Late To Classify" column.
DEADLINES FOR FAMILY WANT ADS-Call before 6 p.m. Monday through Friday for publication on following day. Call before 5 p.m. on Saturdays for Monday morning publication. Sunday Journal and Star-Call anytime before 1 p.m. on Saturdays for publication Sunday.
ERRORS: Advertisers should check their ad on first insertion and report any errors at once. Dial 473-7451
ADJUSTMENTS: The company is responsible for typographical errors or misclassification only to cancel the first day's charge on that portion of an ad that may be rendered valueless by that error. All ads will be classified properly.
BLIND BOX SERVICE: There is $1.00 additional charge for this confidential service. When using a Blind Box Number, add 4 additional words to your Want Ad copy, figure the charges from the above table and add $1.00 for Blind Box Service Charges.
OFFICE HOURS: Daily, 8 a.m. to 6 p.m.; Saturday, 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.; CLOSED SUNDAY.

Stocks Up In Active Trading

New York (AP) — Stock market prices churned ahead Tuesday, scoring moderate gains in very active trading.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials rose 6.10 to 917.22, extending Monday's gains when the blue-chip indicator tacked on nearly 4½ points.

Analysts said the market was responding to the continued influx of foreign funds, triggered by the recent realignment of international exchange rates.

Also, they pointed out that interest rates had been falling for the past several weeks, increasing the relative attractiveness of stocks as an investment vehicle.

Morgan Guaranty Trust's 1¼% cut in its prime rate Tuesday, matching the reductions by some other large New York banks Friday and Monday, increased the likelihood that the 4¾% rate would stick. This may have prodded investors, brokers said.

Traders apprently ignored news stories of the West Coast dock strike and of President Nixon's reported plan to submit a record $247-billion budget to Congress for fiscal 1973. Brokers pointed out, however, that these developments might have moderated the market's gains.

Volume on the New York Stock Exchange totaled 21.07 million shares, compared with 15.86 million shares Monday.

Of the 1,752 stocks traded on the Big Board, 923 advanced, and 576 declined. There were 93 new highs and 5 new lows.

The Big Board index of some 1,300 common stocks gained 0.23 to 57.62.

The Associated Press 60-stock average rose 1.4 to 334.5, with industrials up 2.6, rails up 1.6, and utilities down 0.6.

Standard & Poor stock index was 104.05, up 0.25

Rubber issues, mail order-retail, utilities, metals, and chemicals were mixed. All other categories were up.

A total of 146 blocks of 10,000 shares or more were traded on the Big Board, compared with a revised total of 96 Monday.

DPF was most-active on the New York Stock Exchange, rising ⅝ to 10. A block of 147,000 shares traded at 9¼, off ⅛.

On the American Stock Exchange the price-change index climbed 0.09 to 26.74. Of the 1,206 stocks traded, 552 advanced, and 440 declined. Volume totaled 7.71 million shares, compared with Monday's 5.96 million shares.

Corporate bonds were up and governments were down.

Fat Cattle Are Firm At Omaha

Omaha (AP) — Fat cattle prices firmed at Monday's upturns in Omaha Tuesday. Trading was described as only moderately active compared with Monday's near torrid pace as trade sources reported some developing resistance to further price advances.

Steer top here moved up another notch to 37.50 for two loads of high choice to prime reputation Nebraska offerings scaling 1,140 lbs. This marked another new peak—best since early March, 1952. Other well finished steers sold on down to 36.75, choice in volume to 35.00-36.50.

Toppy heifers grouped 35.75-36.25, choice mainly 34.50-35.50.

Reaction tripped the hog market 50 to 75 cents lower although pork prices in the cooler continued to push Higher. Sows sold steady to 25 lower.

Fat lambs, in light supply, sold steady to as much as 50 cents higher, woolies at the full advance.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE

Here's How to Work It

One letter simply stands for another in this example. A is used for the three L's X for the two O's etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Here is a practical little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is six or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures gives you.
